DOZEN GASOLINE MOTORS

Twelve New Cars Go Into Service First of July.

SOME TO SUPPLANT MIXED TRAINS

Branch Lines of Union Pacific in Nebraska Will Get Several of These Latest McKee Products.

About July 1 the Union Pacific Railroad company will put in service twelve new gasoline motor cars, several of which will be operated on the branch lines of the Union Pacific in Nebraska to take the place of some of the smaller trains which are now run at a loss and also to be run where mixed trains are now used. On many of the lines this will give a far better service than is now had.

Officials of the road are now working out schedules for the running of these cars. The cars now in operation are a pronounced success and need less repairs than a regular train which travels the same number of miles.

When W. H. McKee, Jr., superintendent of machinery and motive power, first undertook the manufacture of these cars the scheme was looked upon with suspicion, but Mr. McKee was hopeful of success, and this opinion was shared by Mr. Mohler and Mr. Harriman, with the result that he has unceasingly continued their manufacture, making improvements on each succeeding car, until he now considers he has them where they can be run at great profit to the road.

Railroads all over the country are interested in the experiments of Mr. McKee and numerous delegations have visited the cars from eastern roads to watch their operation. The little use for them to try to copy a car, for the next car is always an improvement on its predecessor.

The cars are now built are models of utility, beauty and strength, being entirely of steel, with all the latest improvements known to the builders' art. They have circular windows, giving the passengers unobstructed views of the scenery on both sides of the car. They are also equipped with ventilators and the machinery is so fixed on the axle of the front truck and the car so balanced that no vibration is felt from the engine.

Improvements of Deput.

The Missouri Pacific is to make extensive improvements around the present freight depot at Fifteenth and Nicholas streets. These will include a large addition and other changes which the officials say they are not yet ready to announce. The Missouri Pacific has been paying more and more attention to Omaha since the visit of its President George Gould and other officials and several moves have been made looking to expansion. One of these was the renting of the fifth floor of the Merchants National bank building as general offices, the rooms being formerly occupied by the Standard Oil company. These new rooms

GRAIN GROWERS ARE THROUGH

Last Official Act is Passage of Set of Resolutions.

RAILROADS AND CROP REPORTS

Both Come in for Scoring, Demand Being Made for Regulation of Former and Discontinuance of Latter.

President—Theodore O. Nelson, North Dakota.

Vice President—O. E. Schaefer, Nebraska.

Secretary—L. N. Staats, Illinois.

Treasurer—Thomas Grinnell, Oklahoma.

Directors—A. G. Schmidt, South Dakota; A. L. Best, Illinois; M. O. Hall, North Dakota; L. P. King, Kansas; W. L. McKibben, Oklahoma; J. A. Kemper, Virginia.

The first annual convention of the grain growers' department of the American Society of Equity came to a close after a three-day session at the Lyric theater, Friday afternoon, the last act being the adoption of a set of resolutions. Adjournment was taken sine die, and the next meeting will be held in October with the regular convention of the entire society at a place yet to be designated. The result of this gathering has been the perfection of an organization, the drafting and adoption of a constitution and bylaws, and the laying of plans for the propagation of the society's aims. Headquarters will be established immediately at Minneapolis.

There was small discussion in the work of adopting a constitution, the only stumbling block to smooth progress being the matter of salary for the president and secretary. There was heated discussion over the amount, but it was at last allowed to remain as originally suggested, $5.00 per annum, until the convention next October. The committee on resolutions reported with articles expressing gratitude to the city of Omaha and the press for treatment and courtesies extended.

The resolutions also covered the following points:

Favors the patronage of home merchants and bankers by farmers of the community where prices and interest charges are fair and suitable.

Declares farmers in Kansas are suffering from unjust grading of their grain and asks that a committee be appointed to report on a hearing to be held before him in July to demand that the weight of No. 2 hard wheat be fixed at fifty-seven instead of fifty-nine pounds to the bushel.

Denounces Crop Reports.

Declares the advance government crop reports are more guesses and have a bad effect on prices, and therefore demands the monthly crop report be discontinued and only an annual report be issued at a time when the crop can be accurately measured or approximately estimated.

Commends the government inspection of grains and favors an early passage of a bill providing for it.

Recommends the government of the country be capitalized at double their value, with the result that profits are double what they are at present, and that congress see to it as quickly as possible the cost of reproducing the railroads of the nation and amend the rate law so as to reduce rates of traffic so that a reasonable profit shall be made upon the actual capitalization with all fictitious values eliminated, and asks that congress pass a law prohibiting the overcapitalization of corporations doing an interstate business.

The board of directors held a meeting at the Murray hotel after the close of the convention, during which details for further work were discussed. There were about 100 delegates present at the convention.

Marsh Elder Active.

Samuel Marshall Elder, the speaker of the first populist house of the Nebraska legislature, is one of the prominent men attending the meeting. Mr. Elder says he has practically "retired" from politics, but still is "actively independent" when campaigns are in progress.
