In Omaha Boys Can Carry Bags of Money on Streets.

NO DANGER IN THIS CITY

Rain Washes the Red Off the Incendescant Light Globes and Leaves Them All White.

Three young men, or more accurately speaking, one young man and two boys, were observed shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday morning carrying from three to five sacks of coin each from one of the banks down Sixteenth street to Hayden Bros. store. They had to crowd and elbow their way through the crowds thronging the streets and became separated. The money was delivered without any mishap. An Ak-Sar-Ben visitor, noticing the incident, said: "Such a thing as that could not happen in every city in this country. There was nothing to prevent those boys from being robbed on the street and I question whether any of the trio was armed. One or more of those sacks of money could easily have been snatched from either of the three and the thief could have got away in spite of them or any outcry they could have made."

W. V. Morse, capitalist and director of the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway company, returned to Omaha Saturday, having spent the summer on the Pacific coast, principally in the Pacific northwest. "I caught salmon so large I do not dare tell you about them for fear you would think it was a real fish story," said Mr. Morse. "The trout and deer and grouse are plentiful in the northwest and it is a sportsman's paradise."

"Seattle is getting to be a world center and is having a tremendous growth. The best property there is valued at $6,000 a front foot, while property at Vancouver has a valuation of $2,000 a front foot. Vancouver is the western door to the Dominion and is quite a place. The principal streets of Seattle are a constant reminder of Broadway in New York. I met many Omaha people on my travels. In fact Omaha people are to be met all over the western coast from Los Angeles to Alaska, and while they all have a good word for Omaha, they seem to be happy in their new homes."

Henry Ostrom, clerk of the county board, has a firm belief in the faith cure, sometimes.

Friday an old man apparently convulsed by a bad cough entered the commissioner's office and demanded he be sent to the county hospital for treatment. He had hard work talking, because between each word his cough almost choked him. He was told he would have to wait until one of the commissioners arrived and he sat down, especially for half an hour he wrestled with that cough, but no commiseration appeared. Finally Mr. Ostrom said: "That cough of yours sounds more to me like I don't believe you have any more cough than I have. You'd better try to keep it down."

The old man did not say anything, but for the next hour he sat quietly in his place without a sign of a recurrence of his trouble. When you went downtown Thursday night did you notice that every other string of lights over the streets was red? When you went down Friday night, did you notice they were all white? It was the rain Friday that did it. In the absence of red bulbs the electric light company had dipped the ordinary white bulbs in a red solution. It wouldn't stick. "And by the way, speaking of colors," said an Ak-Sar-Ben knight, "do you know the meaning of the three colors in King Ak-Sar-Ben's emblem? They represent three great products of Nebraska; the green stands for alfalfa, the red for the red cattle and the yellow for corn."

ST. PAUL MEN AT Y. M. C. A. Come to Get Some Printers for New Building They Are to Erect.

The fame of the new Young Men's Christian association building of Omaha has been spread broadcast throughout the land and organizations of other cities that are contemplating the erection of Young Men's Christian association buildings are sending representatives to inspect the Omaha structure. Friday Edward Grace, general secretary; Carl Rothfus, physical director, and Architect Johnson of the Young Men's Christian association of St. Paul, Minn., came to Omaha for the purpose of inspecting the new building here. They were accompanied by Mr. Noyes, chairman of the building committee of the Young Men's Christian association of that city. William Sloan of Ashland, Wis., was in the city for the same purpose, and the party made a thorough inspection of Omaha's new Young Men's Christian association building and expressed themselves as being very favorably impressed with what they saw. On Friday twenty-four new members were enrolled in the Young Men's Christian association, making a total membership of 1,590.

NEW ANTI-DIRT CRUSADE

Principal Waterhouse Starts Clean Street Movement at High School.

By means of a circular letter to high school students Friday morning, Principal Waterhouse has started a crusade for clean streets that may put Mayor Jim's street cleaning force in the shade. The 1,800 young Omahans at the high school are urged in the letter to co-operate to keep the streets, especially those around the high school in a cleanly condition. As the students come from all over the city the appeal is expected to help in the anti-dirt movement in other neighborhoods as well as around the school buildings.

The cadet battalion is temporarily in charge of Lieutenant Grinn, who is taking Captain Oury's place during the latter's absence on army business. AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Young Women at High School Much Enthused Over New Work.

CHANCE FOR BASKET BALL TEAM

Boys at School Are Looking Forward to Clash at Foot Ball with the Team from the Omaha High School.

The young women of the South Omaha High school are very much enthused over the introduction of the physical culture classes under Miss Conklin. These classes meet every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday morning in the auditorium of the high school. The exercises take the place of a regular gymnasium practice, which the limitations of the high school forbid. In previous years the physical training of the girls amounted to little more than nothing. The young women are busy this week making their gymnasium suits. Miss Conklin has completely won the sympathy of her charges already, and they predict great improvements before the close of the season. It is anticipated that a strong basket ball team will be organized among them this winter. The young women are longing for the honors of such contests, which have been barred heretofore.

