GRASS IN SEWERS NUISANCE

Practice Will Be Stopped, Says the City Engineer.

POLICE POWER FOR INSPECTORS

Plan Now in Mind Since There Are Not Enough Patrolmen to Deal with the Problem.

Persons cutting grass on their lawns and throwing the cuttings in gutters are causing the engineer's department considerable trouble. In some cases an effort has apparently been made to put the grass and trimmings from trees in the sewers. That some of these efforts have been successful is shown in a number of congested sewers and considerable expense has been incurred in clearing them of obstruction. Speaking of the matter Engineer Rosewater said:

"Some arrests will be made if we can find the guilty parties, for it is impossible to keep sewers at work when they are filled with green grass, which will neither float down the sewers nor let other matter pass. This grass should be treated as garbage if it cannot be fed to animals and the same is true of trimmings from bushes and trees.

"Omaha has but one policeman on duty to every five miles of paved streets and it is practically impossible for the police force to protect the sewers from persons who seem to have no idea of what they are expected to do. It may be necessary for the city to give policemen's power to inspectors of the street department, so that the ordinances can be enforced. Such power exists in the charter and this may be the only means by which we can keep the sewers open during the grass cutting season.

"Another thing which should receive the attention of property owners is the manner in which contractors place building material in the street. In practically every case sand, bricks and stone are placed against the curb, thus filling the gutter. If the material cannot be placed near the center of the street property owners should insist that it be placed on a platform running from the curb line, so that the gutters would be free in case of storm."

PROGRAM FOR POSTMASTERS

Senator Dolliver and Washington Officials Will Attend Convention in Omaha.

The fifth annual meeting of the Nebraska Association of Postmasters will be held in Omaha June 25-26. All the meetings will be held in the Creighton College of the center of the street property owners should insist that it be placed on a platform running from the curb line, so that the gutters would be free in case of storm."

The postmaster general's department will be represented by T. E. Bushnell, assistant superintendent of the salary and allowance division; George L. Van Dyke, field superintendent, first assistant postmaster general's office, and R. M. Fulton, postoffice inspector, in charge at St. Louis.

Other prominent men expected to be at the convention will be Senator J. P. Dolliver of Iowa and J. L. Watson, editor of the Burlington Hawkeye, and the veteran postmaster of that city, and a number of the noted public men of Nebraska.

On the evening of June 25 the Ak-Sar-

Den will entertain the visiting postmasters at the Den at a special meeting. On the afternoon of June 26, the Omaha Commercial club will take the visitors on an automobile drive through Omaha and South Omaha.

The business meetings of the convention will convene at 10:30 a. m. each day.

HIRAM CHASE GETS OFFICE

Indian Declared Legal Choice of Voters for County Attorney of Thurston.

Judge Sutton has rendered a decision in contest case over the county attorneyship of Thurston county in which he upholds the title of Hiram Chase to the office. A written decision has been sent to Thurston county to be filed in the case.

The contest grew out of a close vote, by which Chase on the face of the returns was elected by six majority. His competitor, Waldo E. Whitcomb, protested against the vote of Omaha precinct being counted because the voting place was changed illegally. As Chase received nineteen majority in this precinct, its rejection would mean a majority for Whitcomb of thirteen votes.

Judge Sutton held that Whitcomb as county attorney had consented to the change in polling place and was therefore estopped from taking advantage of it in the contest.

Chase, the successful contestant, is an Indian and for this reason and because of the fact the successful contestant will prosecute L. R. Higgins, the Cripple murderer, more than ordinary interest attaches to the case.

Because of his relations with the parties Judge Graves asked Judge Sutton to hear the case.

CRUSHED AT LAST BY THE FOE

Valiant Joe Anderson Vanquished After Fierce Encounter by Horde of Pigmies.

Joe Anderson saw a pile of oxbow stones at Fourteenth and Farnam streets early Friday morning. Anderson was somewhat under the influence of liquor and fancied he was a giant and that the pedestrians were pigmies trying to bind his hand and feet. With prodigious valor, he stationed himself against the pile of stones as steadily as he could and bared his famed enemies' advance. He hurled the big stones right and left and was keeping his enemies at a good distance when two blue-coated pigmies crept up behind and made him a prisoner.

THOMAS F. BARRY, JUROR, DIES

Member of Panel in Service Carried Away with Heart Disease.

Thomas F. Barry, a member of the jury that was hearing the suit of Peter E. Olson against the Omaha Electric Light and Power company before Judge Estelle, died very suddenly at 3 o'clock Friday morning of heart failure. His death came almost without warning. The death of the juror did not delay the progress of the case, however, as it was agreed by the attorneys to continue with eleven men in the box.

About a month ago Mr. Barry complained of feeling ill, but he apparently had entirely recovered. Thursday night he attended an entertainment and on the way home said he felt a pain in his side, but the members of the family did not think much of it. Shortly before 3 o'clock Mrs. Barry was awakened and found her husband ill. He appeared to grow better for a short time and then suddenly expired.

