Holyoke-Holdrege and Levy-Morris Marriages Performed.

CUPID DOING WELL IN SUNNY JUNE

Mayor and Mrs. Dahlman Give Dinner for Daughter's Bridal Party

The spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Holdrege on South Thirty-second avenue was the scene of a beautiful house wedding Tuesday evening when their daughter, Miss Mary Holdrege, became the wife of Mr. Edward A. Holyoke of Madrid, Neb. The house throughout was decked with a profusion of garden flowers, but the company gathered for the wedding was not large, being limited to the relatives and the nearest friends. The ceremony was solemnized in the drawing room by Rev. Newton Mann of Unity church. The bride was shown in soft mesaline silk and carried a shower of lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Susan Holdrege, as maid of honor, wearing a gown of green silk and carrying a nosegay of white blossoms and greens. Miss Lucia Holdrege and Miss Marjory Montgomery served as bridesmaids and were gowned alike in sheer white frocks and carried showers of pink and white sweet peas. Mr. Royal Comstock acted as groomsmen. Mr. Russell Comstock of Kansas City and Mr. Earl Hervey of Young acted as ushers. An informal reception followed the ceremony from 8:30 to 11 o'clock. After a two weeks' bridal trip through the west Mr. and Mrs. Holyoke will make their home on the H. O. ranch of Mr. Holdrege's near Madrid, of which Mr. Holyoke is foreman.

The bride made her debut five years ago. She completed her education in Mrs. Reynolds' school in New York City.

Morris-Levy.

A conspicuous event of the spring in Jewish social circles was the wedding of Miss Juliet Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Morris, to Louis Levy of Minneapolis, which took place at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris, 527 South Twenty-seventh street. The rooms were handsomely decorated and the parlor where the ceremony was performed had a color scheme of green, pink and white carried out in elaborate detail. Across one corner was constructed a canopy of greens and white roses and studded with incandescent lights shaded with pink. At either side was a pedestal topped with potted plants, which were also a feature of the decoration in the other rooms. Under this canopy the ceremony took place. Rabbi Frederick Cohn officiating. The bride wore a handsome princess robe of lace and carried a shower of lilies of the valley. The costume was completed by a long tulle veil, which hung to the foot of her skirt. David Prentke of Cleveland, O., a friend of the bride, acted as matron of honor, wearing a white linen gown over her silk and carrying bride's roses. Miss Ethel Prentke of Cleveland, O., and Miss Ethel Goetz served as bridesmaids, both wearing lingerie gowns, one over pink and the other over blue, and both carrying showers of roses. The groom was attended by Mr. E. H. Gutner of Chicago as best man. A dinner for the members of the bridal party and relatives followed the ceremony. The same color scheme employed in the decoration of the rooms was used for the table trimming. Covers were laid for twenty-seven. Mr. and Mrs. Levy left later in the evening for Minneapolis, where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stevens. Among the out-of-town guests present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Levy and little son of Minneapolis, Mr. and Mrs. David Prentke of Cleveland, O., and Mr. E. H. Gutner of Chicago.

Paterson-Blanchman.

Friends of Miss Blanche Waterman, daughter of Lyman Waterman, and Ronald Paterson, son of the late George Paterson of Omaha, have been given a genuine surprise by the young people, and some of these friends are not even aware of this fact yet. The couple went to Council Bluffs and got married Sunday. Their marriage had been heralded and expected soon, but when was the secret. That secret was dispelled Sunday, but the fact of the marriage was another secret. Both young people enjoy a wide circle of friends in Omaha. They have just embarked on a wedding trip. Upon the completion of which they will return to Omaha and reside. It is understood Mr. Paterson gave his mother,

TO WASH CLOTHES WITHOUT RUBBING

Take two quarts of boiling water and add a small handful of Wiggle-Stick Wonder-Wax and half a cake of soap cut up, and boil until the mixture is dissolved. Add half of this mixture to the hot suds in the wash tub and keep half for the boiler. If you have a boiler, first put all of the mixture into the boiler and boil your clothes for twenty to thirty minutes, then add the remainder to the boiler. This will save you the trouble of sending the Wonder-Wax through them.

Always wet the clothes in cold water and wring out before putting into wash-water or boiler. Rinse clothes well twice or three times after boiling or washing, then blue with Wiggle-Stick Blue, making the water a very light shade of blue, and wring out your clothes with the blue.

Use Wiggle-Stick Gland-Wax for Satisfactory and you will save nearly half the labor and half the time in ironing.

