

HOME NOTES AND SOCIAL GOSSIP

SERMON TO CLAN GORDON

Rev. A. S. C. Clarke Preaches to Brother Members.

ATTEND LOWE AVENUE IN BODY

Jennie Kennedy, Little Daughter of the Chief, Sings "My Ain Country" in Affecting Manner.

Services at Lowe Avenue Presbyterian church Sunday were especially designed for Clan Gordon, Order of Scottish Clans, of which the pastor, Rev. A. S. C. Clarke, is a member and who was asked to preach the annual sermon for the clan.

One of the interesting features of the service was a song by Jennie Kennedy, the seven-year-old daughter of Chief Kennedy of the clan, who sang "My Ain Country" in a manner to bring tears to the eyes of many of the auditors. The little lassie has a clear treble and an enunciation which is remarkable.

"Later I learned the explanation of her strange conduct. She had failed to find the chief duty of a Persian wife. She was childless and her husband had determined to take another wife."

"The announcement had been made to her only that morning and she knew that her rival was already chosen and only waiting for the consent of her husband's father. Even not knowing the sad story, she longed to say a word of comfort to her; but how could I in that throng, with the guardians of the harem watching?"

"Persian treatment of women in harems. On a visit to the Princess Mah-Fulan I noticed that she was lame. Later I inquired as to the cause. I was told that some years before she had asked her husband's permission to attend the marriage of a friend of her childhood."

"He refused it, but she thought she could go surreptitiously and her absence from the harem for a few hours would not be noticed. Unhappily her husband made an unexpected visit to the harem and discovered her absence. On her return there was a terrific scene, which her husband ended by firing a pistol at her."

"It was hours before the eunuchs and women ventured into the princess's room. They found her insensible. The bullet had broken her hip bone. She recovered, but her leg was shortened."

"I thought these Persian women's lot was most tragic. But as I tried to console with some of them in their gilded cages the answer was always one of consolation for me. One of them put it this way: 'You poor European sisters, how pitiful you that you have to be in this place day long. How much happier we are in Persia since we see them only a little while.'"

PACKING THE PICNIC LUNCH

Suggestions for Ready Prepared and Easily Carried Ingredients for Basket.

In these advanced days of prepared foods the picnic hamper is a veritable joy to the gourmet who combines a love of time spent lazily out of doors with a keen appreciation of delicious provisions with which to satisfy the appetite stimulated by the trip to reach the desired spot and increased by the open air activities attendant upon getting all things ready for the picnic. Half roast chickens, for example, boned chicken and tongue are all perfectly prepared, and there are also all manner of delicacies, such as sausage and other game-wild duck, pheasant, the well known de-foie-gras and all kinds of potted meats, with which the sandwiches can be spread just before eating if preferred. For this trifled chicken and ham-riquet make a very nice change from the ordinary.

Small, square willow baskets of fresh fish, each wrapped separately and in neat little rows, are tempting for a contribution to the sweets, as are the apricot wafers, stuffed dates and Weibaden stuffed prunes. "With the cheeses, of which the Canadian club in small jars, are most desirable to carry, there is a very satisfactory Brownsville wafer, with just a few grains of crystallized salt on their glazed brown top which makes the cheese taste better than usual."

For those who do not care for the picturesque trouble of having bottles there is a self-heating canned food, which is made in double can form, the inner one containing the food hermetically sealed, the heating material being all in the outer can. The addition of a little cold water in the outer can, creates an intense heat, without smoke or odor, and in five or six minutes the soup, pudding or whatever food has been brought in this form is steaming hot and ready to eat. The picnic has become an important factor in the social world in these days of motor and in fact an adjunct to almost every run and road motor. The finding of pleasant places and exploration being the enthusiastic ambition. A menu suggested for a luncheon that is substantial, but not too heavy, includes some home-made bouillon which may be brought in the Thermos bottle that every luncheon basket should have, bottles keeping fluids for hours at the same temperature. Sandwiches of chopped meats, or chopped peppers combined with lettuce and mayonnaise brought in bread of thinnest cutting; caviare, grated cheese and chopped meats and bread, some sandwiches of a game pate, and others of sliced tongue. With these one can have cold chicken, salad and some cold Virginia ham and a desert of cut up fruits with Jamaica rum and sugar which can be made in a few moments, or else brought in glass jars.

