PLEADS ANTI-TRUST LAW

David Bradley & Co. Demur to Cordage Company's Petition.

SUIT IS OVER BINDING TWINE

Allegation Made Plaintiff is Violating Anti-Trest Law and There fore Has No Standing in Court.

In the United States court yesterday a demurrer in the suit of the Peorla Cordage company against David Bradley & Co. of this city was argued before Judge Smith McPherson. The demurrer was based on the grounds that the contract, which was for binding twine, was in restraint of trade and void under the Sherman act and Iowa trust law, it being in contravention of both the federal and state anti-trust laws. The contract originally involved about $30,060, but there is only $4,000 claimed in the present suit. Under the contract by which the defendant firm purchased the binding twine from the Peoria Cordage company, it is alleged, it was obligated to sell at the same prices as the International Harvester company and the Plymouth Cordthere should be no competition. Thus the first street. contract, counsel for the defendant firm in the demurrer contended, was in violation of the anti-trust laws, both national and state, and consequently was null and void. Judge McPherson took the case under ad-

The bankruptcy case of the Union Transfer company came before the court in the matter of the $60,000 of notes given by the bankrupt firm to the New Decatur Buggy company of Middleton, O. These notes came into possession of ten different banks and manufacturing concerns, who, claiming to be innocent purchasers, insisted their notes should be included in the liabilities of the bankrupt company. Other creditors, supported by Trustee Frank E. Everest, contended that the notes were given without consideration and should not be allowed. Arguments by counsel pro and con occupied the greater part of the morning session. Judge McPherson took the matter under advisement.

The Cut-Off land cases, involving six suits, were continued, as some of the attorneys were not able to appear, being engaged elsewhere.

After disposing of a few minor matters Judge McPherson adjourned the term of court and returned last evening to his home in Red Oak. Next Tuesday he will convene tered. the term of court at Davenport. The other court officers returned to Des Moines last

The government thermometer here in Des Moines registered 25 degrees. At Fort Dodge it was 20 and at Creston 31 and at Davenport and Sloux City 34. This was on the top of tall buildings. Down on the ground the temperature was much lower and the corn was injured. Director Sage said today that he could not tell how much injury was done to the corn crop until he had received reports from his reporters over the state. He said he was satisfied that some slight injury had been done, however. Others posted on crop conditions said they were confident that damage had been done to the crop. Junction, S. D., Burned Over. HURON, S. D., Sept. 26.-(Special.)-A prairie fire swept over 3,000 acres of land Tuesday afternoon, starting about two miles west of Vailey Junction. The fire originated from a spark from a passing locomotive on the Northwestern line, and the company, realizing the situation, immediately sent a special engine carrying fire fighters to the scene. The first crew being unable to check the flames, a second was sent out, but the fire was not extinguished until it had covered at least 3,000 acres of land. Thousands of tons of hay in stacks were destroyed and the prairie entirely devastated of feed. The losses are very heavy to farmers, as many of them had their winter supply of hay in stack and must now take their herds to other localities or buy feed from neighbors.
