

SUNDAY AT THE THEATERS

Musical Comedy Holds Sway at the Boyd and Krug.

TWO GOOD OLD PIECES OFFERED

'The Royal Chef' and 'The Bargain-master' Draw Good Houses, While the Orpheum Has Fine Vaudeville Bill.

'The Royal Chef,' a musical comedy in three acts, under direction of Frazer Wood, is at the Boyd theater. The principals: Lord Mito, prime minister of the rain and leader of the Oolong bandits; a conspiring bandit; Joe Rich City, Oolong's faithful servant; Dorothy Rae, the rajah's daughter; Harry Parkes, lieutenant U. S. S. St. Louis; Herbert Carter, lieutenant U. S. S. St. Louis; William J. McCarthy, the rajah of Oolong; Oscar Handland, Mable, his admiring daughter; Dixie Lillard, noble of the rajah; Louis, a silent hand; Inadad, a silent hand.

In the mythical land of Oolong they do strange things, and not the strangest of them is their method of hiring and dismissing chefs who are charged with the responsibility of preparing the royal menu. Owing to previous expostions of the matter, Omaha folks were in a large measure prepared to expect what 'The Royal Chef' had to offer, but they were hardly prepared to see the bright, fresh faces of the company, nor the clean new costumes, and the spick and span scenery with which the troupe is outfitted. Some things may be amiss in connection with the performance of the broilers, for example, have almost forgotten the places where they would be better baked, but they are merely plumper and for that reason all the more desirable from point of appearance. It is not the most numerous chorus that has been seen at the Boyd, but it is a well trained and goes along all the time. And it doesn't show any angles—just curves. This is one thing in favor of the chorus.

Mr. McCarthy is making a whole lot of fun out of Lemphauer, and won't three curtain calls a night with his song about going back to Chicago. Oscar Handland has a baritone voice of great power and of sweet tone quality, which is up to its limit, while Herbert Carter has an excellent change for his serviceable tenor. Miss Hutcherson is the prima donna of the company, and her voice is equal to the requirements of her songs. Dorothy Rae is a quaint little soubrette, with a bit of a brogue and a kick and a wink that may mean much or nothing. The other principals are well fitted for their places.

The audience at the Boyd last night appeared to enjoy the piece very much and cheered the singers and comedians by unstinted applause. The engagement lasts till after Wednesday night, with a matinee on Wednesday afternoon.

'The Bargain-master' at the Krug last night was ample proof that the American public enjoyed witnessing the antics of old Peter Stuyvesant as Frank Pixley has portrayed them in the musical comedy. 'The Bargain-master,' which is hobbled around the stage much like a dog when he was first introduced to the musical comedy 'fans' of Omaha several years ago.

The comedy has been criticized for historical inaccuracies, but the management has prepared any in the audience who might be shocked by these lapses by a note in which it clears up everything. The tendency to wander from the path of fact into the byways of fiction will be forgiven because of the fun and the entertainment afforded. The piece as presented by Mr. Gulien has been recast in the second act and a lawn fete introduced, which gives Mr. Weinberg and Miss White a dialect speech on 'Frenchie Finance' which is exceedingly funny. Mr. White, with a chorus, sings 'Bob Adams' song, 'How Many Have You Told That To?' In this act the Lockhart sisters are in a couple of dancing specialties. The old musical 'familiar' retained and the 'new' of the 'Kangaroo' song, 'The Dance Made a Strong Hit, as did several topical songs.

Gus Weinberg has a Dutch dialect and a habit of injecting fun into his situations which made him very acceptable to Peter Stuyvesant and the other characters. Leo Kendall as Doodle, Peter's secretary, Miss Ruth White as Willie Vanastorbitt is well equipped for the part and was repeatedly encored in her song numbers. The rest of the cast is generally fair.

Owing to the fact the company traveled all night Saturday night and will have to travel all night Monday night, the management has announced the special matinee advertised for this afternoon will not be given.