Underneath and guilme are important and almost inevitable features of the fashionable frock and, unfortunately, are details concerning which the average dress maker displays absolutely no imagination. The French makers introduce delightfully original touches upon the transparent or semi-transparent guilmes which make this type of frock so becoming. Cleverly manipulated shirtings, shirtings, shirtings set lace, touches of hand embroidery in color or gold or silver upon the lace of the guilme, minute bows set down the guilme front, jaunty little cravat effects—these are used to relieve the plainness of the guilme and to give the joining line of the collar. A bit of hand embroidery sketched reinforcing the design of lace expended upon it, and this is particularly true of the flat lace, which in its fine qualities is perhaps the most popular lace of the season.

Ready-made riding clothes are now offered in great variety and excellent quality, and many women buy these inexpensive habits for summer wear even though they may prefer a made-to-order habit for park use. The ready-made habits are furnished in paddock, semi-fitting and Norfolk styles and in both cross-saddle and side-saddle skirts of whipcord, chevot, khaki and linen for summer wear with skirt wais.

Great sale of the "Opera Waists." Branded assures the entire surplus stock of the celebrated "Opera Waists," the highest-gradeingerie waists made. This will be by far the greatest waist sale ever held in the west and will take place Wednesday, June 26. Do not fail to attend.

Rev. A. S. C. Clarke, of the First Presbyterian church, Sunday morning, June 24, at Lowe Avenue Presbyterian church, to a large number of members of the clan. The service was especially designed for the clan, and was held in a large hall on Lowe Avenue. The pastor, Rev. A. S. C. Clarke, is a member of the clan, and was asked to preach the annual sermon for the clan. One of the interesting features of the service was a song by Jennie Kennedy, the seven-year-old daughter of Chief Kennedy of the clan, who sang "My Ain Country" in a manner to bring tears to the eyes of many of the auditors.

The regular monthly dinner of the McKinley club will be given at the Chesapeake on Monday evening, July 1. President Ziegler announces that it is to be something in the nature of a candidate's dinner. He has invited all candidates for the office of mayor and councilmen to attend. He has also invited the Nebraska senators, Messrs. Burkett and Brown, and Governor Sheldon, whom he hopes will be present. Congressman Pollard has already accepted an invitation and General Manderson has signified his intention of attending. Many of the known aspirants for local office have also signified their intention of attending.

If you have anything to trade advertise in the For Exchange columns of The Bee Want Ads page.

Next McKinley Club Dinner. Evening for the Candidates is Arranged by President Ziegler.

The regular monthly dinner of the McKinley club will be given at the Chesapeake on Monday evening, July 1. President Ziegler announces that it is to be something in the nature of a candidate's dinner. He has invited all candidates for the office of mayor and councilmen to attend. He has also invited the Nebraska senators, Messrs. Burkett and Brown, and Governor Sheldon, whom he hopes will be present. Congressman Pollard has already accepted an invitation and General Manderson has signified his intention of attending. Many of the known aspirants for local office have also signified their intention of attending.

Next McKinley Club Dinner. Evening for the Candidates is Arranged by President Ziegler.

Next McKinley Club Dinner. Evening for the Candidates is Arranged by President Ziegler.

Next McKinley Club Dinner. Evening for the Candidates is Arranged by President Ziegler.

Next McKinley Club Dinner. Evening for the Candidates is Arranged by President Ziegler.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Frank G. Serwick is Seriously Injured in a Runaway—Stolen Property Recovered.

Frank B. Serwick, 1509 North Twenty-seventh street, was seriously injured in a runaway accident early Sunday morning near the West L street viaduct. He was driving a rather skittish team and had in the buggy his wife and children. The team took fright at a passing ice wagon and ran away. He hung on to the best he could and at the same time tried to dispose of his family in safety. Soon the vehicle was upset and he with the rest was thrown out. None of the others were seriously injured, but he was unfortunate enough to fracture his leg. The team demolished the rig. Serwick was taken home in the ambulance. There he was treated for his injury and will probably recover without mishap. He is a clerk in the office of the Union Stock yards.

