REAL ESTATES DEFEAT HOCTORS Hit the Ball Hard While Lyons Holds His Opponents Safe.

The fast Omaha Real Estate team sprang a whole surprise party on the Hoctors at Duffy's park Saturday afternoon, winning handly by the score of 6 to 3, and rather emphatically demonstrating the fact that they could hit the ball at the right time, making fourteen hits in all, four of which were successive in the sixth inning, and a like number in the ninth. The Hoctors, however, couold do nothing with Lyons, three hits, and those at the wrong time, being all they could amass in the first. easily won the Brooklyn derby at Grave- third and fourth innings, and not a hit during the following five innings. Lyons was somewhat wild in the first inning, isat one and a half miles. The track was suing three passes and forcing in two heavy and not to his liking, but he held runs. After this however, he pitched great the field safe all the way. Peter Pan broke ball. Edmonds and Winslow led in the in front and as the field passed the stand batting, getting three and four hits, respectively. Both Wooster and Weeks made brilliant catches. SERVICE ON COMPANY AGENTS

Court First Assuming Jurisdiction Expected to Hold It-Four

Lines Are Involved.

LINCOLN, June 16 .- (Special Telegram.) -LINCOLN, June 15 .- (Special Telegram.)-Anticipating the action of the railroads of Nebraska, Attorney General W. T. Thomp son, shortly before midnight last night, filed an injunction suit in the supreme court of the state asking that the Union Pacific Burlington, Missouri Pacific and Rock Island railroads be enjoined from violating the 2-cent fare law, the commodity rate law, the anti-free pass law, and from defying or ignoring orders of the State Railroad commission. It is believed the suit was instituted for the purpose of getting the laws mentioned before the state courts before the railroads seek to test them in the federal courts. Attorneys say the court that first gets jurisdiction will, in all probability, hold jurisdiction. If this holds good, instead of the laws of the last legislature being set aside by injunction in the federal court at the request of the railroads, the principal railroads in the state will find themselves enjoined from interfering with the enforcement of railroad legislation except in the state courts. The filing of the suit gives the supreme court of Nebraska jurisdiction over the subject matter. Sheriff Ress served summons on the local agents representing the roads that are made defendants. The 2-cent fare law is now in force. The maximum rate law goes into effect July & The attorney general will be able to go into court at any time, under the application made, and ask for either a temporary or permanent injunction.

Allegations of Petition.

The petition alleges that the railroads threaten to put into effect a rate higher than the 2-cent fare law unless restrained. that the maximum rate law which makes a reduction to 85 per cent of the rates charged January 1 on live stock, potatoes, grain, grain products, fruit, coal, lumber and building material will be violated and greater rates put into effect and is neglecting to prepare schedules based on the law; that the defendants have issued passes and will issue passes contrary to the terms of the anti-free pass law and give discriminatory rates; that the defendants have defied the orders of the railroad commission of the state and denied its authority to regulate interstate rates, both passenger and freight, and have concealed from the commission and from the public the condition of the defendant's business and refused to disclose the true condition. From doing these things enumerated, the attorney general asks that the roads be enjoined and restrained.

The suit is instituted in the name of the state of Nebraska, William T. Thompson, attorney general, and his assistants, W. B. Rose, Grant G. Martin, and the members of the state railroad commission, Hudson J. Winnette, J. A. Williams and Henry

"I have been somewhat entertained, amused and aggravated with the lurid story that has been sent out from Santa Monica, Cal., relative to the alleged puzsling problems confronting the National Board of Managers for the Home for Dis-Monica home," said Postmaster Henry E. Palmer, member of the board.

"The story, as I learn, is that on our recent annual inspection tour of the homes, and particularly of the Santa Monica home, the board was much perturbed over the evil results accruing to only pitch horse-shoes," and the tears came the old veterans from rapid-fire eating in in the poor girl's eyes. The truth is hard the forty institutions under the control of the board, in which more than 50,000 veterans three times a day swarm around the bounteously supplied tables and are required to absorb the meal in thirty minutes, but the veterans usually dispose of the provender in eight minutes, and hence emerge from the dining rooms wondering why they are losing their appetites, and that they are all suffering more or less from stomach troubles and all that sort of rot.

Barren of Truth. "The story is deficient of truth in several material particulars. In the first place, the board has under its control but nine soldiers' homes, and only 26,666 veterans are now accredited inmates of these homes, while in fact 5,000 or 6,000 of them are away on leave most of the time. KAUFMANN A GOOD WITNESS Testifies to Relations Between His Wife and the Dead Girl, Agnes Polreis.

FLANDREAU, S. D., June 15 .- (Special Telegram.)-The defense in the Kaufmann murder case scored yesterda to its entire satisfaction. The feature of the day was the appearance upon the witness stand of Moses Kaufmann, husband of the accused woman, who told a dramatic story of the amicable relations existing between Mrs. Kaufmann and Agnes Polreis and of the incidents immediately preceding the removal of the girl to the hospital, where she died. Mr. Kaufmann was subjected to a gruelling cross-examination, but he withstood the strain in a manner pleasing to the attorneys of the defense, and did not contradict himself upon any material or important matter. He stated that on June 8 of last year, Agnes Polreis, having died on June 1, he had a conversation with Peter Erickson

"Did Erickson say to you that the Parkston people were going to make trouble over Agnes' death, and did he say he was a poor man and could not afford to mix in the case, and state what is there in it for me, if his testimony favored the de-"I said." replied Mr. Kaufmann, "not

The witness stated he noticed the girl looked sick, having dark circles around her eyes and a swollen face, and asked her about it, she replying that it was an old country disease and was nothing. "Yes," he replied to a question, "I noticed a change in the girl's condition. I noticed she was losing flesh." Mr. Kaufmann related that on Saturday of the week before the girl died he again asked her what was the matter, that the girl replied she was sick, that she was not feeling well, but would be better in a day or two. Mr. Kaufmann stated he offered to get a physician for her but that she protested against this. He then told the girl she would have to go to the hospital. but she also protested again at that. He then stated she must go to her home, near Parkston, and he would send some one with her, that she replied that she never wanted to go to Parketon again, that this (the Kaufmann home) was her home. The witness stated that when he suggested that she go to the hospital he offered to have her wages continue during the time she
