

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE.

FOUNDED BY EDWARD ROSEWATER. VICTOR ROSEWATER, EDITOR. Entered at Omaha Postoffice as second-class matter.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. Daily Bee (without Sunday), one year, $1.00; Daily Bee and Sunday, one year, $1.50; Sunday Bee, one year, 75c; Saturday Bee, one year, 50c; Daily Bee (including Sunday), per week, 10c; Daily Bee (without Sunday), per week, 10c; Evening Bee (including Sunday), per week, 10c; Evening Bee (without Sunday), per week, 10c.

OFFICES. Omaha—The Bee Building, South Omaha—City Hall Building, Council Bluffs—16 Scott Street, Chicago—149 Unity Building, New York—100 Home Life Insurance Bldg., Washington—614 Fourteenth Street.

COMMUNICATIONS. Communications relating to news and editorial matters should be addressed, Omaha Bee, Editorial Department.

REMITTANCES. Remit by draft, express or postal order payable to The Bee Publishing Company. Only 2-cent stamps received in payment of mail accounts. Personal checks, except on Omaha or eastern exchange, not accepted.

STATEMENT OF CIRCULATION. State of Nebraska, Douglas county, ss: George B. Teschuck, treasurer of The Bee Publishing Company, being duly sworn, deposes and says that the number of full and complete copies of The Daily Morning, Evening and Sunday Bee printed during the month of August, 1907, was as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Circulation type and quantity. Includes categories like '1. ... 26,750', '2. ... 26,000', '3. ... 27,040', etc., up to '16. ... 36,770' and a total of 1,138,330.

WHEN OUT OF TOWN. Subscribers leaving the city temporarily should have The Bee mailed to them. Address will be changed as often as requested.

Morocco is getting unusual prominence in world history, but the price is enormous.

Fourteen populists still boast the name in this county where used to be nearly 4,000 of them.

"Can money continue easy?" asks a Wall street organ. It can, if it keeps out of Wall street.

All the Pittsburg millionaires are returning from their vacations. The theatrical season has opened.

Why are people always ready to believe anything they hear against the coal dealer and the milkman?

It looks as if Mr. Harriman were still leaving his business in Nebraska to his "lawyers and subordinates."

At last accounts Judge Keneaw Mountain Landis was refusing to turn on the water for the Alton's immunity bath.

"Shoes will be worn longer than usual this year," says a fashion note. They certainly will be if prices keep soaring.

The Literary World says, "We need a great journal of criticism." On the contrary, the need is for great literature to criticize.

Managers of lyceum bureaus may as well begin to book Waffer Wellman or his series of talks this winter on "Adverse Winds."

One of Georgia's new laws prohibits fishing on Sunday. It will not be such a hardship, since another law prohibits the carrying of bottled bait at any time.

Secretary Root is said to have gained twelve pounds of flesh at Muldoon's sanitarium. If Secretary Taft ever feels the need of a rest he will fight shy of Muldoon's.

The Woman's Home Companion says the old-fashioned nightcap is coming into style again. The old-fashioned nightcap has never been out of style, even in prohibition states.

Please take note that in the latest appeal to the federal courts to nullify state authority, "the only good railroad" in Nebraska is associated in full partnership with all the bad railroads in Nebraska.

Nan Patterson has filed a protest against the newspapers which reported that she was carrying on high jinks at Pittsburg. She insists that when she is in Pittsburg she does not do as Pittsburgers do.

Still, it is going to be difficult to convince the country that the presidential contest next year is to be decided by the result of that majority light between Tom Johnson and Congressman Burton at Cleveland.

Oliver H. P. Belmont wants the Newport authorities to change the public roads so the common people cannot get so close to his new home there. Why common people should want to get near Belmont is not explained.

Congressman Hull says he can discuss the Philippines question freely now, "because I have no financial interests there." Sounds like an intimation that a congressman is not supposed to discuss national problems freely if he has financial interest in them.

TRAIL OF THE LAND FRAUDS.

Those who predicted that vigorous prosecution of persons implicated in the looting of the public lands in the western states would cease with the retirement of Ethan Allen Hitchcock from the cabinet are apparently slated for disappointment. Mr. Hitchcock started the crusade, which resulted in exposing a system of gigantic land, mineral and timber frauds, extending into nearly every state west of the Mississippi and in the conviction of many prominent people enmeshed in plans for robbing the government.

When Senator William Borah was indicted about seven months ago for conspiracy to obtain public lands by fraud great influence was brought to protect him from prosecution. It was finally agreed that his indictment should not be made public until he had been given opportunity to appear as counsel in the Haywood case.

It is not unusual to find such sentiment worked up in favor of men charged with land frauds. The whole history of exposures in connection with these cases shows that those who have profited most by them are "prominent citizens" and, in many cases, "influential politicians," while the victims of the frauds have had little share in voicing public opinion.

GERMANY'S THREAT OF TRADE WAR. Germany is apparently taking the lead in a revival of an European trade alliance against the United States.

Every one of the republican candidates for district judge, endorsed by the democrats, agreed in advance not to run against the republican nominees in case he failed to secure the republican nomination.

FUTURE OF THE PHILIPPINES. Congressman Hull of Iowa, chairman of the house committee on military affairs, is in the dumps over the outlook in the Philippines.

Omaha is extending an invitation to the National Prison association to hold its next annual meeting here.

A Cleveland man picked up and pocketed a penny which had fallen from the cup of a blind musician.

Herald is going ahead with its proposals for the sale of the islands and printing interviews with leading men throughout the country every day.

A Campaign Thought. Baltimore News. The race is not always to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, nor the election to the best hand-shaker.