Stolen Goods Recovered. Captain P. H. Shields has been successful in unraveling a very tangled net and wrapping the evidence around two negroes who were arrested last night. It now appears that a penitentiary term is their assured fate. They are Charles Ellis and J. F. Butcher. They are suspected of having entered the store of C. E. Scair and taking about $150 worth of plunder. The two men were arrested in connection with the stolen property with the exception of three bracelets. One of these has been traced to Salt Lake City. The other articles have been traced and picked up in a score of places from South Omaha to Council Bluffs. All of these articles had been sold by the two men who are under arrest in the city jail. They will be given a preliminary hearing today. It is believed that they will waive preliminary hearing and go to once to the district court.

Magic City Gossip. Glynn Transfer Co. Tel. No. Omaha 394. The city council will meet tonight in regular session. Mr. and Mrs. John Harter, 3377 Q street, report the birth of a son. Mrs. Harter expects to leave for the Pacific coast about July 1.

Detective Kleisler has changed his residence from 1325 North 40th to 1325 North 40th. Henry Ryan and James Parks are spending a short visit in Chicago.

Mrs. W. J. McLaughlin is now able to be out after three weeks of illness. A. J. Zerbe of Bigelow, Kan., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Roberts.

Jetter's Gold Top Beer delivered to all parts of the city. Telephone No. 4. Mrs. J. L. Duff is reported very low. No hope is entertained for her recovery. Mr. J. L. Duff is reported very low. No hope is entertained for her recovery. Mr. J. L. Duff is reported very low. No hope is entertained for her recovery.

The Young Men's Christian association fund has reached $500 during the first week of the campaign. For sale, 5-room cottage, owner leaving, will sell at sacrifice, 128 North 40th, South Omaha, telephone 371.

John Nos has recently returned from a trip to his old home in Ohio. His youngest daughter is to remain in Ohio during the summer.

E. Adkins, P. J. Martin, Dan Hinchee, Miles E. Welch and Tom Burkhart left yesterday on a fishing trip to Alexandria, Minn. They will be gone two weeks.

Beginning Tuesday the state convention of Colored Women's clubs will meet at Allen chapel, Twenty-fifth and B streets. There will be three sessions. The national president, Miss Josephine Yates, the national president, will speak at Workmen temple.

The Ladies' auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian association is making great efforts to raise interest in the concert at the high school auditorium Tuesday evening. The object of the movement is to assist in the building of the new school building for the Young Men's Christian association.

FIGHT ON HOUSE OF LORDS. Battle to Eliminate it as Lawmaking Factor Begins in London This Week.

LONDON, June 24.—The consideration of the resolution which Premier Campbell-Bannerman will move in the House of Commons tomorrow for the clipping of the wings of the House of Lords begins what will likely develop one of the greatest political issues in the history of Great Britain. The premier calls the resolution "the preface to the volume." It is as follows:

"That in order to give effect to the will of the people as expressed by their elected representatives, it is necessary that the House should be so restricted by law as to secure that within the limits of a single Parliament the final decision of the House of Commons shall prevail."

The government proposes only to adopt this resolution this session. It had expected to carry the Irish council bills in the commons and have the lords reject it, when it would have been provided with a specific grievance, which would have paved the way for a bill carrying into effect the curtailment of the power of the House of Lords.

It is foreseen, however, that the lords probably will veto some popular measure next session. Then the government will try to arouse public opinion to support its program so strongly that the House of Lords will be forced to accept some measure of reform.

"Membership is open to all, from 15 years of age to 12. The building is a grand one, a delight to visit; a monument of patience and effort."

FOUNDER OF BARACA MOVEMENT. Marshall A. Hudson Speaks at First Congressional Church.

Marshall A. Hudson of Syracuse, N. Y., founder of the Baraca and Philthea Bible class movement and international president thereof, spoke Sunday evening at the First Congressional church upon the purposes and origin of the movement. Judge Howard Kennedy presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker.