Vaudeville at the Orpheum. Jack Wilson drew something at the Orpheum yesterday which no one else has drawn for some months. It was a certain talk and Mr. Wilson had it coming. He and his associates, Ada Lane and Albert Greig, presented what they called an 'upheaval in Darktown,' and created an upheaval in the Orpheum theater. They really have some new jokes and they also have a fine line of talk as has been brought in for a little while; it doesn't suffer in any appreciable degree by comparison with the Orpheum talk passed up a little further on, though John Henry carries away his share of the cheers. Mr. Wilson and his company were called back several times when their work was over, and he was forced to come to with a few words. He told the audience that as much as it liked him and his associates it only liked the 'upheaval' as they liked it. The bill contains many other very entertaining numbers, as a whole being quite interesting. William Courtleigh and a company present Hobart's 'Peaches,' a John Henry story, with splendid satisfaction to the audience. Associated with Mr. Courtleigh, who is John Henry, are Frank E. Jamison, Miss Gladys Claire and Richard P. Croulax. Mr. Croulax as 'Bill' beats out several good puns and wins a home with his race horse conversation, as well as $5.00 for John's girl's papa. 'The Trolley,' burlesque on a cabaret, open the bill with a number of clever puns and are followed by Rose and Jeannette, Parisian models, and these appeal with striking force to the voting population of the audience. 'Lillian Tyce is quite a hit in her Irish songs and jokes. Bert and Bertha Grant prove themselves very clever negro comedians with their dancing and singing. Bert Grant has actually brought a town something in dancing which makes a noise like a new brand. They are both exceedingly skilful and quite funny, and Bert's dazzling green suit, trimmed in red and brown, and his very effective, very effective results. He has a miniature stage well equipped with curtains, settings, boxes and orchestra, and gives a line of vaudeville that is remarkably good. His puppets on the stage are amusing, but not any more so than are the orchestra members and the members of the audience in the boxes, who are faithful with their applause. Bernar is unassisted.

BRYAN FOR THE INSPIRATION

Fountain Head of Democracy, Weaver Says, Must Inspire Douglas Country Followers.

Pending the establishment of permanent headquarters local democrats expect to obtain inspiration for the campaign in Douglas county from the Bryan dinner to be given at Lincoln September 21. Frank L. Weaver, chairman of the new county committee, declared Monday he favored taking the entire committee down to Lincoln in a body to drink inspiration from the fountain-head of democracy. By this means he hopes to stir up the fighting blood of the members of the committee, many of whom are young men and consequently new to political campaigns. It has not been decided definitely whether this plan will be carried out or not. It is understood at least 100 democrats will attend the dinner whether the entire committee goes or not and the affair will mark the opening of the campaign in this county.

So far little active work has been done by either committee. The democrats formally organized Saturday, but the republicans have not come together yet. The meeting being called for Wednesday afternoon. Both committees are already figuring on rooms for headquarters, but neither has been definitely located yet. Chairman Learned of the republican committee is away on his vacation and nothing definite will be done until his return. Mr. Weaver says a hard fight will be made by the democrats to elect the entire ticket, but among the rank and file it is said to be pretty generally understood that the workers will concentrate on electing the republican candidates in the hope of pulling them through.

CLAIMS SHE IS BEWITCHED

Woman Asserts that Her Neighbor Uses Occult Science on Her.

Trouble between the Brunk family at 1215 South Eighteenth street and the neighbors was declared by witnesses in juvenile court Monday to arise from the fact that Mrs. Brunk accuses one of her neighbors of bewitching her and ruined her health through occult means. The complaint in juvenile court was against George Brunk, a 12-year-old boy who, it was asserted, bewitched the neighbors and the teachers and pupils at the Castellar school. The complaint was brought by Mrs. Copeland, one of the neighbors.

'Eighteen years ago,' said Mrs. Copeland, 'Mrs. Brunk accused me of bewitching her girl baby. The girl has since grown up and is now married and I supposed the delusion had passed. Since then she has had very poor luck, and not long ago she came to me and told me she believed I acted through spirits to ruin her health. She said she read it in the Book of Moses and she begged me to give her back her health. I think the whole trouble is because of the hatred she has stirred up against me because of this delusion.'

FINK TO APPEAL TO COUNCIL

Treasurer Will Ask for Advice in Disposing of Scavenger Tax Certificates.

The city treasurer will present to the city council at a meeting soon to be held a suggestion that some steps be taken to dispose of the scavenger tax certificates now being held by the city. There are more than 1,100 such certificates, representing a face value of about $30,000. They were issued by the city in 1904 and 1905 when the bids were not equal to what the city considered the value of the property and from cases where no bids were made. It is suggested that these certificates represent no real value as far as the city is concerned, the municipality neither desiring the property nor being able to realize on the certificates except where persons will buy them.

AUGUST KROFFT IS MISSING

Contractor Leaves Employees Unpaid and is Gone to Where, One Knows Where.

