He prepared the plans and specifications upon which the work was let and was paid 2 per cent of the estimated price. The contractor has been asking for the details of the iron work for a week and is now compelled to shut down until the architect delivers them to him. Nebraska Author Attracts Notice—John G. Niehart of Bancroft, Neb., has a book fresh from the press, which is well spoken of by the eastern book reviews. It is "The Lonesome Trail," a collection of short stories of the frontier, dealing with the nature and the primitive in man. Several years ago Mr. Niehart was a reporter on an Omaha daily, but after a short experience he decided his mind was better adapted to verse and story writing than to news gathering. It required several years to break into print, but a year or more ago he got a start and many of the popular magazines are now taking his verse and stories. No More Coupon Packages—In answer to the demands of the Omaha Retail Grocers' association the German-American Coffee company of New York has promised not to ship into Nebraska any more coffee packages bearing coupons good for premiums. It may be the company considers discretion the better part of valor, as Deputy Food Commissioner Johnson has made a ruling under the pure food law that coupons in packages will be considered the same as dishes or other premiums, which are expressly prohibited. Still, the grocers found the coffee company more willing than other food concerns, for many of the latter still place premiums or coupons in their packages.

RAILWAYS GROWING IN CUBA

New Lines Being Built and Old Ones Improved.

E. W. DENISON TELLS OF PROGRESS

Brings Reports of General Prosperity of Island and Success of Reforms Promulgated by Governor Magoon.

E. W. Denison of Havana, representative of the Railroad and Publicity league of Cuba, passed through Omaha on his way to his old home at Nebraska City. Mr. Denison's territory is through the eastern, middle and southern states, comprising an area of about 6,000 miles. He gives a glowing account of affairs in Cuba and speaks in the highest terms of the administration of Governor Magoon.

The greatest success is attending Governor Magoon's efforts. New roads are being built all through the island, which has the effect of giving remunerative employment to the discontented natives and a kindly feeling is growing toward Americans. This feeling is today much better than it has ever been. Recent appropriations for improvements include their extension into sections of the country that it was hitherto thought impossible to reach. These roads include both highways and railways, particularly through the eastern part of the island. The Cuba Eastern railway is extending its lines through the west in the Santiago province into the banana, cocoa and cane sections of that province. They are raising sugar cane there, the stalks of which are an average of fifteen feet in height, and remind one much of the big corn of eastern Nebraska. The country is also filled with the finest of hard-wood trees, such as mahogany, different varieties, all to be found along this line of railway.

United Railways of Havana. The United Railways of Havana have recently acquired the old Mantanzas railroad, 200 miles in length and will greatly improve the system. The road has over 4,000 cane under lease to haul the cane mills or Ingenios. The Western railway which enters the heart of the finest tobacco lands of the world, in the Finar Del Rio country, last year carried over 20,000 tons of tobacco over its system west of Havana. They have recently opened a new branch to Guanes, which brings in some very fine tobacco lands that have not heretofore had railroad facilities.

This road soon will begin building a railroad extension to a point opposite the Isle of Pines, which may possibly develop a new route to the Isle of Pines from Havana. The Cuba railroad, of which Sir William Van Horn is president, has made great strides in securing settlers on the cattle lands around Camaguey and between Santiago and Camaguey. Many Wisconsin Michigan lumbermen have acquired immense tracts, consisting of various hardwoods of great value. On these lands will be placed portable saw mills to get out the hard wood lumber.

New Road at Cienfuegos. "Another railroad is being built from Cienfuegos to Sagua la Grande, at which point are being built new piers of sufficient size to unload cargoes of cattle and have them inspected by sanitary officers right on the piers. At Cienfuegos have been built terminals and a pier at a cost of over $1,000,000. This pier was built against the opposition of many citizens who were stock holders who held the lighterage concessions. This new pier makes a difference of six or eight hours in the handling of a ship's cargo.

CARRIE NATION RAIDS DEN

Brings Along Some Other Women to Help Keep the Knights Straight.

