TRIAL FOR NEW LAW

Compromise Reached in Two-Cent Litigation in Missouri.

VIRTUAL VICTORY FOR STATE

New Act Will Become Effective Wednesday for Three Months.

SUIT MAY BE RENEWED THEN

Railroads May Revive Case if Rate is Unremunerative.

FREIGHT CASE IN FEDERAL COURT

Nearly All Testimony is Already on File and It Will Be Adjudicated There—McPherson Suggested Compromise.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 17.—The Missouri 2-cent passenger fare set will go into effect at 6 a. m. on Wednesday next and be given a three months' trial. If, at the end of that time, it is found to be unremunerative its enforcement can then be sought in the courts by the railroads.

The state officials are temporarily enjoined from enforcing the maximum freight rate law and this case will be argued later in the federal court.

Judge Smith McPherson in the United States district court here this afternoon, after handing down an opinion maintaining the court's jurisdiction in the premises, ordered the promulgation of the above above facts, which had been agreed to by the attorneys for the state and the eighteen Missouri railroads involved.

The court in its decision had suggested that the 2-cent fare should be first given a practical trial before injunctive proceedings preventing its enforcement be considered.

HADLEY DISCUSSES CASE.

Herbert S. Hadley, attorney general, said this afternoon regarding the 2-cent bill:

"If at the end of three months the railroads want to litigate the reasonableness of these rates the question of the jurisdiction of the state and federal courts to determine the question will be fought out and the state has lost none of its rights or advantages."

"The injunction suits which I have brought against the companies in the passenger rate in the state court will stand. As the reasonableness of the freight rate law can be more speedily heard and determined by the federal court on account of the fact that practically all the testimony necessary to the determination has been already taken there, it will be heard in the better position to win the case under the act of 1907 than it was under the law of 1906. I feel that the order made is both a moral and a substantial victory for the state."

THE COURT'S OPINION.

Judge McPherson said in part:

"That the fixing of rates by the legislature is precluded by the constitution of this state is a legislative act, all agree. But that such rates must be reasonably remunerative, cannot be denied. The state railroads are entitled to cost and a reasonable profit, and no fair-minded man disputes it. How to determine the cost and the reasonable profit is a most difficult problem. But it must be ascertained and this ascertainment can only be made by the courts and determined only by the courts and ultimately by the supreme court of the state. It cannot be determined by the use of words or phrases can take that from the courts to the town meeting. It cannot be determined by the use of words or phrases can take that from the courts to the town meeting. It cannot be determined by the use of words or phrases can take that from the courts to the town meeting.

NOT FINAL DECISION.

It is urged that the plaintiffs' ability that because penalties are fixed to the statutes of 1907 that the original courts of the state only take jurisdiction of the case.

The interesting features of Monday morning's meeting were the addresses by E. C. Knapp, of the Hartford, Connecticut School of Pedagogy as relative to Sunday schools exclusively, the address of the Hon. J. W. Prudden, of the University of Wisconsin, and the address of Rev. J. E. Paucher, Rev. L. O. Baird, Rev. J. F. Harker, Rev. E. R. Currie, Rev. J. E. Hummer, Rev. Andrew McBride and Rev. S. D. Dutcher.

The date of Orchard's trial will not be made until the cases against Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone are also disposed of.
