

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

CROPS IMPROVE EXCEPT IN KANSAS

No Hail Fall There and Some Fields Are Reported to Be Burning, but Hogs Are Good.

OMAHA, May 28, 1907.

There was a heavy break in the market for grain and produce today. The weather was generally favorable, but there were reports of hail in some places and some fields were reported to be burning. Hogs were good, but prices were lower than yesterday.

Wheat opened weaker owing to general selling and in sympathy with the weakness in wheat. The bid crowd was bearish and selling more favorable weather conditions causing additional weakness. July option opened at 90c asked and closed at 89c.

Primary wheat receipts were 45,000 bushels of hard red winter wheat, 10,000 bushels of soft red winter wheat, and 10,000 bushels of durum wheat.

SUPPORT COMES AND MARKET ADVANCES

Rise Brings Another Selling Movement and New Low Records Are Made for Several Issues—Close Is Weak.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The support, which was apparent in yesterday's stock market, was offered today with the change in the complexion of the speculation as a result of a matter of course, that after so precipitate a fall in prices as has occurred, there should be a reaction. The market was supported by a number of professional operators in the board room invariably continue short sales up to the limit of a decline. They continued their sales in the early part of today's session and helped to force the price of many stocks to below the lowest prices touched yesterday and to bring additions to the list of stocks selling today during the panic in March. The demand which developed after support became effective was largely from the uncovered short interests. One of the plainest indications of this was the close proportion of gains today to losses yesterday. Stocks which had been most acutely depressed yesterday rebounded with most apparent vigor today. Another significant sign of the character of the buying was the manner in which it subsided at the recovery level, where the profit to the bear was correspondingly diminished. It did not entirely at the end, when the final collapse in prices came. So far as the general market was concerned, the improvement in tone, the decline in the wheat market and the doubt raised over the continuance of the wheat harvest movement were responsible. Reports from the wheat belt of rising temperature were of the most serious character. In the street because of the emerging of the sun from the rain-soaked clouds which hung over the financial market, the wheat harvest fact seems not fairly negligible in view of the grave plight attached to the wheat conditions. The discussion of yesterday's gloomy stock market. The weight of the selling to take profits in wheat yesterday, in face of the unfavorable weather conditions was eloquent of the extent of the purely speculative buying which has been going on. The weekly bulletin of the weather bureau issued today was reassuring. It showed, however, that the movement of the price of wheat served to soothe Wall street apprehensions on the subject of wheat scarcity. The market in full tide today from the domestic crop. Foreign crop news was better, especially that from Russia, which had an effect on the world's grain market. The feature in the international exchange situation today was the decline in the rate of sterling exchange at Paris. This leaves a doubt whether profit will be engaged here, whether profit or export to France, or makes it certain that any engagement will be small. The change in conditions relieved the market from some of the depression caused by the wheat market. The wheat market today might reach $4.00 or even $3.00.
