DUN'S REVIEW OF TRADE

Weather Conditions Seasonable First Time for Several Months.

NEWS GENERALLY ENCOURAGING

Confidence Grows with Crops and Large Orders for Winter Goods Are Coming Forward.

NEW YORK, June 21.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say: Weather conditions throughout the country are reported as seasonable for the first time in several months and the response is immediate in all branches of business, while crop prospects have improved greatly. With scarcely an exception the week's news is encouraging, especially from the west. Confidence grows with the crops, and orders come forward to the leading centers for large fall and winter shipments. Most manufacturers are fully occupied on old contracts and there is little prospect of idle machinery.

of pig iron, partly because consumers have provided for requirements well into the future, and also because of large contracts already placed. It is also about time for inventories. Some building operations have been deferred by monetary or crop uncertainty, but a large tonnage of shapes is offered each week, particularly in connection with railway and bridge work. Less activity is reported in the primary market for cotton goods, but there is no evidence of weakness. Several quotations are higher, print cloths ruling close to 5 cents. After the recent unprecedented activity some diminution in demand is natural and wholesome. Export trade is light. Many lines of fancy wools have been opened, although buyers are not prepared to operate freely as yet. Offerings of samples has not weakened the tone, however, prices ruling about the same as last year. A weaker tone is noted in the hide market, the best support being given packer varieties, but country and foreign skins are lower. Quotations are somewhat confusing owing to the large stocks of almost every grade. Demand for leather does not increase, and none is expected until after the holidays. Some eastern wholesalers have placed large contracts with New England shoe manufacturers, but as a rule the trade is still light, buyers operating cautiously. Returning salesmen report that jobbers carry small stocks and a good autumn trade is expected, although orders thus far fall behind last year.

STEP TOWARD NEW BUILDING

County Board Selects John Latenser as Court House Architect.

BRUNING AND TRAINER OPPOSE

Though Declaring in Favor of New Structure, They Fight Plan of Procedure Proposed by Other Members.

The first decisive step towards a new court house was taken yesterday afternoon when the county board by a vote of 8 to 2 passed a resolution authorizing the employment of John Latenser as architect to prepare preliminary plans for the proposed structure. The action was taken under suspension of the rules and over the protests of Bruning and Trainer, who asked that action be delayed a week. Both declared they were not opposed to the building of a new court house, but they said they wanted the preliminary plans adopted by competition among all architects who cared to contest.

the choice of St. Louis as the next meeting place were the features of the conclusion of the annual convention of the National Retail Hardware Association today. Nathan Roberts of Omaha was elected chairman of the executive committee.

HYMENEAL

Smith-Harding. HUMBOLDT, June 21.—(Special.)—A quiet wedding ceremony took place at the home of Chancellor W. P. Aylesworth at Bethany, Neb., the contracting parties being Miss Lulu May Harding of this city and Mr. Edwin E. Smith of Talmage. No one was present at the wedding except a few immediate relatives and friends, and the pair left at once for a visit with relatives at Talmage and Humboldt, after which they expect to go to El Monte, Cal., to make their home. At the latter place Mr. Smith has been assigned to the pastorate of the Christian church, having recently graduated from the theological department of Colner. The bride is also a graduate of that institution and has spent some time in teaching school.

Browning-Jastech

Lewis Browning and Miss Elfrida Jastech were married at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Garver, 1717 California street, Thursday at 2 p. m. by Rev. Charles W. Savidge. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. John W. Shaw of Clay Center, Neb., and Mr. Browning will begin house-keeping at once in their new home, 416 North Twenty-fifth street.

May Delve in Ruins

WASHINGTON, June 21.—About twenty institutions, universities and museums specifically named and "any other reputable institution or association" in the United States beginning with the Smithsonian institute at Washington, have been granted general permission to conduct such archeological researches in the United States as are contemplated by the act of congress of June 18, 1897, for the preservation of American antiquities, subject to such special regulations as may be prescribed by the secretary of the interior and secretary of agriculture. This order supercedes rules previously issued under this act because of serious objections to those rules by the educational and scientific institutions of the country.

No Increase in Tin Mills

CHICAGO, June 21.—There will be no advance in wages in the sheet and tin mills of the country this year and no strike will follow the refusal of the manufacturers to concede the increase of from 5 to 10 per cent demanded at the annual convention of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, which was held here last night. Negotiations for the adoption of this scale have been carried on since the first of the month, but the representatives of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and the company, and as a result of the conference last year's scale will again obtain. After discussing the matter thoroughly President C. W. Bray of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company informed the workers' committee that the present condition of the tin market would not justify an advance, and if it was insisted upon the plants would close down to be operated by nonunion men. The decision "because of the year's scale" affected all the sheet and tin workers in the country, about 15,000 men, as the other manufacturers accept whatever settlement is made at this conference.

RUSSIA UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Imperial Ukase Issued Giving Special Powers to Governors.

