

HOME NOTES AND SOCIAL GOSSIP

NOTES ON OMAHA SOCIETY

Old-Time Club Meets with Mrs. Robert Christie.

COMIS CLUB'S JAPANESE PARTY

Delightful Set Takes Next After Strenuous Round of Weddings

—A Club Affairs—Wedding Invitations Still Come.

Mrs. Grant Kuhn entertained the Comis club Thursday afternoon. A guessing contest afforded amusement and the prize was won by Mrs. Arthur Kuhn. Japanese decorations were used in all of the rooms and refreshments were served from one large table in the dining room. Here Japanese lanterns, banners and umbrellas were used in decoration, while the table had for a centerpiece a Japanese dolly, over which suspended from the chandelier hung a basket filled with Japanese lilies. The plate cards were Japanese fans. Those present were: Mrs. Ben Marti, Mrs. W. E. Heaton, Mrs. George E. Townsend, Mrs. W. T. Haynes, Mrs. Arthur Kuhn, Mrs. C. J. Tuffield, Mrs. W. K. Fisher, Mrs. J. Webster, Mrs. Arthur Hoover, Mrs. E. B. Ferris and Mrs. Grant Kuhn. The next meeting of the club will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Arthur Kuhn.

Old-Time Club Meets.

The Old Time club was entertained Thursday by Mrs. Robert Christie at her home, 229 North Nineteenth street. Music and a social good time made a very enjoyable afternoon. Those present were: Mrs. James Liddell, Mrs. Gus Haffo, Mrs. John Cleveland, Mrs. J. H. McCarty, Mrs. J. Bigger, Mrs. Louis Rase, Mrs. Dave McLaughlin, Mrs. Charles Ahlquist, Mrs. Louis Leeder, Mrs. John Liddell, Mrs. J. E. Shaffer and Mrs. Christie. The guests of the club were Mrs. Mary Hazard, Mrs. Elizabeth Christie, Mrs. F. Leeder, Miss Beaulieu Ahlquist, Miss Doty Bigger, Miss Irene Bigger and Miss Mamie Liddell. The rooms had pretty decorations of pink and green. Pink carnations, combined with ferns and the chandeliers were concealed with greens, the lights being shaded in pink. The next meeting of the club will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Dave McLaughlin, 2028 Ohio street.

Afternoon Gatherings.

Mrs. Edith E. Falconer entertained the Central Whist club Thursday afternoon. Four tables were placed for the game and prizes were won by Mrs. W. Fenwick and Mrs. William Worley. Those present were: Mrs. George Parker, Mrs. A. King, Mrs. Robert Chumley, Mrs. E. Worley, Mrs. Vow, Mrs. W. Fenwick, Mrs. L. C. Giles, Mrs. A. Baker, Mrs. J. Ahmannson, Mrs. Charles Granden, Mrs. Falconer, Miss Nelson, Mrs. Frank Reed, Mrs. Rich and Mrs. Monnell. Mrs. L. C. Giles will be the next hostess.

Luncheon Parties.

Mrs. George Palmer entertained at luncheon Thursday at the Country club in honor of Miss Parks of Providence, R. I., who is the guest of Mrs. and Joseph Cudaby. The table had an attractive centerpiece of yellow daisies and the plate cards were artistically decorated. Covers were laid for fourteen.

Miss Lynn Malmoquist gave a delightful luncheon Thursday in honor of Miss May Dennis. The color scheme of the luncheon was pink. A low mound of pink roses was used as the centerpiece for the table from which radiated pink ribbons which terminated in large bows. Those present were: Miss May Dennis, Miss Pauline Gale, Miss Meta Nelson, Miss Helen Best, Mrs. Martin Bethune, Miss Lynn Malmoquist. Miss Carrie Millard gave an informal tea Friday afternoon from 4 to 6 in honor of Mrs. O. N. Ramsey of California, formerly of Omaha.

Prospective Events.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Wilhelm gave a dinner Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Baldridge, who will leave soon for an extended trip abroad. The Harmony Kensington club meeting which was to have been held at the home of Mrs. L. J. Withrow has been postponed two weeks owing to the absence from the city of several members.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Beaulieu Christie Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, to Mr. Robert Hardy Manley. The wedding will take place Wednesday evening, June 13, at the home of the bride's parents, 427 California street. A reception will follow the ceremony.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Minnie Gutting and Mr. Otto Sommer, which will take place Wednesday evening, June 13.

Come and Go Gossip.

Miss Elizabeth Murray arrived Thursday, to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. D.

Weaver until Monday. Miss Murray has just closed a successful season on the vaudeville stage and will spend her vacation visiting friends.

Mrs. Francis C. Grable, who has been visiting in Des Moines, returned home Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Welch are at Excelsior Springs.

