NOTES ON OMAHA SOCIETY

Mmes. N. B. and P. H. Updike Conspicuous Hostesses of Tuesday.

BIG LUNCHEON AT COUNTRY CLUB

Visiting Girls Have Full Calendar, Much Having Been Planned Complimentary to Miss de Cistue and Miss Cranmer.

The most pretentious affair of Tuesday was the luncheon given by Mrs. N. B. Updike and Mrs. P. H. Updike at the Country club. Their tables were elaborately decorated with pink peonies and the plate cards were white with the hostesses' monogram "U" done in gold. Those present were: Mrs. Warren Blackwell, Madam Blackwell, Mrs. Frank Boyd, Mrs. John S. Brady, Mrs. A. D. Brandis, Mrs. W. J. Burgess, Misses Blanchard, G. and A. Comstock, Mrs. J. H. Conrad, Mrs. W. J. Connell, Miss Anna Coad, Mrs. F. A. Ewing, Mrs. A. C. English, Mrs. A. G. Edwards, Mrs. Robert Gilmore, Mrs. C. A. Grimmel, Mrs. M. L. Gubbert, Mrs. F. B. Hochstetler, Mrs. R. C. Howe, Mrs. R. L. Huntley, Mrs. C. A. Heinrichs, Mrs. Charles Harding, Miss Mayne Hutchinson, Mrs. G. J. Ingwerson, Mrs. Frank Judson, Mrs. Julius Kessler, Mrs. J. A. C. Kennedy, Mrs. F. P. Kirkendall, Mrs. J. A. Kuhn, Mrs. A. V. Kinler, Mrs. T. J. Mackay, Mrs. Euclid Martin, Mrs. T. J. Mahoney, Mrs. P. M. Matters, Mrs. E. J. McVann, Mrs. C. D. McLaughlin, Mrs. Fred Pearce, Mrs. H. R. Penney, Mrs. Arthur Pinto, Mrs. H. D. Pollard, Mrs. M. C. Peters, Mrs. Charles Rosewater, Mrs. Fred Renwick, Mrs. B. H. Smith, Mrs. George Squires, Mrs. J. R. Scobie, Mrs. T. A. Thompson, Miss Edith Thomas, Mrs. G. W. Updike, Mrs. Edward Updike, Misses Lucie and Louise Updike, Mrs. E. D. Van Court, Mrs. John Wagner, Mrs. H. W. Weller, Mrs. E. W. Walters, Mrs. B. T. White, Mrs. Joel West, Mrs. Oscar Williams, Mrs. E. E. Welch, Mrs. A. L. Welsh, Mrs. E. Westbrook, Mrs. Whitcomb of Chicago and Mrs. W. L. Yetter.

For Miss de Cistue.
One of the charming affairs of Tuesday was the luncheon given by Mrs. John L. Kennedy at her home in honor of Miss Louise de Cistue of Granada, Spain. A handsome centerpiece of American beauties adorned the table and covers were laid for Miss de Cistue, Miss Stella Hamilton, Miss Man Hamilton, Miss Jessie Millard, Miss Marie Mohler, Mrs. Sam Burns, Jr., Mrs. Ward Burgess, Mrs. W. T. Burns and Mrs. Leonard Everett.
Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Keys entertained at dinner Monday evening in honor of the Keys-Meacham wedding party. The table was decorated in pink and green, the same color scheme that will be employed in the wedding decorations. The flowers used were pink roses combined with ferns. Covers were laid for twenty.

Engagement Announcements.
Mrs. A. Martin announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Blanche Grotto to Mr. Arthur M. Landauer of Lincoln, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Martin and her daughter will receive Wednesday evening, July 3, from 8 to 11 o'clock, at their home, 2304 Howard street.
Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Edmiston have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lida, to Mr. Jesse Dwight Whitney of Grand Island. The wedding will take place in the early fall.

