

CLIMAX OF BOOSTERS' TRIP

Salt Lake City Enthusiastic in Its Reception to Omaha Party.

QUARTET SINGS IN TABERNACLE

Sunday to Be Spent in Night-Seeing and Sunday Night the Special Train Starts on Last Stage of Journey.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

SALT LAKE, Utah, June 16.—(Special Telegram.)—An automobile tour through Ogden canon, a stirring reception at Salt Lake City, visits to the Mormon temple and a concert at the famous Tabernacle, ending with a monster reception at the Salt Lake City Commercial club, were the features of yesterday for the Omaha Boosters at Ogden and Salt Lake City. The most interesting feature, perhaps, was the singing by the Omaha quartet in the Tabernacle, where the wonderful acoustic properties of the famous building rendered the voices the more effectual.

The early hours of the perfect day were spent at Ogden, extending trade relations with the merchants, and the entire party was taken at 10 o'clock for an automobile ride through the Ogden canon for nine miles and return. Pictures of the Omaha boosters taken at several places in the canon besides rugged cliffs many feet in height and swift mountain streams. The Boosters returned barely in time to take their train at 3 o'clock for Salt Lake.

Wanderers Rejoice the Train.

Frank Judson joined the special train at Ogden and will accompany the excursion home, while Vance Lane and Archie Lewis, who left at Portland to visit San Francisco, joined the Boosters again at Salt Lake City.

A committee representing the Salt Lake Commercial club consisting of L. R. Martineau, W. E. Bailey, L. H. Farnsworth, W. A. Overbeck, J. F. Patrick and F. P. Laib, boarded the train at Ogden distributing badges, welcoming the Boosters to the Bee Hive city and on arriving at Salt Lake an impressive and enthusiastic reception was tendered, such as has not been surpassed during the entire trip through the northwest states.

The parade of the Boosters through the streets, was most imposing, as each booster carried his colored umbrella and the band was preceded by the governors of Utah and Nevada in marriages.

See Signs from Street Car.

After the speeches at the Commercial club were finished and two songs rendered by the Omaha quartet, special street cars were boarded for a ride over the beautiful city, with its many points of interest. After seeing the business portion of the city with its large and handsome buildings the Boosters were taken through the residence part, obtaining views of the famous historical interest, the famous temple built by the Latter Day Saints and completed after forty years, the public parks, beautiful homes of the wealthy, the famous Bee Hive house of Brigham Young, and the residence erected for his favorite wife by him, and the building where the bones were formerly laid which is now dilapidated and occupied by an upholstery establishment.

At 5:30 a special concert was given for the Boosters at the Tabernacle by Prof. J. J. McClinton on the mighty pipe organ, for which the tabernacle is renowned. A varied program of classical themes was given in the tabernacle, whose acoustic properties are unsurpassed, to an audience of 1,000, most of whom were Omahans and their friends, and by special request the Omaha quartet gave a selection. To the stirring strains of the Pipers' chorus from Wagner's "Tannhauser," the four Omaha vocalists were escorted to the platform and sang "Sunset," composed by Vandewater, and as an encore gave an adaptation of "Lead Thou Me On." The visitors were enthusiastic in their praise of the concert and the admirable manner in which the Omaha quartet acquitted itself.

Whole City Honors its Guests.

The reception and informal smoker tendered the Boosters at the Commercial club in the evening was one of the most enjoyable affairs of its kind in which the excursionists have participated in during their two weeks of travel, as all the chief officials of the trade and civic organizations of the city as well as the leading business men were in attendance to do honor to their guests. Charles Burton vice president of the club, introduced Captain Joseph E. Cain as the chairman of the meeting. His address expressing sentiments of most sincere welcome to Salt Lake City were made by Governor Cutler, Judge E. W. Colburn and Frank Knox, a prominent banker, who spoke on behalf of Mayor Thompson. Representative replies were given by Governor Sheldon, A. W. Jeffers and others on behalf of the Omahans and refreshments were served until after midnight. Real unadulterated pleasure was enjoyed by the Boosters at the reception, in contrast to others of his kind at other cities. A large orchestra played during the evening and several more songs were given by the Omaha quartet.

Sunday will be spent by the excursionists in night-seeing and a special train will take the Boosters to Saltair on the Great Salt Lake during the afternoon. The Boosters will leave Salt Lake City Sunday night for Wyoming points, the last day of the trip for active boosting operations, and will be accompanied by W. H. Murray, assistant general passenger agent of the Union Pacific, and Joseph H. Lowe and Edwin G. Clay of the right department.