Mrs. E. P. Peck is at Mudavia, Kramer, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Cherrington arrived home this week from a two months' visit with relatives in California.

Bishop Worthington arrived Thursday morning and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hall.

Lieutenant Lawrence V. Butler of Washington, D. C., formerly stationed at Fort Omaha, has resigned from the army and is making his home with his father in Washington.

Mrs. Charles Singer is in Chicago visiting her daughter, Mrs. Leo Rosenthal. Mrs. Singer will attend the graduation exercises at Armour institute. Mr. Sidney C. Singer will receive a degree of bachelor of science in mechanical engineering at the institute Thursday, June 13.

Mrs. George A. Hoagland and daughter, Mrs. J. B. Summers, jr., have gone to Kenosha, Wis., in the hope of benefiting Mrs. Hoagland's health.

DAINTY LINGERIE GOWNS

Some Smart Materials and Styles in Which They Are Made.

The lingerie frock is, in its handmade form, a thing of infinite elaboration and of indescribable charm, but so lovely are many of the lingerie materials that even without excessive elaboration they make up into delightful dainty frocks. This is particularly true of the fine embroidered swisses, batistes, muslins, etc., which allow designers to do away with the necessity of complicated trimming devices.

Many of these materials are costly, but the slight expense of the goods is far more than offset by the saving in fine applied trimmings of hand work. Some most attractive frocks in such material are made up with no skirt trimming save several tucks, headed by inset lines of the narrow open work crochet trimming of which mention has already been made, and with simple bodices on the surplice order, though opening to the girle in front and back more often than crossing surplisewise.

The opening is bordered by a hem set on with crochet or perhaps by some hand-sewn trimmings and the V opening is fitted with some very fine and sheer chemisette of Valenciennes and tucking. Under sleeves carry out the chemisette idea or there may be a complete under blouse of the sheer lace and lingerie, while the surplice bodice may be merely a jumper arrangement—so called for want of a better name.

Such a frock does not demand great expenditures of either money or labor, though the under blouse and the trimming used should be details for hand work. A little square or round yoke and cuff bands may take the place of the under blouse, the frock blouse in this case being, of course, shirred or laid in fine plaits over the shoulders around the yoke, and demanding no other trimming save this yoke.

When plain lingerie material is used, more elaborate trimmings are really necessary, but hand run tucks and dainty inset lace will go far toward making up the in by some very fine and sheer chemisette of Valenciennes and tucking. Under sleeves carry out the chemisette idea or there may be a complete under blouse of the sheer lace and lingerie, while the surplice bodice may be merely a jumper arrangement—so called for want of a better name.

Such a frock does not demand great expenditures of either money or labor, though the under blouse and the trimming used should be details for hand work. A little square or round yoke and cuff bands may take the place of the under blouse, the frock blouse in this case being, of course, shirred or laid in fine plaits over the shoulders around the yoke, and demanding no other trimming save this yoke.

When plain lingerie material is used, more elaborate trimmings are really necessary, but hand run tucks and dainty inset lace will go far toward making up the

in by some very fine and sheer chemisette of Valenciennes and tucking. Under sleeves carry out the chemisette idea or there may be a complete under blouse of the sheer lace and lingerie, while the surplice bodice may be merely a jumper arrangement—so called for want of a better name.

Such a frock does not demand great expenditures of either money or labor, though the under blouse and the trimming used should be details for hand work. A little square or round yoke and cuff bands may take the place of the under blouse, the frock blouse in this case being, of course, shirred or laid in fine plaits over the shoulders around the yoke, and demanding no other trimming save this yoke.

When plain lingerie material is used, more elaborate trimmings are really necessary, but hand run tucks and dainty inset lace will go far toward making up the

in by some very fine and sheer chemisette of Valenciennes and tucking. Under sleeves carry out the chemisette idea or there may be a complete under blouse of the sheer lace and lingerie, while the surplice bodice may be merely a jumper arrangement—so called for want of a better name.

Such a frock does not demand great expenditures of either money or labor, though the under blouse and the trimming used should be details for hand work. A little square or round yoke and cuff bands may take the place of the under blouse, the frock blouse in this case being, of course, shirred or laid in fine plaits over the shoulders around the yoke, and demanding no other trimming save this yoke.

When plain lingerie material is used, more elaborate trimmings are really necessary, but hand run tucks and dainty inset lace will go far toward making up the

in by some very fine and sheer chemisette of Valenciennes and tucking. Under sleeves carry out the chemisette idea or there may be a complete under blouse of the sheer lace and lingerie, while the surplice bodice may be merely a jumper arrangement—so called for want of a better name.