Dr. Rev. A. L. Williams, bishop-coadjutor of Nebraska, Tuesday married Rev. G. B. Browne and Miss Helen M. Yates at St. Paul's church. The groom was attended by his old college class mate, Rev. W. H. Moor, while the bride's sister, Miss Josephine Yates, was maid of honor. After the marriage service the bishop celebrated the holy communion, which was sung to Hall's setting by the combined choirs of St. Paul's church, Omaha, and St. Mark's church, Florence.

The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's brother, Willis Yates, on Sherman avenue. After breakfast the couple took the Northwestern train for the east, intending to visit Chicago, Milwaukee and Indianapolis. Father Browne was educated in Canada and England and was curate at Portsmouth for five years before coming to Nebraska. He was in charge of the mission at Hartington until last July, when he was transferred to Omaha to become rector of St. Paul's church and St. Mark's, Florence. On the resignation of Dean Beecher at Easter, Father Browne was appointed chaplain of Clarkson hospital by Bishop Worthington. Mrs. Browne has spent all her life in Omaha, and the many presents which she received showed that she had many friends. It was a touching sight to see two little girls bring a present from the scholars of the kindergarten, of which she has had charge during the last two years. The couple will go into residence at Twenty-sixth and Franklin streets on their return from their trip.

Waltzes.
The wedding of Miss Ethelwyn Neff and Mr. C. W. Waltz of St. Paul, Minn., took place at 4 o'clock on Saturday at Trinity cathedral, Dean Beecher performing the ceremony. Professor Charles Blakeslee played the "Lohengrin Wedding March" as the bride entered, preceded by Miss Marguerite Renard as ring bearer, dressed in a dainty blue silk frock and Miss Bertha Henderson as maid of honor, gown in white Paris muslin and carrying pink roses. The bride's gown was chiffon over silk. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride's roses. Mr. Everett Neff, brother of the bride, was best man. Following the ceremony, a reception was given at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Anna Henderson, on East Emmet street. The decorations were palms and roses. Mr. and Mrs. Waltz will be at home at St. Paul, Minn., after September 15th.

Prospective Pleasures.
Society's interest still centers around the visitors. Miss de Cistue, guest of Miss Hamilton, has many things planned in her honor. Wednesday evening Mrs. Wilson Lowe will give an informal party at her home; Tuesday evening Mr. Luther Drake, a dinner at the Country club; Friday, Miss Webster a luncheon, and Sunday, Miss Baconbe, a supper at the Country club. Miss Cranmer, guest of Miss Wood, has also a full calendar. Wednesday evening, Mr. Elmer Cope gives a dinner at the Field club; Saturday, Miss Jean Cudahy, a dinner at the Country club, and Wednesday of next week, Miss Flora Webster will give a luncheon at the Country club for her. Mrs. J. L. Hunter will be hostess Wednesday at the meeting of the La Veta club at her home, 2123 Sherman avenue.

Miss Flora Webster has issued invitations for a luncheon to be given at her home Friday and will give another luncheon a week from Wednesday at the Country club. Mrs. E. L. Potter of Bemis Park will entertain informally Tuesday evening at her home in honor of her guest, Mr. Harold Anderson of Wheeling, W. Va.
The Original Bridge club will not meet this week, but on Friday of the following week Miss Besse Brady will entertain the members at the Country club. Luncheon will precede the afternoon at bridge.
Mrs. George Palmer will entertain at luncheon at the Country club Thursday.
Mrs. Edwin J. Speth will give a luncheon Friday in honor of Mrs. Haskell of Chicago.

Come and Go Guests.
The Thirtieth infantry, which has been stationed at Fort Crook for the last three years, will leave Saturday for the Philippines. Its departure will be regretted by a host of friends and its delightful entertainments at the fort will be greatly missed by the many Omaha people who shared its hospitality.
Mrs. J. T. Hirsch of Kansas City is visiting Mrs. David Newman.
Cadet Roger H. Williams of West Point is home on a ten weeks' furlough and is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Williams.