Mr. Hudson is on his return from the Nebraska where he spent last winter at a convention at Hastings, where he was one of the leading speakers. He said: "The Baraca movement grew out of a proposition of how to improve the existing organization and purpose of the Bible class. There was no theory back of the matter for I had not been educated on theological lines and realized that the successful Bible class should be conducted along business lines. The motto of the Baraca movement is 'We do things through Christ' and 'Young men at work for young men.' In standing for the Bible and for the Bible school." This is the motto of the 20,000 members of the Baraca and Philthea Bible organizations. The Philthea Bible class was organized in London in 1884.

"We are organized in every state in the union and throughout all the world. I have a vision of possibilities of what can be done for the 16,000 young men here in Omaha who are being led astray by the church and Sunday school. The secret of the Baraca idea is putting young men to work."

Special music was rendered during the services and a pleasing feature was the presence of the Hammond Park Methodist Episcopal church Baraca class numbering twenty or twenty-five members, who sang the closing Baraca hymn.

Great sale of the "Opera Waists." Branded assures the entire surplus stock of the celebrated "Opera Waists," the highest-gradeingerie waists made. This will be by far the greatest waist sale ever held in the west and will take place Wednesday, June 26. Do not fail to attend.

Great sale of the "Opera Waists." Branded assures the entire surplus stock of the celebrated "Opera Waists," the highest-gradeingerie waists made. This will be by far the greatest waist sale ever held in the west and will take place Wednesday, June 26. Do not fail to attend.

Great sale of the "Opera Waists." Branded assures the entire surplus stock of the celebrated "Opera Waists," the highest-gradeingerie waists made. This will be by far the greatest waist sale ever held in the west and will take place Wednesday, June 26. Do not fail to attend.

NOTES ON OMAHA SOCIETY

Miss Hoel Entertains at Luncheon for Mrs. George Charters

CLUBS WELL ATTENDED SUNDAY

Fashionable Hostess Makes Complaint of Inconsiderate Treatment by Guests Who Ignore Invitations or Fail to Be Punctual.

At her drawing room closed and things removed for the summer and the time for relaxation at hand, the fashionable hostess at least has time for reflection upon the strenuous season just past and incidentally, she is saying some very uncompromising things about some other women, who constitute a substantial proportion of the local "four hundred." So general is this complaint and so flagrant the grievances that several hostesses, who had contributed conspicuously to the brilliant winter season, are promising themselves and others that they will "do a good long while." Wherever a half dozen women gather together the subject is sure to come up and there is always the same indignant complaint of unpardonable discourtesy and lack of consideration for a hostess.

An invitation seems to entail no obligation whatever nowadays according to those disgraced ones and even the formal "R. S. V. P." of "Please Reply" often fail to bring any response. An even more exasperating breach, however, and one apparently prevalent it seems, has been that of accepting an invitation to luncheon or bridge, and then failing to materialize for from one-half to three-quarters of an hour after the appointed hour and sometimes failing to appear at all. Naturally such carelessness has been counted something more than discourtesy. The hostess of a recent house musical, one of the largest and smartest things of the spring, complains that out of a guest list of about 30, a party had failed to reply one way or the other by the morning of the day for the entertainment, forcing her to use the telephone for several hours in order to estimate something of the number for which she would have to prepare. On another occasion, a bridge party given for a popular visiting girl, for which the cards read "2 o'clock," it was nearer 3 o'clock before a sufficient number had arrived to make it possible to begin the game. It is a common thing for a guest to go undisciplined at large luncheons, and regarding this, one hostess remarked recently with a tight little smile: "I make it a practice nowadays when I get no response, to place the name card and then allow it to lie at the vacant table, in this way my other guests can at least sympathize with me in my embarrassment."

At the Country Club.