First Foot Ball Game. One more week of training and the South Omaha High school team will try the metal in the first real game of the year. It is scheduled to play the Omaha High school on that date. The South Omaha boys would rather win that game than any in the series. The same feeling is shared by the Omaha boys. This should develop great enthusiasm. It is believed that a large attendance of high school students will be out. The management also hopes to draw from the big carnival crowds which will be in the city on that date.

Sunday Services. Secretary G. A. Young will occupy the Presbyterian pulpit again Sunday morning and evening. Dr. R. L. Wheeler is expected home by the next week. Secretary Young's topic will be, "One Blessing" at the morning service. In the evening the theme will be, "Social Sinning."

Rev. Andrew Renwick will have returned by Sunday morning and expects to occupy his pulpit both morning and evening. He will have an interesting message from his vacation trip. "The Source of the Christian's Strength," is the morning topic of Rev. George Van Winkle at the First Baptist church Sunday morning. Rev. H. B. Fossett of Grand Island will preach in the evening. Mr. Rush of Omaha will lead the young people's meeting.

"God's Power of Word" is the topic of church Sunday morning. The evening theme will be "A Diligent Service." Rev. H. H. Millard will preach his last morning sermon before conference Sunday morning. He expects to return to this field. "The Value of Contentment" will be his evening theme. Rev. Ralph Livers will use as his theme at Sunday morning service "A Crown, the Reward for Faithfulness." A welcome is extended to the public.

He is largely interested in the sheep industry. The following births have been reported: Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Cooley, 211 G, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Severin, a boy; Mrs. R. C. Beavers, 321 D street, will enter the Women's auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian association Tuesday afternoon, October 1.

Mrs. Albert Schuchard has issued invitations for a luncheon on the afternoon of October 8 and a whist party October 9. The whist party will be at the home of the hostess, Mrs. Edith De Witt, the 3-year-old daughter of Albert De Witt and wife, 48 South Thirty-first street, occurred yesterday. The burial was in Laurel Hill cemetery.

The death of Japan Yalala occurred at the South Omaha hospital. He was the son of the family lived at Twenty-fifth and G. The funeral will be this morning at St. Agnes' church. R. A. Johnson has returned from his three months' leave of absence from the South Omaha postoffice. He will resume his duties next week. He spent most of this time in San Francisco.

John Coe, W. N. Link, Mike McLaughlin and J. J. Johnson were called to meet with the displeasure of the South Omaha police judge yesterday morning. The Ordrowskis, the Kovolekisks, the Rosenpels and the Stephanisks and their friends and relatives were again in police court yesterday afternoon. The case is a new phase of the long drawn out trial. The Ordrowskis, Twenty-sixth and P streets, also reported the loss of a suit and some small articles of clothing.

The police continue to unravel threads in the Alden-Gates diamond robbery. Yesterday Captain J. C. Troutan recovered the curb buttons which Gates had worn. The evidence is becoming more firmly fixed, the officers say. The diamonds have not yet been recovered. The death of Oscar Espersen, son of J. M. Espersen, 615 North Twenty-sixth, occurred Thursday. The funeral will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Swedish Lutheran church at Twenty-third and K streets. Rev. G. V. Carlson will have charge. Interment at Springwell cemetery.

The county attorney dismissed the slate candidates for the office of coroner yesterday morning. He was charged with breaking and entering the Jetter brewery. To be charged with the same offense on forcing the trial, so Queenan was allowed to plead guilty of being drunk and was committed to the county jail.

BIG CLASS FOR GYMNASIUM

Three Hundred Young Women Ready to Take Physical Culture

With physicians' certificates, describing minutely every physical defect, if defects exist, nearly 300 young women of Omaha will begin physical training in the Young Women's Christian association classes, under the direction of Miss Jane Geannett, who met the young women at the rooms of the association in the Paxton block Friday evening. Miss Geannett told the young women who attended the informal reception that the physical examination would be absolutely necessary and that it would be for their own good. "I must know the requirements. Very few young women are without some little defect," she said, "especially of the heart and lungs or in the spine. I must know about all these if I am to direct the physical training of each young woman. There are exercises which some may enjoy, which others cannot. These I will care for individually, but the examination by a competent physician will be necessary before I can commence my work." It is the plan of the association to begin work at once in the old gymnasium, using equipment now in the rooms, but plans are being made for one of the most complete gymnasiums in the west, which will be one of the big features of the new building. The physical director proposes to prepare her classes during the coming winter for better work by arranging a series of talks and addresses by physicians of Omaha on subjects of interest to young women and pertaining to physical training and development.

