NEWS OF INTEREST FROM

COUNCIL BLUFFS

Majority against, 1,312.

Comment on Result.

The result of the special election was not unexpected, as an exceedingly vigorous campaign had been waged against the proposed franchise for several weeks. The defeat of the proposed charter, it is generally con-

water rates passed by the city council,

E. W. Hart, manager of the water works

the result of yesterday's election, was disappointed at the outcome. He was not prepared to make any detailed statement last night, merely saying: "I know nothing of politics and have no explanation to offer

for our defeat. I regret that the voters have denied us the right to use a small unoccupied space under the surface of the

WATER FRANCHISE DEFEATED

Majority Against it in All but One Per Cent in the City.

RATE ORDINANCE KILLED IT

Such at Least Appears to Be the General Opinion as to the Moving Cause of the Overwhelming Vote Against Franchise.

The people of Council Bluffs by a decisive vote yesterday demonstrated that they did not approve of the proposition to extend the franchise of the water works company for another twenty-five years under the existing conditions. The proposed new charter was defeated by 2.110 to 798, the majority against the proposition being 1.312. In but one precinct, the First of the Fourth ward, did the charter carry, and there only by 21 votes. In every other precinct the opposition carried the day hands down.

This is the vote by precincts: First Ward— For. First precinct. 48
Second precinct. 57

ATLANTIC—Again has the profit to be derived from sheep raising in this section of lows been demonstrated. W. D. Shaw, a feeder near Briscoe, has just marketed two carloads of wool, the product of a clip from 2.69s sheep he had this year. The wool netted him $7.200, at 25 cents per pound, and is the largest shipment ever sent by one man from this part of the state, Besides the wool, he also sold some of the sheep, thus adding to the income of his farm. He will raise sheep again next year.

ATLANTIC—The mulci tax cases that have been hanging fire for almost a year now seem to be almost ready for compromise. Early in January, 1966, the ten saloonmen in this city were forced out of business by a decision of the court. Previous to this, they had paid their mulci tax for the first cuarter of 1966. After being driven from business they demanded a retund of $118 cash of the county for the unexpired quarter. The board refused to grant the refund and they went to court. Here the jodge ordered the county to return the money. The county attorney at once gave notice of appeal and the case was ta go to the surreme court. Recently, however there has been some difference of orbilon between the board and county attorney, and that body has refused to allow the county attorney any money to employ help to perfect the appeal. He is county afterney, and that body has refused to allow the county afterney any money to employ help to perfect the appeal. He is now endeavoring to compromise the cases. A feature of the case that will have much bearing on its final outcome is the fact that the county has already paid over the legal two-thirds of the money collected to the city, it having been used for improvement purposes, and it may become necessary for the county to sue the city to receiver the amount.