The largest supper at the Country club Sunday evening was given in honor of Miss Cranmer of Denver by Miss Mary Lee McShane. At her table were: Miss Cranmer, Miss Margaret Wood, Miss Edna Keelins of Council Bluffs, Miss Bessie Brady, Miss Ada Kirkendall, Miss Mildred Lomax, Miss Parks of Providence, R. I., Mr. Mosher Colpezer, Mr. Robert Burns, Mr. Frank Wilhelm, Mr. Walter Roberts, Mr. Jimmie Brown, Mr. Arthur Lewis, Mr. Tom Davis, Mr. Glenn Wharton, Mr. Tom Davis, Mr. Lee McShane and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cudahy.

With Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Swobe were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cotton and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Westbrook.

Among others having supper at the club were: Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Gutou, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Remington, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Page, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Orr, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cuning, Mr. Jack Dumont, Mr. and Mrs. David Baum, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Kiniser, Mr. Frank Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Popperton, Mr. and Mrs. John A. McShane, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Brady and Mr. Brockton Heth.

Wednesday promises to be a big day at the Country club this week as several parties of more than usual size have been planned.

Among those who will give luncheon are Mrs. N. B. "Lips" and Mr. Lipkins who will have twenty-five guests; Mrs. E. M. Morahan, fourteen guests; Mrs. F. N. Conner, forty; Mrs. T. M. Orr, twenty and Miss Margaret Wood, thirty-seven.

Field Club Gossip.

The supper crowd at the Field club Sunday evening was small, but they came out later to enjoy the large club house porch where a cool breeze is always blowing. Among those who entertained at small parties of three and four were: Mr. J. A. Abbott, Mr. Fred Hamilton, Mr. J.

wooden settees and copper colored slaves distributed Persian dainties. There were less and sherbet and in front of each of the ladies an exquisite tea machine of silver was placed. These had models of Persopolis moulded on them in high relief.

"Delicious bonbons were passed around which left a delicate, faint flavor of roses on the lips. There were also splendid purple grapes and pomegranates which seemed to be filled with rubies when cut. The slaves peeled little pale yellow oranges for us with their delicate hands."

"The expression on the Princess' face was of restrained grief. In vain she tried to control herself and conceal her agony. Tears ran down her cheeks and mingled with the diamonds in her gown as she turned her wealike eyes on her husband."

"Later I learned the explanation of her strange conduct. She had failed to find the chief duty of a Persian wife. She was childless and her husband had determined to take another wife."

"The announcement had been made to her only that morning and she knew that her rival was already chosen and only waiting for the consent of her husband's father. Even not knowing the sad story, she longed to say a word of comfort to her; but how could I in that throng, with the guardians of the harem watching?"

"Persian treatment of women in harems. On a visit to the Princess Mah-Fulan I noticed that she was lame. Later I inquired as to the cause. I was told that some years before she had asked her husband's permission to attend the marriage of a friend of her childhood."

"He refused it, but she thought she could go surreptitiously and her absence from the harem for a few hours would not be noticed. Unhappily her husband made an unexpected visit to the harem and discovered her absence. On her return there was a terrific scene, which her husband ended by firing a pistol at her."

"It was hours before the eunuchs and women ventured into the princess's room. They found her insensible. The bullet had broken her hip bone. She recovered, but her leg was shortened."

"I thought these Persian women's lot was most tragic. But as I tried to console with some of them in their gilded cages the answer was always one of consolation for me. One of them put it this way: 'You poor European sisters, how pitiful you that you have to be in this place day long. How much happier we are in Persia since we see them only a little while.'"

Observations of Princess Lucien Murat on Visit to Shiraz.

Princess Lucien Murat has just completed a long series of wanderings through India and Persia. On her way home she paused at Constantinople long enough to give a detailed account of a visit she made to the harem of the Persian governor at Shiraz.

"We had spent ten days in a caravan journey across the desert," said she, "scorched by day and frozen by night, when I last Shiraz became visible in the plain. I was accordingly stepped in a blue haze, out of which the minarets and cupolas of the mosques glittered like gold in the sun."