Mr. John Carpenter Goodwin, the fiancé of Miss Georgia Kennard, arrived Tuesday morning and will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Kennard until after the wedding.
Mrs. Leonard D. Widman of Fort Omaha, who has been spending a week in Council Bluffs with her mother, has returned home.
Mr. Harold Anderson of Wheeling, W. Va., formerly of Omaha, is spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Potter of Bemis Park.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Manley are spending their honeymoon at Mackinac Island, Mich.

THE REALLY RESTFUL HOME

Place Where Each Person Has Care and Each Contribute Something.

We all know of expensive homes, tasteful homes, pleasant homes, comfortable homes, but isn't the really restful home something of a rarity? The home toward which the thoughts and longings of each of its inmates turn instinctively with a sense of infinite peace? Glided French writing desks and spindle-legged "tete-a-tetes" have no place in the living room in which the family actually lives. The furnace is supplemented by open fires of wood, coal or gas, that make the first chilly evening a time to look forward to. The many, lightly-curtained windows give a sense of the open to the most restful "shut-in." There are enough "cozy" chairs for everyone, including the unexpected guest; there is a lounge or two for the tired, and a hospital cot in an out-of-the-way room for the "down sick." There is always plenty of cool, pure drinking water at hand between meals and a supply of matches in each and every room. There is a chest of drawers full of old magazines, paint boxes, carpenter's tools, sewing scraps and games for the children's rainy days. There is an "emergency shelf," in the pantry, on which a variety of "delicatessen" cans and boxes is always in readiness for impromptu hospitality. There are good and musical instruments to fill the evenings with quiet pleasure. Good lamps and side gas burners insure the eyes against the dreary glare from above that makes so many homes, otherwise attractive, un-homelike at night.
Every member of the family has certain tasks to do, for, paradoxical as it sounds, the really restful home contains no drones. Each contributes his or her share to the happy whole; and when the day's work is over the joy of accomplishment is added to the good results of combined labor, so that the restful home has a twofold charm for each of its members.—Jessie Storms Ferris.

LAUNDERING COLORED GOODS

Some Ways of Fixing Delicate Shades That Must Be Washed.

It is very necessary to have a way to keep clothes from fading, as there are so many dainty colors in the summer dress goods. Take a tablespoonful of turpentine and a teaspoonful of camphor to a pail of tepid water. Let the clothes stand in it about one-half an hour, pour the water off and wash in warm suds.
While tan linen does not require special codding, still some shades of buff and gray are liable to spot and streak. To obviate this use a tablespoonful of black pepper in the first water; this will also keep them from fading.
Most colors require either salt or vinegar in the last rinsing water to fix them; as a general rule the lighter colors take salt, the darker vinegar. Both are used in the proportion of a tablespoonful to a quart of water. When in doubt use both. For lilac, mauve or purples vinegar will be found to slightly intensify as well as preserve the color. Blues are often ruined by their first trip to a careless laundress. Any shade of blue may be permanently fixed by soaking first in a bucket of water into which an ounce of sugar of lead has been poured.
To remove grass stains from children's clothes wash them in alcohol. Do not put soap directly upon pretty singhams. If they are much soiled and it is necessary to wash them, put them in salt and water for an hour, then wash them in a good, warm (not hot) suds of soft water and, after wringing new, pass through a thin starch and hang out of doors to dry. Iron on the wrong side to avoid a glare.

FOURTH OF JULY LUNCHEON

A Novel Menu for the National Holiday and How to Serve It

Out of Doors
Birch bark or cheap wooden bowls tied where possible with red or blue ribbons make good "out-of-door" receptacles for the viands. The souvenirs at the places can be little red or blue raffia doll hats filled with white bonbons. This red, white and blue menu would be effective.
Pressed Chicken
Sandwiches—Sardine, Butter and Currant Jelly
Stuffed Eggs—Cold sliced Tomato Salad or Tomato Jelly Salad, garnished with Nasturtiums
Blanc Mergue decorated with Candied Violets, served with Raspberries—these in Blue Dishes—Ice in Red, White and Blue Cases
Cake
Pink lemonade or iced tea can be served throughout the meal.