August Krofft, who has been engaged as a carpenter contractor in South Omaha for several months, has mysteriously left the city. He had been working on a contract in Omaha until Saturday when the job was finished. He had quite a number of men in his employ and he told them to call at his South Omaha place of business Saturday afternoon to receive their pay. In the meantime he made some other collection and left the city. He was not seen again until he was arrested at his office when the men arrived.

FRUITS OF AMERICAN MONEY

Fred Krause Enjoys Made in Dresden or Fortune Made in Omaha.

Fred Krause, who used to operate a broom factory at 215 Chicago street and who retired ten years ago to return to the fatherland, has written to Omaha friends that he has made a fortune in Dresden, most of it in Omaha property, from which he now has an income of $2,000 a year. The greater part of his money he made by cornering the Nebraska broom corn crop in one of the dry years of the early '90s. He has a half interest in the lot and building at the northeast corner of Fourteenth and Douglas streets.

CITY MISSION FOR MEN

Slum Work Agitated at First Ministerial Union Session.

DR. BURDICK SUGGESTS PLAN Committee is Appointed to Take It Up at Once—Ministers Exchange Stories of Their Vacation Pleasures.

The Ministerial union of Omaha resumed its regular monthly sessions for the season Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Young Men's Christian association building, with a large attendance. The meeting was full of interest and enthusiastic. The ministers had generally returned from their summer vacations much refreshed and full of new energy.

Rev. Clyde C. Cissell presided, with Rev. H. J. Kirshstein as secretary. Following the devotional service, Rev. Newman Hall Burdick made a short talk upon the necessity for the organization of a city mission for work among the men of the slums, on lines similar to such missions in successful operation in other cities of the country. He moved the appointment of a committee of three to report upon a plan for the establishment of a city mission, the committee to report at the next meeting of the Ministerial union on the third Monday of October. The motion was adopted and the new committee, consisting of Rev. Newman Hall Burdick, Rev. B. F. Fellman and Rev. H. H. Millard as such committee.

SPECIAL REPORTS DEFERRED.

Several special committees who were to report at the meeting were given until the next meeting to make their reports. Dr. Cissell announced these as the insulating committee to report upon the selection of officers for the ensuing year, to report at the next meeting; Rev. J. M. Conley, Rev. Walter H. Reynolds, Rev. H. J. Kirshstein, Rev. Frederick T. Rouse, the new pastor of the First Congregational church and L. M. Oberkoter, the new secretary in charge of religious work of the Young Men's Christian association, were introduced to the association and made short talks.

REV. J. W. CONLEY TOLD OF HIS EXPERIENCES IN NORTHERN LOUISIANA AND MINNESOTA, BUT DISCREETLY REFRAINED FROM ANY TALK ABOUT VISIT AND A THIRTY-FIVE MILE TRAMP THROUGH THE MOUNTAINS IN ONE DAY AND THE ASCENT OF SOME OF THE COLORADO MOUNTAIN PEAKS.

REV. E. H. JENKS GAVE A THRILLING RECAPITULATION OF HIS VISIT TO CRATER MOUNTAIN, CALIFORNIA, WITH A 2,000 FEET DEPTH OF INDIGO BLUE WATER, AND HOW HE AND HIS PARTY MADE THE WATER, OVER 1,000 FEET, AS AN OFFSET TO DR. CRYER'S ASCENT OF THE COLORADO PEAKS SEVERAL TIMES THAT HEIGHT.

Rev. E. H. Jenks gave a thrilling recapitulation of his visit to Crater Mountain, California, with a 2,000 feet depth of indigo blue water, and how he and his party made the water, over 1,000 feet, as an offset to Dr. Cryer's ascent of the Colorado peaks several times that height. Rev. Randolph Smith told a pretty good cat story. Rev. W. H. Reynolds told how he got stung on the city and how he was preaching a sermon during his vacation. Newman Hall Burdick spoke of his revelations and answered the questions of the members of the church as to why the chicken was the most religious of all fowls in that the tribe had a large lay membership and many of them were in the ministry. Dr. Cissell objected to the Presbyterian denomination claiming that story, as it was the exclusive property of the Methodist church.

FUND FOR NEW JEWISH CHURCH

Russian Congregation on Capitol Avenue Will Raise Forty Thousand for Building.

Without doing any soliciting outside the church membership, the members of the Russian Jewish congregation have begun a campaign to raise $40,000 for a new synagogue. At a meeting of nine members recently $5,000 was subscribed as a starter for the fund and those interested are much encouraged at the outlook.