"As we rode into the city everyone stared at me—the unveiled woman. The streets of the City of Roses are narrow and hard to navigate. It was with difficulty that we reached the palace of Abdul ul Sultan. As the gates opened a whole flock of servants dashed out. They surrounded me at once and led me along a marvellous alley shaded with cypress trees. We crossed a miniature canal, whose limpid waters flowed through a channel lined with blue tiles. Wonderful flowers from peninsular islands bordered it and the breath of wild almond filled the air."

"Abdul ul Sultan received me in a room set apart for women. He poured a flood of compliments over my head and ears."

LIFE IN A PERSIAN HAREM

Observations of Princess Lucien Murat on Visit to Shiraz.

Princess Lucien Murat has just completed a long series of wanderings through India and Persia. On her way home she paused at Constantinople long enough to give a detailed account of a visit she made to the harem of the Persian governor at Shiraz.

"We had spent ten days in a caravan journey across the desert," said she, "scorched by day and frozen by night, when I last Shiraz became visible in the plain. I was accordingly stepped in a blue haze, out of which the minarets and cupolas of the mosques glittered like gold in the sun."

"As we rode into the city everyone stared at me—the unveiled woman. The streets of the City of Roses are narrow and hard to navigate. It was with difficulty that we reached the palace of Abdul ul Sultan. As the gates opened a whole flock of servants dashed out. They surrounded me at once and led me along a marvellous alley shaded with cypress trees. We crossed a miniature canal, whose limpid waters flowed through a channel lined with blue tiles. Wonderful flowers from peninsular islands bordered it and the breath of wild almond filled the air."

"Abdul ul Sultan received me in a room set apart for women. He poured a flood of compliments over my head and ears."

"He said he could not refrain from distinguishing by a personal reception the first French woman who had ever set foot in his palace. It really was contrary to Persian manners for me to be there at all, but he undertook to conduct me to the Princess Debra's apartments."

"We walked through a beautiful colonnade which connected the palace with the woman's pavilion. This led to a great room, the roof of which was supported by beautifully sculptured marble pillars."

"The walls were adorned with great mirrors and the floor was a mosaic of glassed tiles. Here were gathered all the women of the harem, ladies and slaves alike. All were clad in the sable draperies which Persians still wear in mourning for Hussein, the son of Ali, the founder of the Shiite sect of Mohammedans."

"The dark stuff threw the fresh, rosy faces of the girls into relief and added to their beauty. But the costly jewels which glittered in their garments seemed to me to weigh heavily on them, and the darkening of their eyebrows with Kohl seemed to me to give their childish faces a hard and obtuse expression. Only their dark, melting eyes, veiled with long lashes, seemed to me to reflect their melancholy lives of repression."

"We were seated on beautifully carved

A reel, a creel, a hook and line—and don't forget a box of ZU ZU for a snack between bites. A golden ginger snap with a spicy taste.

M. ALBERT GOES TO PARIS

Leader of Wine Growers Makes Call on Premier Clemenceau.

APPEARANCE CAUSES SENSATION

Day in Wine Growing Regions is Comparatively Quiet—Several Fresh Regiments Arrive from North.

PARIS, June 24.—The most interesting event yesterday in connection with the wine growers' revolt was the visit of Marcelin Albert, the leader of the disturbing element in the south of France, to Premier Clemenceau. This morning the man for whom the police and troops vainly have been scouring the country for a fortnight, appeared without warning at the Ministry of the Interior. He wore the simple garb of a southern peasant. The cotton shirt, the silk handkerchief around his neck and the caperbag in his hand aroused his suspicion of the corps of detectives now constantly guarding the premier. But when he had established his identity Albert was admitted to the presence of Clemenceau, with whom he had a fifteen-minute talk.

A semi-official account of the interview says that the premier used extremely strong language, virtually reproaching his visitor with the responsibility of all that has happened in the south—the refusal to pay taxes, the strike, the resignation of the municipal officials and the bloodshed that has occurred everywhere. The fact, that M. Albert is represented as having been overcome with contrition, bursting into tears and asking the premier how he could make atonement, to which M. Clemenceau replied:

"Give yourself up to the law and use your influence with your countrymen to return to lawful ways."