FOR DRESS EMBELLISHMENT

Some of the Things that Contribute to Style in This Season's Gowns.

While all white cottons, linens, etc., are modish and popular, there is this season a stronger leaning than usual toward colored effects in such materials and merchants report a successful sale of high-class cottons and linens in colors. The demand is perhaps a direct result of the supply, for manufacturers have turned out phenomenally attractive lines of colored silk and cotton, mixed, mercerized cottons in color, tinted batistes, mulls and swisses, colored linens, printed organdies, muslins, etc.

Linens in coral pink, soft rose or blue or green, buff or lavender, are exceedingly popular and are trimmed with self-color embroidery, with relieving white in lingerie and lace near the face, or are embroidered and trimmed in white. Innumerable variations of the jumper and guimpe idea are worked out in these colored linens, and coat and skirt costumes, either fancy or severely tailored, are also very smart.

Heavy diuny or flit or Irish lace trims many of the handsome linen frocks, and, by the way, the dyers who cater to the fashion are advertising the ready method of dipping of colored linen frocks which have faded or changed color in wearing or laundering.

French pique is fashionable for coat and skirt frocks and separate skirts, but is used in white more often than in color. The separate waistcoat of white pique, buttoning with gold buttons and over very low to show a frilled blouse of sheersat white batiste or linen, is much worn by Parisians in association with the tailored street frock of wool or of heavy tussor. Waistcoats in striped linen, blue and white, rose and white, brown and white, etc., are also favored.

Fichus of all kinds have won Parisian favor and coquettish effects are obtained with soft silken fichus of color contrasting with the frock and worn folded low about the shoulders, with the ends tucked into waistcoat or girdle. This is a fad which requires skillful and artistic handling, as

TWO SMART TUSSOR MODELS

Material Adaptable for all Sorts of Dressy and Trotting Frocks.

Tussor is not confined to the sphere of the motor coat, but is one of the favorite materials of the French dressmaker and used for frocks of all sorts from the simplest morning frock or trotting costume of darker brown are often preferred. A black and white checked mohair trimmed in black or with a very slight dash of red is especially smart. A very stunning French coat is made of mohair in rather wide stripes of Copenhagen blue and gray, trimmed in black and white. Striped coats are numerous among the models in tweed, cheviot and other light wools, but a consistent laundress instead of to the cleaner.

Among the Pongees, the new heavy French tussor is the chosen variety for the smart motor coat and, though expensive, it gives much more satisfactory service than any ordinary pongee or other better class of shantungs and rajahs, to say nothing of the fact that it looks much handsomer at the start.

The linen coat, especially in the soft hard woven linen, which repays the extra money spent for its better appearance and its wear, is a satisfactory dust coat for a hot day, but is a comfort only when it may really be put into the tub and so kept fresh and immaculate. This is, of course, only possible when the coat is cut and made with an eye to such treatment and is carefully shrunk before being made up.

EYEBROWS AND EYELASHES

Both Can Be Much Improved by Little Care and Training.

The eyebrows are great additions to the beauty of the face. They are for the protection of the eyes, especially the lashes. When these are thin and straggling or do not grow properly the eyes will become inflamed if an unhealthy condition of the lids has not already occasioned the trouble. It is not a good idea to use eye paint or to make any artificiality of the eyebrows, by growing inward, act as a foreign body and keep up a constant irritation of the eye. This easily can be detected by pulling down the lower lid and looking at the lashes to see the start in which they are growing. They should be on a regular line, evenly distributed, turning outward and downward, with a gentle curve on the lower lid and outward and upward on the upper. The longer and stiffer and thicker they are the better. If the line is not straight and the direction of a lash here and there is faulty, try to straighten them by means of small tweezers. If the direction cannot be remedied and certain hairs sweep the eyeball every time the lids cover the eyes in winking, then at once should be plucked out. It is not difficult to do it oneself.

Styes are due to the irritation of the hair follicle out of which an eyelash springs.

They should be opened as soon as pus is found, for they will not get well as long as the pus remains. They will not occur unless the hair follicle is clogged. To promote the growth of the eyelashes apply vasoline to the roots. For the inflammation of the follicles and scalliness add to the vasoline fifteen grains of precipitated sulphur or fifteen grains of yellow oxide of mercury to the ounce of vasoline. In applying either of these remedies it is well to warm it a little, as it will not then be so sticky. Trimming the eyelashes once in two or three months is said to be beneficial in promoting their growth and thickening them. This is done with a pair of curved scissors. It can be done by oneself. Only the tips should be clipped, and this should be done evenly.