Such a frock does not demand great expenditures of either money or labor, though the under blouse and the trimming used should be details for hand work. A little square or round yoke and cuff bands may take the place of the under blouse, the frock blouse in this case being, of course, shirred or laid in fine plaits over the shoulders around the yoke, and demanding no other trimming save this yoke.

When plain lingerie material is used, more elaborate trimmings are really necessary, but hand run tucks and dainty inset lace will go far toward making up the

in by some very fine and sheer chemisette of Valenciennes and tucking. Under sleeves carry out the chemisette idea or there may be a complete under blouse of the sheer lace and lingerie, while the surplice bodice may be merely a jumper arrangement—so called for want of a better name.

Such a frock does not demand great expenditures of either money or labor, though the under blouse and the trimming used should be details for hand work. A little square or round yoke and cuff bands may take the place of the under blouse, the frock blouse in this case being, of course, shirred or laid in fine plaits over the shoulders around the yoke, and demanding no other trimming save this yoke.

When plain lingerie material is used, more elaborate trimmings are really necessary, but hand run tucks and dainty inset lace will go far toward making up the

in by some very fine and sheer chemisette of Valenciennes and tucking. Under sleeves carry out the chemisette idea or there may be a complete under blouse of the sheer lace and lingerie, while the surplice bodice may be merely a jumper arrangement—so called for want of a better name.

Such a frock does not demand great expenditures of either money or labor, though the under blouse and the trimming used should be details for hand work. A little square or round yoke and cuff bands may take the place of the under blouse, the frock blouse in this case being, of course, shirred or laid in fine plaits over the shoulders around the yoke, and demanding no other trimming save this yoke.

"In that tent of our homes not served by the housewife, is in the hands of ignorant and inferior young women, under conditions of constant change." Ignorant and inferior, because, with the slightest education and ability, young women can find lighter work and higher wages as typewriters, secretaries, dressmakers, sewing-women; and, despite the fact that household labor is comparatively light and unexact, the average young woman of mean abilities prefers factory work, offering as it does sociability and a less precise overseer than housework. Moreover, the house-servant is always temporary. She looks forward to a change of scope and of methods, when not to marriage and a house of her own, as complete release from serving a stranger's household gods. In the small household of medium means, not more than two or three servants are kept, and the duties of these require that they be in different parts of the house. Thus the first defect of household labor, as carried on in a small city house, is that it is dull. * * * England, we hear, has set up a "Servants' League," a combination whereby servants have set a standard of wages, and a definite amount of service and limit of hours for the wages received. Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

Probably there will soon be a householders' league to consider seriously and carefully the demands of the servants and, above all, how to lend household labor the charm and dignity which will make it seem a desirable occupation, and how to adjust the tastes and demands of refined ideals of living to the coarse and unskilled laborer's ideals of necessity.

GREEN VEGETABLES SCARCE

Coy Summer Follows Bad Example of Last Spring.

LOCAL MARKET IS ALMOST BARE

Southern Crop Nearly Exhausted and Local Supply Has Hardly Commenced to Make a Show at Stalls.

Green vegetables of every sort that are shipped in are very scarce and high, a most unusual state of affairs for early June. The southern crop is about over and the greater part of it is consumed before it can be shipped this far away. There are practically no new beets or beans to be had, while the new peas and green beans are scarce and of inferior quality. New turnips are a little more plentiful, but sell for 8 and 10 cents a small bunch. New potatoes are better and a little cheaper, selling for 15 cents a peck. Fresh tomatoes have been scarce and cannot get this year and the Texas tomatoes arrived only Friday morning. They are selling for 20 cents a pound and are nice.

The first green corn of the season came in the middle of the week, is selling for 50 cents a dozen and the ears are not very full.

The home-grown vegetables look very well and are getting cheaper. Radishes sell six bunches for 5 cents, red cabbages and three bunches for 5 cents, head lettuce 5 and 10 cents a head, and this is nice, though smaller than the shipped lettuce, which sells for 15 cents a head. The leaf lettuce sells two and three bunches for 5 cents.

A few stalks of celery were in market Friday morning. It was almost a curiosity, however, and the shipment included only about two dozen bunches, which sold for 25 cents a stalk.

Cauliflower looks doubtful and most of that in market now has been stripped of the green and trimmed otherwise to freshen it to more inviting and saleable condition. The smaller heads sell two for 25 cents and the larger from 15 to 25 cents each.

The outlook for strawberries is dark; indeed, the prospects are fair for famine in berries for a week or so before the local crop comes on the market. The southern crop is about exhausted and cannot get this year, but the middle or last of next week, Hood River, Ore., that usually contributes to the local market, has not been heard from definitely, but this is the one source of supply that can possibly be counted upon before the home berries come in.

The first cantaloupes of the season came in Thursday, shipped from Arizona. They are small, but look nice and sell from