AVOIDING AGRARIAN DISORDERS

Close Pursuit of Railroad Employees Suspected of Planning Strikes—Wholesale Arrests Are Being Made.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 21.—An imperial ukase has been issued to the governors of the provinces of Archangel, Novgorod, Olonez, Pskov, Smolensk, Tver and Yaroslavl, according to their special powers, empowering them to suspend newspapers, disperse meetings, banish undesirable persons and take other measures for the maintenance of public security by administrative process without having resort to the courts, and to inflict punishment up to three months' imprisonment and 500 fine. These provinces include practically the entire area of Russia where some form of social democracy, social revolutionists and members of the group of toll to issue a joint manifesto to the nation urging the people not to accept the "aristocratic regime contemplated by the new election law," but to defend the idea of popular representation by force. The decision to issue the joint proclamation was taken during the night and the text is now being drafted. The national socialists, or social revolutionists, have decided to issue a separate proclamation on similar lines. The delegates of the railroad organizations have for several days been vainly endeavoring to hold a conference in St. Petersburg. The police are closely on their trail and have made wholesale arrests and house searches among railroad officials and employees. Several prominent leaders and many of the smaller fry have been captured. The railroad men contemplated declaring a general strike, but they are awaiting a more favorable opportunity.

STATE CLOSES CASE

Orchard's signature on the letter replying to the insurance company, was not examined as to the character of Orchard, or the signatures of Wolf and "P. Bone" on the back of the telegraphic money orders. Kingsley said that in his opinion orders were written by one and the same person. He was not cross-examined. Jim Seahorn, a colored horse dealer of Denver, the next witness, testified to the sale of a horse and buggy to Hayward in Denver.

Orchard had testified as to the sale of the team to Hayward. He said that the outfit was needed to get about in white in their work in connection with their various undertakings. Seahorn said that Orchard came to him and with him he drove to Pettibone's place of business. Pettibone came out and together they drove to the place he described as the location of the headquarters of the Western Federation of Miners. "What happened then?" asked Mr. Hawley. Orchard went upstairs and came down with another man. "Yes, what next?" "The other man got in the buggy and they said they would be back soon and drove off together." "Do you know this other man?" "Yes, sir, I have seen him." "Would you know him now?" "Yes, sir." "Look around and say if you can see him here."

Points Out Haywood

The negro looked over the defense side and pointed a finger at Haywood. "Yes, sir, that's the man," he said. There was a pause and a silence, broken only by a stir among the spectators. It was the first direct connection of Haywood with Orchard and a strong corroboration of the Orchard story. "How much did you get for the outfit?" "One hundred and ten dollars." "Who paid you?" "Mr. Orchard." "You just got the money and gave Orchard a bill of sale?" "No, sir; the bill of sale was made to Mr. Pettibone." He described the horse as a little black mare and the vehicle as a top buggy. Seahorn was only briefly cross-examined. He said he met Orchard at the penitentiary after coming to Boise. He said he was summoned by Pinkerton detectives and received his fare and expenses from them in advance. Seahorn proved to be the last witness for the state. Senator Borah stated that with the exception of proving the sending of money order for $75 by the Western Union from Hayward in Denver to Steve Adams in Ogden, Utah, in 1903, the state's case was closed.

Mr. Richardson, for the defense, said that they would agree that the state could file the telegrams as soon as they were received. Senator Borah said that the telegrams would be in Boise by this evening. "With this exception, then, your honor," said Senator Borah, "the state is ready to close its case." There was some wrangling over the reading of a long opinion delivered in the Colorado courts and which the defense said should be read, as it had been offered as evidence for the state. Judge Wood looked over the decision and denied the motion that it be read to the jury. This closed the state's case and at 10:35 the court adjourned until 1:30, when the defense will move that the court instruct the jury to render a verdict of not guilty.

WILL REFUTE ORCHARD'S STORY

Mining engineer Bradley claims no bomb exploded. SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—It was announced this morning that Frederick W. Bradley, a mining engineer of this city, would appear this morning before County Clerk Mulcrevy, a special commissioner appointed by the state of Idaho to take his testimony in regard to the explosion of a bomb on November 11, 1904, which blew him into the street and which Harry Orchard has testified in the trial now going on at Boise, that he placed at Bradley's door with the intention of killing him. Bradley has already sworn, it is claimed, in an affidavit on October 15 of last year, that there had been no bomb in this case, but that he knew and was satisfied, it was an explosion of gas, a statement reiterated under oath on February 6 of this year. Another witness who will testify before the commissioner in this case is Frank Cummings, who had come out of an adjoining flat shortly before Bradley was blown up and had claimed he saw no bomb, where Orchard says he put the explosive. George A. Ritter and W. J. Webster are expected to testify that Orchard did not buy dynamite from the Judson Powder company as he says he did.

GRIER CASE IS NEAR CLOSE

Evidence Against Former Police Court Clerk is Before Jury. The state completed its evidence in the Lee Grier case before Judge Troup Friday afternoon and the case went over until Monday morning. At the afternoon session City Clerk Dan Butler was on the stand testifying as to records in his possession. The defense has announced it has an argument it will be brief and arguments to the jury will begin probably at the forenoon session Monday. At the resumption of the hearing of the case Friday morning, Grier's bondsmen delivered him into custody and he was placed in charge of a deputy sheriff. The taking of testimony began with the examination of Fred H. Cosgrove, deputy city comptroller, who told of the examination of the records in order to determine the amount the defendant had failed to account for.
