Altogether Conditions Render Marke Nervous and Weak and Prices Maintain a Low Standard

OMAHA, Aug. 17, 1907. The opening of the market was weak and The opening of the New York atoes.

Selling was heavy, owing to the unsettled outside influences. The market remained weak throughout the morning and closed lower. September wheat opened at 78½c and closed at 77½c.

In spite of the weakness in wheat, corn was strong and higher.

The situation in corn is a nervous one. With the growing crop several weeks backward, and shippers holding shipments, waiting for further assurance from an early frost, the market is much higher than at this time last year. September option opened at 48½c and closed at 12½c.

Oats did not show the strength they have been holding owing to heavy selling on the expectation of heavier receipts, which are some larger. Shippers, however, are refusing to ship east on account of the quality and condition of the new crop. September onts opened at 45½c and closed at 45½c.

Liverpool closed unchanged at ½d lower on wheat and unchanged on corn.

Seaboard reported 200,000 bushels of wheat and 40,000 bushels of corn for export.

CATTLE—As is the case every Saturday, there were not enough cattle of any kind in the yards to make anything like a market. The receipts for the week have been very liberal, showing a large gain over the previous week and a still heavier gain over the corresponding week of a year ago, white the receipts have consisted largely of westerns there has also been a good showing of range stuff.

The tendency on beef steers has been lower practically all this week. Conditions at eastern markets and at the big consuming points have not been satisfactory, and with liberal receipts it has been a easter matter for buyers to bear values. At the close of the week corn fed cattle are 2544bc lower that the best time last week. The best range cattle have not shown so much decline, but the medium and inferior grades are a good deal lower, making the general market safely 25 lower than last week.

at such a rapid rate last week have suffered more decline this week than any other kind of cattle. It will be remembered that cow stuff sold at wild prices at the close of last week, and making comparisons with these prices it is safe to say that cows are now fully softice lower.

Stocker and feeder trade began the week with bright prospects. Trade was lively and speculators were especially free buyers. Later on in the week, under the influence of liberal offerings and a light country demand, the market declined rapidly, closing the week at 250 foc lower. The severa break in fat cattle was probably responsible for the country not buyins more freely of feeders. The stocker market was in even worst condition that the feeder market, inferior grades of that kind being next to unsaleable.

HOGS-Hogs opened steady this morning and closed 5c lower—that in brief was the aituation today. The early buying was limited largely to selection of a few of the better loads of light and medium weights and before very many salesmen had time to take advantage of the bids the market was 5c lower. The trade continued slow until the close, heavy hogs, as usual, being discriminated against and feeling the full force of the decline. As receipts, however, were light, most everything changed hands in very fair season in the morning. It will be noted from the sales that light hogs are very scarce and there was nothing as good as yesterday to put a top on the market.

logs are very scarce and there was nothing as good as yesterday to put a top on the market.

The receipts this week, while about on a par with the week before, show a heavy failing off as compared with a year ago. In spite of the fact that receipts have been moderate, the tendency of the market has been downward, although the week started. classes, who was described as a selfish and did not have any asparent effect upon feeder buyers. There was a good representation of country buyers in the year, all week, headed which commission men had a large number of orders to be filled. The result was a good, active demand all the week for both feeder sheep and lambs. Everything that arrived sold very freely at prices practically steady with last week. In other words, feeder sheep and lambs sold as high this week as any time, Prospects all seem to favor a continued large demand for feeders and everyone is predicting a good, atrong market for some time to come.

means to good citizenship, to the clean, industrious, honest, earnest life. Hence if our schools have unduly neglected moral attention in the future becomes paramount, The National Educational association at the Los Angeles convention, after a thoughtful discussion of this subject, voted for the appointment of a committee to investigate and report on a proper system of teaching morals in the schools. And one of the resolutions that were adopted declared it to be the duty of our educators "to enter at once upon a systematic course of instruction which shall embrace not only a broader patriotism but a more extended course of moral instruction, especially in regard to the rights and duties of citizenship, the right of property, the security and sacredness of human life."

The need of such instruction will readily be admitted by all. Yet the association to emphasize it draws up a formidable indict-ment against the rising generation. Young America is charged with a lack of respect for age and experience, with indifference a disposition to follow pleasure and selfish interests rather than a sense of duty and public spirit. Some months ago several American writers preferred charges of this character against the American girl of the wealthy sturdy pleasure-seeker. The National Educational association amends the indictment by adding other girls and boys of all classes and conditions as defendants. Whatever truth the indictment may contain, it reflects more on the parents and educators that on the school population. The former make the educational system; the latter are molded by it. If there are grave defects in it, it is inevitable that they should find expression in the habits and manners of young America. It is well that the matter of moral teaching and moral culture in the schools is beginning to command serious attention and deep concern.
