POOR SERVICE IN EUROPE

Railroads There Can't Compare with Those in United States.

EXPERIENCE OF W. H. SCHMOLLER

Omaha Man Sees in France and Germany Beautiful and Historic Cities, but Travel is Rather Uncomfortable.

"No government ownership of railroads for me," said W. H. Schmoller, who returned Saturday from a two months' sojourn in Europe. "I used to agree with Bryan on his ownership ideas, but not now. No one who has seen the service that the government gives its patrons in France and Germany could advocate it. Control may be desirable, but ownership, never."
"I left New York for Cherbourg July 4 and have been gone until today. No one went with me and the main purpose in going was to visit my mother, who lives in the historic city of Eisenach. I found her well."
"In the fifteen years since I have been home many things have changed. For one thing, Germany is anywhere from fifty to ten years behind the times. The people do not read as our people do. Those of the middle class do not know as much as our laboring class. The worst of the situation is the heavy burden of taxes the people have to pay. This keeps them down. A monarchy would not be so bad if it were not for the taxes. If they had no one but Kaiser Bill to support they might get along, but when they pay the grand duke of Saxe-Weimar-Eisenach, a little country no bigger than a county, over $1,000,000 a year, you can see how heavy the burden must be.

Home of Great Men.
"I spent considerable time in Eisenach with all its associations of great men who have lived there. Bach, the musician; Preller and Wendt, the artists, and Martin Luther, who translated the Bible in the Wartburg castle, and made it the foundation for the modern language of high German. In Weimar I visited the homes of Goethe, Schiller and Liszt."

"The most beautiful city in the world is undoubtedly Paris. I was there on July 14, the day on which the French celebrate the fall of the Bastille, and I have never seen anything like the fun they had. The people danced in the streets and did exactly as they pleased. Not even the police were supposed to interfere on that day. Beggars were there by the hundred and all of them brazen and fearless. I saw all the famous sights and enjoyed them. Berlin is a beautiful city, but it's not in it with Paris."

"I took the trouble to look into the political affairs of France, and they are in the worst possible confusion. Few people take any interest in public affairs and those that do positively do not know where they stand. The three parties—the republican, the monarchial and the anarchist—have things so mixed that there is no solution for the problem."

"After all, though, Omaha is good enough for me. I've lived here for twenty-four years and I expect to spend the balance of my life in the same place. I sailed from Bremen on the German Crown Princess Cecilia and made the trip in five days. I am very glad to get back."

RUSH GOES TO TRY BORAH

Omaha Lawyer Leaves for Idaho to Prosecute United States Senator.

Special Assistant Attorney General S. R. Rush left Saturday morning for Boise, Idaho, to arrange for the trial of Senator W. E. Borah of that state, who is charged with conspiracy in timber land transactions in Boise county. He will not return to Omaha until after the completion of the Borah trial, which may continue until the middle of October. Upon his return to Omaha the trial of the remaining Nebraska land fraud cases will be taken up.

A Postal Will Do.

Write it today for copy of illustrated booklet telling all about 35,000 acres of irrigated land in Snake River valley of Southern Idaho, to be opened to entry October 1, 1907. Twin Falls North Side Land and Water Company, Milner, Idaho.

FLAG RAISED FOR OLD PEOPLE

Emblem of Liberty Unfurled on New Pole at Home for Aged.

The American flag was hoisted with appropriate ceremony on a new sixty-foot steel flag-pole at the Old People's home Saturday afternoon.
The pole was presented to the Old People's home by Woman's Relief corps No. 82, auxiliary of George A. Crook post, Grand Army of the Republic. Mrs. T. C. Hough, patriotic instructor of Crook corps, presided over the ceremonies, at which the old people of the home and a number of veterans and women of the corps were present.
After a prayer and the singing of "America," Major Miller of Crook post spoke of the flag and what it meant to American homes, and how appropriate it was that it should float over this home of old people. He spoke also of the blood that had been shed to protect and preserve the flag, with all its meaning and power.
The handsome new flag, which had been presented to the home a year ago by Grant corp, was hoisted to the flag-staff head, and as its folds gently unfurled for the breeze three cheers were given for "Old Glory." The "Star Spangled Banner" was sung and Mrs. George Tilden thanked the corps for the new flag-pole. Refreshments were served at the close of the exercises.
