BRIDGE PARTY FOR CHARITY

Annual Event for Benefit of Creche Given at the Country Club, Largely Attended and Financially Successful.

Fine weather was prevalent Thursday making the long jaunt out to the Country club a refreshing pleasure, preceding the game of bridge given for the benefit of the Creche. These parties are given annually by the Creche and have always been very successful. Thursday's party proved popular as usual and a gratifying sum was realized. Tables were placed in the two large living rooms and divided into four sections, two prizes being awarded in each section. The same partners were kept throughout the afternoon. The prizes were won by Mrs. Warren Blackwell and Mrs. Whitcomb of Chicago, Mrs. W. J. Burgess and Miss Edith Thomas, Mrs. Holmes Updike and Mrs. W. B. Melillo, Mrs. Louise Stephens and Mrs. N. L. An elaborate bridge luncheon was given Thursday by Mrs. John N. Baldwin in honor of Mrs. H. H. Baldridge. All of the table appointments both for luncheon and bridge were suggestive of Mrs. Baldridge's anticipated trip to Europe. For luncheon the guests were seated at two tables, each of which had a centerpiece of hydrangeas. The plate cards were small boats. Unknown to Mrs. Baldridge each guest had written her a telegram, which when presented afforded a great deal of amusement. ## SOUND BODY AND PURE FOOD

Relations of One to the Other Made Very Plain.

GOD'S PLAN FOR MAN'S GROWTH

Combination of Foods that Bring About the Conditions Most Conducive to Health and Consequent Happiness.

Light, air, water and food is what we must have to make perfectly healthy bodies. And the air must be real, stoneware, oxygenated, sun-kissed air; the light must come directly from the sun; the water must be clean and active—that is, not having stood very long, to lose its gases and take in some that are not the right water kind—the food must be fresh and in the proper proportions of body-building and heat-producing, and all must be rightly combined if we wish to feel that our bodies will do anything we bid them.

TWO-PIECE GOWNS FOR BRIDES

French Designers Turn Out Unusual Variety of Such Models.

Of bodice and skirt gowns in soft silk, marquisette, lingerie and muslin, the summer bride may have as many as she can afford, and she will have no difficulty in this season in finding desirable models for such frocks. The French autocrats while showing their skill in orgies of elaborate detail upon many handsome frocks have turned out an unusually large number of comparatively simple models in voile, marquisette, tulle, fougard, silk mousseline and other modish materials, and while the frock copied from one of these models will doubtless not have the perfection of cut and line which distinguishes the original, a clever dressmaker can make the copy an attractive thing.

ROBE MOUSSELINE.

Take, for example, the little frock of rose and white checked marquisette shown among the cuts. This is in process of being copied from a French design in green and white, and while the French frock was probably much the smarter of the two, the copy promises to be very charming.

Man's Modern Methods.

"We are putting in practice a foundation principle of the use of foods," said Mrs. Provident, "using only one starchy food at a meal, as some one has found out of us, and we are experimenting to prove the truth of the observations, that the digestive organs when presented with, say, both bread and potatoes at the same time, will take possession of the front of the collar and the undersleeves much gump and barbe.

GIRL GRADUATE'S LUNCHEON

Suggestion for Final Compliment to School Girl Friends.

A luncheon to your girl friends who graduated at the same time as yourself may be made very attractive by having the menu and decorations of white, for, like the bride, the sweet girl graduate never appears so well as when clothed and surrounded with white. If all means wear your pretty white lingerie gown and you might ask your guests to bring home you are giving the luncheon to wear white gowns. Your table decorations may be very simple, but effective, by using white linen for your cover and napkins, white dishes and cut glass for serving the menu and white shades for your candles. Sweet peas are beautiful in white and delicate colors and these would be an attractive center decoration for the table, and at each cover there might be placed a corsage bouquet for the guest. Have plain white name cards with the name of the guest written in silver on one side. Serve this menu: Sliced pineapple, celery bouillon, wafers, sliced breast of chicken, on dish of white lettuce; white bread, celery and apple salad, vanilla ice cream, white cake with white icing, lemonade—What to Eat.