Winking the Other Eye. Minneapolis Journal. The State department at Washington deeply regrets that the orientals in British Columbia, but its regret is tempered by thankfulness that it occurred on the soil of Japan's ally.

Acting the Part. Indianapolis News. The American Philosophical society has refused to elect a railroad president to membership on the ground that he is not a philosopher.

Southern Chivalry. Baltimore American. Southern chivalry never appeared to better advantage than in the serious refusal of southern leaders to contest with Bryan the nomination.

What a Western Trip Does. Wall Street Journal. It is remarkable how a trip across the country changes the opinions of Wall street men.

Mr. Harriman Waxes Eloquent About Western Development. Washington Post. The supposition still held in some quarters that Wall street is a barometer of business conditions in the United States is badly shaken by Mr. E. H. Harriman.

COMPARISONS THAT HURT. Accidents on British and American Railroads. Philadelphia Ledger. Great Britain has fallen from the high position which it attained for one year when it was able to report that not a single passenger had been killed in train accidents.

New York City's issue of $40,000,000 in bonds is being taken rapidly at 103. The bonds when offered at a few weeks ago found no takers.

The high vote polled at the Douglas county primary is registered for the re-nomination of County Judge Leslie.

A Cleveland man picked up and pocketed a penny which had fallen from the cup of a blind musician.

and mixed all the materials in the place, including the yeast, so that when the proprietor arrived the place was choked with dough to the door.

Is it not a pretty spectacle for a lawyer employed at a big fat salary by the taxpayers of Omaha to defend the people's rights in their water works litigation to be appearing as the paid attorney of one of the law-defying railroads trying to overturn the people's right to reasonable freight rates?

A Campaign Thought. Baltimore News. The race is not always to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, nor the election to the best hand-shaker.

Winking the Other Eye. Minneapolis Journal. The State department at Washington deeply regrets that the orientals in British Columbia, but its regret is tempered by thankfulness that it occurred on the soil of Japan's ally.

Acting the Part. Indianapolis News. The American Philosophical society has refused to elect a railroad president to membership on the ground that he is not a philosopher.

Southern Chivalry. Baltimore American. Southern chivalry never appeared to better advantage than in the serious refusal of southern leaders to contest with Bryan the nomination.

What a Western Trip Does. Wall Street Journal. It is remarkable how a trip across the country changes the opinions of Wall street men.

Mr. Harriman Waxes Eloquent About Western Development. Washington Post. The supposition still held in some quarters that Wall street is a barometer of business conditions in the United States is badly shaken by Mr. E. H. Harriman.

COMPARISONS THAT HURT. Accidents on British and American Railroads. Philadelphia Ledger. Great Britain has fallen from the high position which it attained for one year when it was able to report that not a single passenger had been killed in train accidents.

New York City's issue of $40,000,000 in bonds is being taken rapidly at 103. The bonds when offered at a few weeks ago found no takers.

The high vote polled at the Douglas county primary is registered for the re-nomination of County Judge Leslie.

A Cleveland man picked up and pocketed a penny which had fallen from the cup of a blind musician.

A Cleveland man picked up and pocketed a penny which had fallen from the cup of a blind musician.

BITS OF WASHINGTON LIFE.

Minor Scenes and Incidents Sketched on the Spot. The business methods of Public Printer Stillings is of little concern to the general public, but they furnish a clue to the frequent "knocks" which Mr. Stillings receives in some of the newspapers.

Mr. Stillings reports that he has at present a good force of workmen and as competent a set of officers as it would be possible for any one to secure, and he believes these to be co-operating with him for better things.

Arthur Simmons, for nearly forty years a doorman in the upstairs vestibule of the president's house at Washington, was one of the few remaining types of a class now rapidly vanishing and never to be repeated.

Admiral Charles S. Sperry, one of the American delegates to the conference at the Hague, has made his presence felt in discussion of naval matters, and especially in the matter of the establishment of prize courts.

One of the most cherished possessions of the family of General W. B. Curtis, who commanded a brigade in the Army of West Virginia, is a handsome pipe, made out of a limb which was wrenched from the famous apple tree at Appomattox.

It is Higher Because the Quality of Living is Better. Portland Oregonian. On all sides we hear that the cost of living is higher. So it is. But the main reason is that the quality of living is higher, too.

Amel Smith, superintendent of the document room of the senate for forty years, known to every public man of his generation, and renowned as the possessor of a memory so marvelous as to excite universal comment.

It took him but a moment to indicate where any document in the vast storehouse over which he presided could be found.

Senator George of Mississippi once said to him: "You might burn up all the indexes in the senate, Amel, and you would still be all right."

MOTHERHOOD. The first requisite of a good mother is good health, and the experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation, as a woman who is in good physical condition transmits to her children the blessings of a good constitution.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standby of American mothers in preparing for childbirth.

PERSONAL NOTES. Wellman may not be able to get away this season, but his views it now he will have nothing to do next year during the long summer but discover the north pole.

SUNNY GEMS. "I thought you said you never gambled." "I never do."

MOTORMANIA. Getlett Burgess in Smart Set. I have a motor-runabout, and have often wondered How I could ever do without My car, which cost.....$800.00

It plays me many a little joke; I'll recall my fix, When my left steering spindle broke— That cost exactly.....$4.00

My carboxer wouldn't work— I tried till I was blue; An expert gave it just one jerk— That cost.....$22

And I was happy just a day, And then my pump refused to run! A new one cost mine.....$5.00

And then my radiator went; A new one.....$7.00

If we could take you through our establishment, and show you the vast care and cleanliness which produce the old original egg and sugar coated Arbuckles' Ariosa Coffee, no one could ever tempt you to change to any other coffee.