He was one of the earliest settlers in Omaha, coming here in 1855, when he was four years old. For a long time he was a locomotive engineer on the Union Pacific, but recently has been on an engine in the stock yards at South Omaha. He leaves a widow and five children. The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from his home at 2012 North Twenty-first street and Sacred Heart church and interment will be at St. Mary's cemetery.

At a previous trial of the case in which Mr. Barry was sitting Juror Russell became so sick he was unable to attend the trial and the jury was dismissed.

NOW SHEP WEARS A MUZZLE

Window Shutter Proves No Substitute for Mayor's Gas—Proclamation Goes Into Effect.

The mayor's dog muzzling ordinance is in force—in places. Few dogs affect the muzzle, but a large number will be "at home" to their friends who are muzzled until such time as styles in dog headgear shall change.

Not all of the dogs like this practical isolation from the scenes of their former activities. Numerous are the complaints and violent is the objection made in some instances. On North Twenty-fifth street there is a dog named and admired by all of the people who reside in that part of the city. The dog's owner is law-abiding and believes in an unmuzzled dog as earnestly as he believes in an unmuzzled press. He decided to tie the dog in the yard for the period covered by the proclamation. A window shutter on the shady side of the house offered the required hitching place and the owner started to work in full confidence that "Shep" was safe from the vigilant policeman and his revolver.

"Shep's" usual visiting hour is about 3 o'clock, and at that time he started to call on Blanche, Tray and Curley, who were always ready for a frolic. "Shep" started, then he stopped, looked at the rope and started again. That rope was something strange, but the highland blood of a thousand collie ancestors recognized a difficulty as something to be overcome and dead wood was no competitor for living dog, so in a few minutes the window shutter decided it better to accompany the dog than to hold him.

The complaint made by the shutter when it yielded to the dog's entreaties attracted the attention of the housewife and she started after the fleeing dog. "Shep" always obeys, and when called started home. He cared nothing for his traveling companion and when he found the shutter was resting on the street car tracks. A car wanted to go that way just at that time, and the appearance of the shutter indicates that the car had its way. "Shep" will wear a muzzle.

UNIONS NOT FOR SCHMITZ

Organized Labor Did Not Support Him Last Time, Says Miss Helen Swett.

"San Francisco is pleased to see Mayor Schmitz occupying his present position," said Miss Helen Swett, secretary of the rehabilitation committee of San Francisco. Miss Swett is returning from the Conference of Charities and Corrections held at Minneapolis and stopped in Omaha to examine the workings of the association here and the method of juvenile work.

"Contrary to some ideas," she continued, "Mayor Schmitz was not elected the last time by the labor unions as he was twice before, but his election was secured by short sighted 'commercial interests' which hoped to profit by his administration. No one rejoices more than the members of the labor unions at the fight against graft, and it is earnestly believed the prosecution will reach the bribe-giver as well as the bribe taker, for it was the bribe-giver who is responsible for the present condition after all."

"San Francisco is rapidly recovering from the effects of the earthquake and the working classes will be better off than before the disaster. The rehabilitation committee is being conducted somewhat along the lines of your Associated Charities, rendering aid where possible to persons who de-stire to start anew. We have passed upon about 25,000 applications for relief and have put a large part of the applicants in a position to be self-supporting.

"The Chinese quarter of the town is being rapidly rebuilt, just as picturesque, but far more sanitary, than the old one. The day I left it was reported 40,000 Chinese had returned from Oakland and other towns to which they fled at the time of the earthquake. The new houses in Chinatown are of brick and the danger from fire will be much less than heretofore.

"The Latin quarter is now entirely rebuilt. Being outside of the fire limits, the houses are frame and it is almost impossible to find evidences of the fire, which destroyed the place. The Italians were comparatively rich and were first to recover from the disaster.

"A new house is completed in San Francisco every forty minutes. That shows how the town is growing. The town still needs carpenters and bricklayers. Common labor is not in such demand, but there is work for all who are there."

Jerre Rusk at a Campaign.

When the late Jerre Rusk was governor of Wisconsin he attended a clambake in New Jersey, and of course had to make a speech. He began by saying that he had greatly enjoyed their low-necked clams. A long-faced old man across the table scowled and said in a stage whisper, "Little necks are low necks." Governor Rusk paid no attention to him, but after dinner the long-faced man followed him out of the hall. "You don't have many clams in Wisconsin, I reckon," said he. "Well," said Jerre, "we have some, but it's a good way to water, and in driving them across the country, their feet get sore and they don't thrive very well." "Why, man alive," said he, "clams haven't any feet!" Soon after that he buttonholed one of Rusk's friends. "Is that fellow governor of Wisconsin?" he demanded. The man addressed replied in the affirmative. "Well," said he, "I guess he may be a smart enough man for Wisconsin, but he's a good deal of a fool at the clambake."

A Cough Medicine

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a regular cough medicine, a strong medicine, a doctor's medicine. Good for dry coughs, hard coughs, desperate coughs. If your doctor fully endorses it for your case, then take it. If not, then don't take it. Never go contrary to his advice.