FINE CONTEST IN ELOCUTION

Close Competition Between Young Women at Mount Mary's Seminary.

The auditorium of Creighton university was filled Saturday afternoon by friends and relatives of the members of the elocution class of Mount St. Mary's seminary, the occasion being the contest which was held at the close of the year's work. There were nine contestants and the first prize, a gold medal, was awarded to Miss Florence Martin; the second, a book, to Miss Valec.

The program opened with a song by the school chorus. This was followed by the presentation of speeches as follows: Miss Marie Martin, "The Widow's Light"; Miss Pool, "The Boy Orator"; Miss Savage, "How the Little States Were Lost"; Miss Strong, "Emmett's Protest"; Miss Valec, "The Flight with the Aurochs"; Miss Cooper, "The Chariot Race"; Miss Florence Martin, "As the Moon Rises"; Miss Berry, "Cigarette's Last Ride"; Miss Murphy, "The Honor of the Woods"; The judges were Rev. J. T. Smith, Judge A. C. Troup and C. J. Smith. Judge Troup was spokesman for the judges and said the awarding of the first prize was much easier than the selection of the first person to receive the second prize; that for the second place the standing of Miss Valec and Miss Work was so nearly even the latter won by a slight margin only and that the work of the others was so uniformly high that the judges were glad to think they did not have to award a third place.

The parlors and refectory of Mt. St. Mary's seminary, Fifteenth and Castellor streets, were the scene of a festive Thursday afternoon when the alumnae of the Mercy school held the annual exercises. The program opened at 1:30, in the chapel, with an address by Rev. P. F. McGovern. Father McGovern admonished the students to make the most of the helpful lessons taught them by the nuns in each.

"A good woman can wield a wonderful influence in the sphere in which she moves and most of all she can mould the moral and religious principles of the man whom she marries," he said.

Father McGovern's subject was different from those usually dealt upon at alumnae gatherings, but the proof of his fitness lay in the keen interest evinced by his hearers. A business meeting followed in the parlors, at which, after a few preliminary details, these officers were appointed for the year:

President, Miss Ruth; vice president, Miss Mary McNamee; secretary, Miss May Whalen; treasurer, Miss Etta Creighton. The refectory, decorated in the alumnae colors, yellow, blue and white, was a picture of harmony and artistic arrangement. The banquet of six courses was served by Courtney & Co., through the efficient management of Mrs. Marie McCune. The courses were interspersed by the following numbers, announced by Miss Ruth, toastmistress:

- Greeting..... Miss Rice
Vocal solo..... Miss Conklin
"The Daughters of Catherine McAuley"..... Miss Conklin
Revelation..... Miss Mulvihill
Vocal solo..... Miss Danahy
"The Flower of America"..... Miss Conklin

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Board of Review Will Begin Its Work Monday Morning.

INCREASE IN ASSESSMENT

Books Show a Gain of Over Million Dollars Over Last Year—Due Largely to New Buildings Erected.

During the next ten days the Board of Review will be in session at First hall No. 1. There it will canvass the books of the Assessors on the valuation of the real and personal property of the city. It will also hear all protests which may be lodged against the valuations. The board organized yesterday, electing J. J. Ryan secretary and M. E. Rowan clerk. W. H. Queenan, by his office as clerk, is a commissioner, is chairman of the board. After the organization the board immediately adjourned until Monday morning. As yet there have been no protests lodged, but it is expected that several companies whose assessments have been raised will seek to have them reduced.

The work of the assessors was finished Friday night, and the final balances showed an increase over the assessment of last year of $1,198,298. The valuation for 1907 was $4,989,090 real and $3,471,212 personal. The figures for 1906 were $3,790,792 real and $2,452,810 personal. The items for the increase are derived largely from the great amount of building which was done last year. Among the firms whose assessments have been raised are: The Hammond packing plant, whose assessment was raised from $100,000 to $200,000, the amount of the capital stock. It is said that a great many other firms have been raised more or less. Tax Commissioner Queenan declared that the assessment of household goods has been much reduced this year. No raises had been attempted with the Omaha Water company.

Many Arrests Made.

Yesterday was a rush day with the South Omaha police. By 6 o'clock the jail was packed with prisoners. The officers raided a crap game at Twenty-sixth and P streets, in Bill Dooley's barber shop. The police secured all the participants in the game, including Robert W. Mims, M. J. Olan, A. D. Taylor, J. A. Johnson, Robert Borders, Charles Padden, Bill Doolley, the proprietor, and George Alden. The charge of gambling was placed against all of them.