Plans for the new building were shown at the reception Friday evening, members of the association manifesting much interest in them. Following the physical culture rally, piano music by Mrs. W. E. Shafer, readings by Miss Nickum and vocal music by Miss Burgess entertained the young women. Light refreshments were served.

SENATOR BURKETT AT CAPITAL Will Return to Participate in Campaign After Attending to Some Business.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(Special Telegram.)—Senator Burkett arrived today to arrange his household affairs and to look after important departmental matters. Tomorrow at 10 o'clock he has an appointment with the president. After closing up affairs which brought him here he will return to the west to engage in the campaign. The senator is particularly interested in the candidacy of Judge Reese, in whose behalf he will make a number of speeches during October.

Mrs. Norris, with her three children, are in Washington for the winter and are looking for a house. Vance Chapline of Lincoln, a cadet at the Naval academy, is in the city on his way to Annapolis. He has been in Nebraska on a furlough.

HANSCOM WILL IS FILED

Son and Two Daughters Share Equally in the Property. The estate of the late Andrew J. Hanscom, estimated to be worth close to $1,000,000, will be divided equally among the three children. The will was filed for probate in the county court Friday afternoon. The document is short and it provides that after the just debts and the funeral expenses are paid the residue shall go to the son, James Duane Hanscom of California, and the two daughters, Mrs. Harriet Georgia Pritchett of Omaha and Virginia C. Pritchett of New York City. The will nominates the two daughters as executrices, without bond. It was in Mr. Hanscom's handwriting and was dated in Omaha on June 5, 1888. Frank Murphy and Ben B. Wood, both deceased, were the witnesses.

With the will was a petition signed by Mrs. Pritchett in which she declined to act as executrix and asked the appointment of her husband, George E. Pritchett, as executor, without bond. The petition estimates the value of the property at more than $300,000, but it is believed by real estate men who are acquainted with the estate that it will run close to the million mark, if not above it.

BANK OFFICIALS GET SCORE

Packet Containing Notes is Mislaid and Causes Hurried Trip on Special Train. SIOUX CITY, Ia., Sept. 28.—(Special Telegram.)—A misplaced packet of negotiable papers, aggregating $40,000, at the Savings bank in Rodney, Ia., threw the business men of that town into a panic, resulted in the practical arrest of J. B. Rogers, the bank's cashier, who had come to this city, and brought about a record-breaking trip from Omaha to Sioux City on the part of William McDiarmid, president of the bank, and F. L. Collins, its special examiner, on a special train over the Northwestern railroad.

When William McDonald, assistant cashier of the bank at Rodney, opened for business at 8 o'clock this morning he discovered the packet of notes were missing, and a search failed to locate them. Rogers, the cashier, had come to this city on business for the bank. McDonald at once telephoned President McDiarmid, who was at Omaha, of his discovery. The news spread over town and a sensation was caused. With no trains leaving for Sioux City until evening, McDiarmid chartered a special train and accompanied by Examiner Collins, started for this place at 1:40 o'clock, making the run in two hours.

Rogers was found at the West hotel and taken to the local police station, but disclaimed all knowledge of the whereabouts of the missing papers. He accompanied the banker and the examiner to Rodney on the 5 o'clock train and a half hour after arrival there the valuable papers were discovered in an unused cubby hole.

ROOSEVELT TO MARKSMEN

Winners of Championships Congratulated by Chief Executive.

ENCOURAGES RIFLE PRACTICE

After War Has Come it is Too Late to Teach Man to Become a Formidable Shot.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—President Roosevelt has written letters of congratulation to Sergeant W. A. Berg of North Yakima, Wash., who represented the Washington National Guard, and to Midshipman Harold T. Smith of Tacoma, Wash., who represented the United States navy, and who won the championship of 1907, on their victories in the president's match and the national individual match of the National Rifle association of America, recently held at Camp Perry, O.

To Sergeant Berg the president wrote as follows: My Dear Sergeant Berg: I congratulate you heartily upon winning the president's match. I feel that in this country, with our complex and rather over-luxurious civilization, it is above all things important that there should be no falling off in the virile qualities which make of the average man a good soldier, as well as a good citizen. It is absolutely essential that we should keep up a first class fighting navy, but in the event of land war we should have to rely chiefly upon our volunteer forces, and when war has come it is too late to teach a man how to become a really formidable shot, and good marksmanship is one of the three or four vitally important qualities in a really efficient soldier. As an old national guardsman myself, I feel an additional pride in your success.

Thanking you and congratulating you heartily, I am, sincerely yours, THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

The president's letter to Midshipman Smith says: My Dear Mr. Smith: I heartily congratulate you on your victory in the president's match and the national individual match. I am exceedingly pleased that it should be a midshipman of the United States navy who has achieved this honor, and I congratulate the service as well as yourself. With all regards, believe me, sincerely yours, THEODORE ROOSEVELT.