But for the diplomacy of Grand Muffi W. R. Bennett serious things would have happened at the Den Monday night. Some traitorous Knight of Ak-Sar-Ben gave away the grip and pass word to half a dozen women, and led by Carrie Nation, the women got inside the castle hall and the proceedings were about to be called off. Carrie had her hatchet with her and intimated that the youth of Omaha were being corrupted by the nightly orgies at the Den and she had come there with Ella Wheeler Wilcox, May Irwin, still on her honeymoon; Annie Anthony, a niece of Susan B. charged to the guards with woman's rights theories; Maud Gonne, who came with her trials of Irish wrath unscathed; Jane Addams, with a proposition to erect a series of apartment houses at East Omaha. Dundee, and all of them furnished with suggestions to make Ak-Sar-Ben into a Queen of Sheba symposium. The women were finally mobilized into a quiescent state and under the assurance of Grand Muffi Bennett that the Ak-Sar-Ben proceedings would be conducted peacefully and decorously, peace was secured and the women were permitted to remain.

Incidentally Grand Muffi Bennett suggested that there was a quantity of old junk about the Den that might be disposed of to an advantage and before he got through with the suggestion, a Finlander giving the name of Isak Guggenheimer, butted in through the recruiting office and volunteered to buy the whole shebang for "twenty kopecks." Gus Remus dropped the old duffer into the collar and got him mixed up with a lime barrel, and after he was recused he handed the grand muff three large red lemons. The confusion during all these proceedings was so intense that the women, fearing for their safety, fled. They were finally run down and searched and it was developed that W. F. Canada did the Carrie Nation part, O. G. Lieben the Gus Remus part, W. B. Stryker the Ella Wheeler Wilcox part, T. F. Swift the Anna Anthony part, E. H. Bruning the May Irwin part and Dave O'Brien the Maud Gonne part. After he was washed Isak Guggenheimer proved to be none the less than Ed F. Thompson.

Seventy-five recruits were enlisted during the scene and 1,625 members were found to be the paid enrollment, against but 621 the year ago. It was intended to make Monday night governor's night, but the wires got crossed through the Carrie Nation part of the business and it was just a plain, good-natured love feast. Short addresses were made by the women, and by Doc Tanner of South Omaha, Judge O. C. Jackson of Blair, Ralph W. Breckenridge of Omaha, J. W. Bowman of Marion, Ia., and John R. Webster of Omaha. Nebraska, Maryland, Illinois, Tennessee, Colorado, Wyoming, Ontario, Ohio, New York and California were represented among the new recruits.

Monday afternoon the Board of Governors gave a luncheon to the former governors at the Omaha club. The purpose of the gathering was to endeavor to stimulate a greater interest in several features of the approaching festival of Ak-Sar-Ben, and the meeting is destined to bear the most abundant fruits.

INDIAN SMASHES THE JUG

Supposes That Destroys All Evidence Against Him as a Boot-legger.

Ansel Walker, an Omaha Indian, was brought down from the reservation by Deputy United States Marshal John Sledge and arraigned before United States Commissioner Anderson on the charge of introducing liquor into the Omaha Indian reservation. In default of $500 bail Walker was placed in the Douglas county jail to answer to the federal grand jury next month.

The discovery of Walker's wrongdoing was made by John M. Commons, superintendent and special disbursing agent of the Omaha, who, with Captain H. A. Hutchings, was driving over the reservation last Thursday on a tour of inspection. They met Walker driving along in his wagon and Mr. Commons observed a suspicious looking jug in Walker's wagon and investigating the matter found it contained whisky. He demanded the jug from Walker, who turned it over to Commons with much reluctance. Walker then came over to Commons buggy and asked to see the jug again, as he wanted to know how much liquor was in it. Walker then broke the jug over the wheel of his wagon, thinking he had destroyed all the evidence against him for taking liquor onto the reservation. The federal grand jury will, however, determine that feature of the evidence.

Man wanted. It doesn't matter what you want a man for. It doesn't matter whether you want a white man or a black man, a large man or a small man, there's a man in Omaha who wants to see you. He's just the man you want, and if you insert an ad in The Bee's want columns today that man will call upon you tomorrow.

DOCTORS ENDORSE MANSFELDE

Commend His Candidacy for Regent of the State University.

At the meeting of the State Medical association held in Omaha last winter a committee was appointed to wait upon Governor Sheldon and urge the appointment of Dr. von Mansfælde of Ashland to fill the vacancy on the Board of Regents for the state university. Since the governor has decided that the vacancy should be filled by election rather than by appointment, the Saunders County Medical society has caused the name of Dr. Mansfælde to be placed upon the ticket to be voted for at the primary election September 3, and his candidacy is being urged by the councilors of the Nebraska State Medical association, all of whom have signed resolutions commending him to the republican voters at the primaries.