T. M. Broderick was also arrested and charged with assault to do great bodily harm to Louis J. Smith, South Omaha florist. The assault took place at Carpenter's livery barn. He is said to have struck Zedina with a pitchfork handle. The blow is thought by the police to have been aimed at the head of Zanida, but he warned it, apparently, by raising his hand. The bones of the hand were broken in several places. The quarrel is said to have arisen over a trade of horses.

Later in the evening another game was raided at Twenty-eighth and R streets. Lee Thompson stopped long enough to pick up the money and was captured. He had $12 when he arrived at the police station. The other men ran, leaving their money on the ground.

Magie City Wins.

The funeral of Mrs. William Kahn took place yesterday afternoon. The summer school at the Hawthorne building began Monday. The summer school at the Hawthorne building began Monday. The summer school at the Hawthorne building began Monday.

For Sale—Five-room cottage, owner leaving city; real estate; telephone 311. Notice to Dairy Men: We desire to let contracts for one year on all new grain, sold at once. Jetter Brewing Co., South Omaha. The local Young Men's Christian association base ball team has been elected champions at Twenty-fourth and Vinton yesterday.

The opium production of "As You Like It" has been postponed to a later date on account of the conflict of the date with another theatrical production. August Joseph Schmitt, the year-old son of August Schmitt, died of brain fever yesterday. The burial is at St. Mary's cemetery.

The Women's Christian Temperance union will give a picnic Tuesday afternoon at the residence of L. Banner's in Albion. The picnic will be at the Overland street and Railroad avenue at 4 p. m. Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Schindler will leave soon for Spokane, Wash., and other points on the coast for a month's stay. Their daughter Louise, who has been in Spokane during the winter, will probably return with them.

Dr. L. Wheeler will occupy the pulpit at the Methodist church this morning in place of Attorney Goss, who was to have spoken for the union. The speakers at the annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian association, which will be held at the new building, of which the directors and members of the Young Men's Christian association are so justly proud. The invitation was quite generally accepted and words were lacking to express the surprise of the people at the appearance of the new home.

After the guests had been given to understand they were to make themselves at home they proceeded to all parts of the building. Music was furnished by an orchestra composed of a band of flowers on the first floor. On the third floor refreshments were served and in the gymnasium twelve athletic young men went through various stunts to show how some of the new machinery was manipulated.

Under the gymnasium the swimming pool proved a fascination when the visitors sat in wooden and trying to figure out why the water was so blue. They did not know that the Young Men's Christian association has its own well, sunk to a depth of 1,300 feet, which furnishes all the water for the building and that the "blue" was not but pure water. Here again twelve athletic gave exhibitions in diving and swimming.

The Omaha Electric Light and Power company also has its offices in the Young Men's Christian association building, and in these large and spacious apartments the electric light company held open house and served coffee and light refreshments to all who cared to refresh the inner man. Exhibitions were made in cooking by electricity and also of the other appliances which are yearly being added to the usefulness of electricity.

HARTINGTON, Neb., June 15.—To the Editor of The Bee: Albert Horsley, alias Harry Orchard, alias the devil's own, has told his story. If he told the truth, Barabara (the pirate), Dr. Turpin and Jesse James are gentlemen hereafter. If he lied, Baron Munchausen will be compelled to surrender the belt as the champion liar of the universe. The pseudo-religious cant of this unchangeable sum of all villainies reminds one of what Tom Loker said to Dan Haley in Uncle Tom's Cabin: "I can stand most any talk of your'n but your plunk talk—that kills me right off." No one experienced in criminal prosecutions believes that the prosecution expects to hang Orchard or that he expects to hang. If the defendants are convicted, it is a race from the gallows between Haywood and Horsley. All are agreed that the man on trial cannot be convicted by the unsupported testimony of an accomplice, and it is time enough to pass upon the testimony when it is all in.

ENIX DRAWS THREE YEARS

Colored Man Goes to the Penitentiary for Killing Harry Lockman.

Three years in the penitentiary was the sentence imposed on Alce Enix, colored, for killing Harry Lockman in a free-for-all fight in an alley near Sixteenth and Burdett streets. W. W. Dodge, Enix's attorney, made a hard fight for a new trial but the evidence was insufficient to warrant the verdict of guilty, but Judge Troup overruled the motion. Enix, who had been indicted by a grand jury, was sentenced to the penitentiary.