A California Tour.

A pleasantly appointed trip to Los Angeles, including the principal points of interest in California, was made by Miss Elizabeth P. Allan, in a special car, leaving Omaha on June 22, returning at the end of three weeks with those who cannot remain longer.

A tour has been outlined and expenses estimated, including all necessary outlay for side trips, hotels, etc., for three or seven weeks.

TAFT OR BRYAN FOR Y. M. C. A.

One or the Other Will Make Address at Dedication.

EXERCISES LAST SEVERAL DAYS

Will Be Conducted on an Elaborate Scale and the Complete Program Will Be Made Public in Little While.

William H. Taft, secretary of war, or William J. Bryan will deliver the oration at the formal dedication of the new Young Men's Christian association building next week if present plans carry. A committee of the trustees appointed to select the speaker has gone to work to secure one of the other of these distinguished men.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Young Men's Christian association Tuesday in the Commercial club rooms the matter of the coming dedication of the new building was considered. The dedication will extend over several days, during which time visitors will be shown the establishment and social affairs will take place. The committees in charge of the work will be appointed and the full program given to the public in a few days.

Two unexpected, but very welcome visitors called on Secretary B. C. Wade at the Young Men's Christian association Tuesday morning. One was Fred B. Smith of New York City, religious work secretary of the international committee of the Young Men's Christian association. The other was W. A. Magee, Young Men's Christian association state secretary of Iowa. Both happened into Mr. Wade's office at the same moment. Thereupon Mr. Wade called together the members of the board of directors and they took lunch at the Commercial club with the two visitors as guests. Mr. Smith is on an extended tour of the United States and left in the afternoon for Denver.

Taft Will Not Speak.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(Special Telegram.)—Secretary Taft, who will make a tour of the number of western posts and incidentally stop in Omaha for a few hours on June 10 on his way from Fort Meade to Leavenworth, it is understood has declined an invitation of the Young Men's Christian association to open their new building. Secretary Taft says he does not desire to make any speeches on his tour of inspection, which is made for the purpose of preparing his official report on the accomplishments of the War department to congress.

Barber Nutt will be released from quarantine Sunday, and Barber Ahrendsen will probably recover from his dog bite soon, and the scrape should well reopen for business.—Springfield Monitor.

Hebron Journal in Quarter of a Century Ago—It is reported from Carleton that Mrs. Dr. Janssen administered a public castigation to her inebriated husband several days ago for applying abusive epithets to her when she was trying to get him home from the saloon. He called her several bad names, when she struck him with her fist several times, giving him a black eye. After she turned away from him he repeated the offense, when she returned and took a chair to him, hitting him on the head with the back of her hand, then arrested her. Bystanders then proposed to interfere in her behalf. After a short time Mrs. Janssen was released.

Holiday in the Cemetery—All residents of the city of Norfolk are interested in the extermination of the dandelion pest, and that means everybody, are requested to meet at the office of the Prospect Hill Cemetery association, on the cemetery grounds, next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, to take part in a warfare on the pest that is marred the beauty of the cemetery. The caretaker finds it impossible to fight the battle alone and has called for help. Bring along well filled dinner baskets in order that a picnic dinner may be enjoyed during a resting spell. It is hoped to make this something better than a holiday—a day of lasting benefit, the influence of which will extend to all parts of the community.—Norfolk Weekly Press.

A Fatal Heifer—Once upon a time, away down along the corridors of time in the early '70s, John Ruddy had settled upon the wild, primeval prairie east of Lyons and purchased his first milk cow of Denis O'Rourke in the east part of the county, giving his son, Jerry O'Rourke, 25 cents for helping to drive the cow as far as Dehanch. It was a heifer and had not been broken to milk. Mr. Ruddy tried every known device for breaking the heifer, but each trial resulted in his being kicked to terra firma. After Mr. Ruddy had resolved in his own mind that it was impossible to ever break the animal, Waldo Lyon, sr., happened along and seeing the heifer said: "Well, you have a fine milk cow there, how much milk does she give?" "Well," replied Mr. Ruddy, "I can't tell; she always kicks it over before I can finish milking." Mr. Lyon wanted to buy her and Mr. Ruddy wanted to sell her for just what he had paid. Mr. Lyon purchased the heifer on the assurance of his friend, Waldo Lyon, sr., that he could easily break her. Mr. Ruddy shrank both hind legs and sat down to milk, when he received a knockout kick from both hind feet and declared the "jig was up" and the cow
