KELBY AND EATON CLASH

Railroad Attorney Tries to Tell Board How to Make Up Its Record.

MEMBERS TAKE EXCEPTION TO HIS MANNER

Board Informally Adopts the Figures Agreed Upon Several Days Ago—Treasurer Brian Files Statement.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, May 31.—(Special)—After adopting the tentative values of the railroad property of the state as reported last Saturday, the State Board of Assessment took a recess this afternoon, just in time to prevent what might have been a personal encounter between Land Commissioner Eaton and James Kelby, attorney for the Burlington. Kelby had read on behalf of the Burlington, a request for detailed information regarding the way the board arrived at its conclusions, the deductions it made for outside holdings, property locally assessed and other matters. He desired the board to make a record of his request, together with a ruling on each question asked. Treasurer Brian, Governor Sheldon and Secretary of State Junkin had expressed an adverse opinion regarding putting such matter in the records. Kelby again started to read his request and said: "I move that this be made a matter of record."

and Kelby still stood at the table talking. Kelby rubbed the board the wrong way the first time, when, after reading what he wanted put in the records, he told the board he wanted a ruling on each question and asked the same to be a part of the record. Treasurer Brian snapped him up in a moment.

Brian takes issue. "I think we have a right under the law to make this assessment and we put in our records what we please without you telling us," Brian said. "I want this record made now," replied Kelby, "but if the board wants more time I will grant it, but I want to be present when the final record is made up."

Again Brian did the talking for the board and he said: "I have been lenient with the railroads, but you can't tell us how to make our records."

"The railroads have not yet been assessed," answered Kelby, and if the records do not show that I will endeavor to prove it. "Well, if the railroads haven't been assessed I don't see why you are here asking us to tell you how we assessed them," declared Governor Sheldon. Kelby then descended to change his motion, and the motion Rich of the Union Pacific eased the tension a little by getting in ahead of Kelby and explaining to the board that in an equity case it was usual when the lawyers had been informed that a judge's decision was going to be asked him to make a record of how he reached his conclusions before the final decision was recorded. The board, he said, was sitting at an official capacity. The board can either grant or deny the request as it sees fit.

Kelby again took possession of the speaker's stand and he stopped for breath. Junkin moved the resolution fixing the values last Saturday be adopted. The motion carried unanimously, with Kelby protesting.

Kelby is insistent. Just before the vote was taken Mark Woods, a Northwestern attorney, chimed in to say that his road also desired to make the same kind of protest filed by the Union Pacific and the Burlington and to ask for the detailed information regarding the assessment.

"We have been here for some weeks holding these meetings," said Governor Sheldon, "and have listened to you men and I am willing to listen this afternoon, but I am not going to encumber the records with the things you ask. We have taken all those things under consideration."

"Then the board should adopt a resolution to that effect," chimed in Woods, "for we are entitled to the record."

"I am going to read these questions and insist on a ruling on each question," said Kelby, and he was about to start, when Brian interrupted.

"I don't stand for reading those questions again. We have all heard them. Your own tax commissioner couldn't answer some of them," he said.

"Some of the tax commissioners said the road was worth $25,000 a mile, and later admitted it was worth $35,000," said Junkin, as a parting shot.

It was then Kelby got in the game with a remark that he did not intend to be shut out by any of the gentlemen, and Eaton called him, and it was all off.

For the Union Pacific there were present: Edison Rich, attorney; A. W. Scribner, tax commissioner; R. J. Clancy and George Holcomb of the taxing department. For the Burlington: James Kelby, attorney; R. D. Pollard, tax commissioner. For the Northwestern: Mark Woods, attorney, and Bob McGinnis, general agent.

It was apparent the object of the railroad men was to get the board to make up a record upon which they could get into the courts and again contest the tax based on the assessment made by the board. While the board may make a record of the request filed by the railroad men, it is not believed it will make a record of what action it took in the matter. At the meeting tomorrow the values will be argued by the various roads.

FREMONT, Neb., May 31.—(Special)—The Nebraska letter carriers to the number of about 100 held their annual meeting here yesterday afternoon and last evening. The principal address was by Rev. W. H. Buse of the Congregational church on the "Relations of the Postmaster, Carrier and Public," in which he expressed the general appreciation of the public of the carrier, other numbers on the program were "The State Association," by Charles B. Newton of Omaha, which was briefly discussed by a number of speakers; "Red Tape," by Ross L. Hammond; a vocal solo, by Mrs. Charles A. Martin; recitation, by Miss Grace Forney; and a short talk by H. BITTER FEELING TOWARD HIGGINS

Relative of Mrs. Coppel Predicts a Lynching.

FREMONT, Neb., May 31.—(Special)—According to John Watson of Bancroft, a relative of Mrs. Coppel, the sentiment against the murderer of herself and husband is getting more and more bitter. "Burke will never leave this town county alive," was the remark he made to several people here in Fremont yesterday. "The people up there," he said, "are keeping posted on the movements of the officers and when he leaves Omaha they will know he is ready to meet him. The talk of the defense of insanity being made," he said, "particularly exasperated the friends of the Coppel family."

Mr. Watson did not seem disposed to say much of the plans of the would-be lynchers, but intimated that matters were arranged all right.