Railway Notes and Personal.

L. E. Esterly, trainmaster of the North-western at Boone, was in Omaha Friday in silver on his side. Some time ago the agent of the Burlington, returned Friday from Chicago.

Members of the Travelers' Protective Association who are going to James town exposition have chartered a special car and leave Friday.

The members of the Travelers' Protective association who are going to James town exposition have chartered a special car and leave Friday. The car will be western for Chicago. The car will be attached to the Manhattan Limited on the Pennsylvania to Baltimore and the party will then proceed by boat of James town. There are about thirty in the party.

Near Cut Glass Cream Pitchers.

This is by far the biggest value in a small item that we have ever offered to the Omaha public. This Breakfast Food Cream Pitcher stands 6 1/4 inches high and is made of heavy glass of the same quality as is used in the genuine and expensive-cut glass. This near cut glass pitcher is so close to, and resembles so nearly, the near cut glass that it requires an expert to tell the difference. The same sharp edges, and the same exquisite pattern that you heretofore could find only in the genuine article. This pitcher is one that anyone can be glad to own, as it is pretty in design and shape, and highly desirable in quality. It is larger than the ordinary cream pitcher, and for that reason is called "BREAKFAST FOOD CREAM PITCHER," but can be well used in many other different ways for the table. One thousand of these on sale Saturday at 9 a. m. as long as they last for the exceptional price. 10c ended, about five minutes after beginning to eat. This sauce was served with the fish and made the other vegetable for the dinner.

Some Summer Drinks.

Mint Punch—It is getting time for nice cool drinks and Mrs. Provident makes a cup of three or four cups of sugar and syrup of three or four cups of sugar and five minutes and stores away in a glass can ready to mix with her fruit punches; she can thus tell at once when the mixture is sweet enough, and the cooled syrup gives a more bland, smooth taste than the raw sugar melted by the mixture. For the mint punch she brushes, say, half a cup of coffee leaves and rubs sugar into them, with a tablespoonful or so of lemon juice; lets it stand a while and then strains through a piece of cheesecloth; a cup of grape juice and a cup of strawberry or raspberry, or lemon, or current juice are mixed as the mint adds, some of this syrup may be added, and some water as desired. The amount of mint used may suit the taste some liking a heavy mint punch, others only a slight flavoring. Sometimes a little, and scattered over the top, give just the desired finish.

LEATHER GOODS FOR WOMEN

Some Striking Novelties in Pigskin Belts and Seal Handbags.

There is a craze for pigskin in Paris and the fad has been taken up by American women. Crush effects are popular in pigskin belts, which are finished with leather covered buckles in square or oval shapes. Steel studded leather belts lead every style in popularity. A new style combines the stiff and crush effects, the wide back is made stiff with overlaying steel studded bands shaped to conform to the figure. The sides and front are made of flexible leather and finished with a leather buckle with cut steel points. A decidedly novel belt is made of wide silk braid, corduroy style, accented with tinsel stitching. The belt is finished top and bottom with leather bands matching the braid in color and fastened with two narrow leather straps finished with tiny gilt buckles.

What to Have at Dinner.

"We'll have not drawn the line very strictly for dinner yet, although fortunately, my family are as much interested in this as I am, and having taken up the general suggestion that their body house will not stand very well if they put too much starch into its construction or its maintenance, they are gradually working out for themselves. In the meantime I try to put in some vegetables that they specially like and that they will use with bread, say, and not have the potatoes for one day, or other, and so they will finally get their food better balanced."

What to do at dinner time?

"What do you do at dinner time?" said Mrs. Preparen, who was trying to imagine what her family would do without both bread and potatoes for dinner, with oftentimes either rice or hominy or macaroni thrown in.