Albert Returns South. Subsequently Albert declined to reveal anything that had occurred during his conference with the premier, declaring that he had given his word to M. Clemenceau not to do so. He had, however, that he was leaving immediately for the south, where he intended to "do his duty." This leads to the presumption that an understanding between himself and the premier was reached. It is believed that M. Albert headed the cause of M. Ferroul, the ex-mayor of Narbonne, and his comrades on the Argelliers committee who are under arrest, but upon this point M. Clemenceau remains obdurate. He again authorized the statement that the government could not interfere with the courts.

The release and immunity from prosecution of those now under lock and key seems at this time to be the principal demand of the wine growers upon the government. The power which M. Albert's comrade exercise, even from the inside of the prison, is evidenced from the fact that M. Leullier's friends were obliged to go to them to secure an order of release before the subprefect was surrendered in the mob who held him as a hostage.

Leullier details the capture of Subprefect Leullier, showing that soldiers who tried to protect him were forced to retreat before the fury of the mob. M. Leullier's clothes were literally torn from him and he was badly beaten.

The fear that today, being Sunday, would renew a revival of the rioting in the affected districts fortunately was not realized. Although dispatches report that the populace in many places is still greatly excited no incident of violence, except the stoning of the prefecture at Nie, was reported up to midnight.

The various defense committees issued proclamations today adjuring the people to keep the peace.

"When the troops pass," says the proclamation, "stand with folded arms and sealed lips."

The new Argelliers committee which has assumed the direction of the movement since the arrest of its predecessor asks for the prolongation of the present government of the acceptability of the government's wine frauds bill and that after it passes the senate it be submitted to a referendum.

Nevertheless, the government believes that the backbone of the revolt is broken. Several fresh regiments from the north have arrived at the affected points and in addition there is a heavy concentration of troops at Narbonne, Montpellier and other centers of disturbance. Many of the smaller towns, such as Argelliers and Brie, are now occupied by the military, who hurried home on Friday to aid in calming

Hunyadi Janos

Best Natural Laxative Mineral Water

Salts are Nature's ideal cathartics. The bowels are moved gently by a natural liquefying process—without pain or bad effects.

It is an acknowledged fact that Hunyadi Janos Water is much superior to any other kind of Laxative in drug form.

REASONS WHY BEST: Pure Harmless Effective Acts quickly Cheaper

Over 10,000,000 bottles are consumed annually—does not this fact say more than any other argument?

Especially as this reliable Water has been in use all over the world for nearly half a century.

A postal to 130 Falton Street, New York, will bring you FREE, a neat and useful Hunyadi Janos Barometer.

Try a bottle and drink on arising half a glass

FOR CONSTIPATION

BLUE AND GRAY SERGES.

A Full Blue, Black or Gray Serge Suit—with extra Trousers of same—or striped material. Twenty-Five Dollars. Nicoll TAILOR

MADE ONLY BY JAP ROSE SOAP Co. (Their Own Process) It is transparent—so clear you can read through it. It lathers freely in all kinds of water. For use in hard water its strongest point.

JAP ROSE TOILET SOAP. It's twice the size and less than one-half the cost of any brand of really good transparent soap. SO CLEAR YOU CAN READ THROUGH IT.

Summer Clearance Sale. $9.75 solid gold 14k Shirt Waist Set, now $7.30. $16.50 Pearl Shirt Waist Set, now $12.37. $5.00 solid gold Pearl Brooch, now $3.75. $200.00 Diamond Brooch, now $150.00. $65.00 Coral Cameo Brooch, now $48.75. This 25 per cent discount sale includes every article in our stock except where manufacturer stipulates the price. MAWHINNEY & RYAN CO. Diamond Importers. 15th and Douglas Sts.

BECOMING A MOTHER. A FRIEND'S MOTHER'S FRIEND. The Medical Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga. containing valuable information free. Sold by all druggists at 10c per bottle.

Great sale of the "Opera Waists." Branded assures the entire surplus stock of the celebrated "Opera Waists," the highest-gradeingerie waists made. This will be by far the greatest waist sale ever held in the west and will take place Wednesday, June 26. Do not fail to attend.