Hygienic Value of Olive Oil.

Olive oil has become so necessary an adjunct to salad, and so indispensable in a culinary sense, generally, that we may be glad to know something of its hygienic value. Olive oil is an ideal substitute for animal fats, and in many instances, more economical, as it does not absorb in the process of cooking; the food retains its natural flavor, free from greasy suggestions, and is tempting, appetizing and easy of digestion.
Pure olive oil is practically tasteless, or agreeably palatable, whether used as a table delicacy, or cooked as an adjunct to the family medicine-chest. Its efficiency as a household remedy is becoming more and more widely known, and acknowledged as an important factor in keeping the system in a healthy condition. Medical authorities commend it for its mildly laxative and soothing action upon the digestive organs. The free use of pure olive oil is recommended as a safeguard against the dreaded attacks of appendicitis and kindred ills due so largely to impaired digestion, and naturally lends the glow of health to the complexion of the user by aiding nature in her digestive and secretory functions. As a home remedy for ills incident to childhood, as well as for adult ailments, it is unsurpassed as a simple and safe resort, unoffending to the palate or the most sensitive stomach.

Cool House in Summer.

On the extremely warm days in summer a room may be made comfortably cool by hanging at the windows sash curtains made of some cheap white muslin, which have been wrung from cold water and hung up while damp. They should be provided with brass rings and rods so that they are quickly removed and returned to place. They should be dampened whenever they become dry. This is a good idea for the invalid's room if the heat is intense and yet the windows must be kept open for ventilation.

Cucumber Cream.

Cucumber cream is an excellent remedy for sunburn and tan and will whiten and soften the skin of the hands and face and leave it cool and comfortable after being exposed to the scorching summer sun. It is very easily prepared by paring a cucumber rather thickly and cutting the parings into inch pieces. Put the parings into a bowl and cover them with sweet milk to cover them and set them away in the ice box or some cool place. In a few hours it will be ready for use. Bathe the face and hands with the cream and pat dry with a soft cloth. This will be found a much finer lotion for the complexion than many high priced articles.

H-O-T! HOT!!! ISN'T IT?

Life is one continuous, involuntary Turkish Bath this weather. You feel as though even your bones were grilled—hot inside and out. Don't light new fires with alcoholic beverages just because they taste cold on the way down. Don't invite sunstroke or sickness with ice water—anyway, the more you drink the more you want.

ROYAL TOURIST

The ROYAL is an Engineering Feat

Unless harmony of relation exists throughout your motor car your investment is going to prove disastrous. Some manufacturers seem to think that if they produce a good engine and a good looking car, they have reached the summit of automobile achievement. The result is they place gold bricks on the market.

Good looks and good engines are, of course, desirable, but unless everything else is just as good, your car is out of proportion in an engineering sense. And that invariably means trouble. A thoroughly good motor car like the Royal is purely an engineering feat throughout and requires as much careful calculation as the building of a locomotive, the making of a boiler or any other engineering creation which calls for accurate adjustment, proper resistance to strain and pressure and distribution of power.

The science of accurately utilizing force and materials is not represented in many motor cars. Few manufacturers figure the weight and strength of frame and chassis in proportion to the power of the engine, and this is responsible for the majority of motor troubles. One or more, or many parts, are not accurately weighed or measured in proportion to the power, and sooner or later the structure—or parts of it—goes to pieces.

And herein lies one of many distinct advantages which the Royal possesses over other cars. As we have stated, it is an engineering accomplishment. Every detail is scientifically considered and calculated with relation to the whole—and each individual part. We measure and weigh and calculate to the minutest fraction, so that all parts work in concert—each sustains its proper amount of pressure and there is harmonious distribution of strain and effort.

This explains very readily why the Royal goes on from year to year without jarring itself to pieces or subjecting owners to ceaseless effort to readjust the parts. This explains why it surmounts all obstacles on country runs—why it performs so admirably on long cross-country tours and returns home as sound as it was the day it went out.

Its perfect engineering balance and equality of proportion has excited comment in America, France, England, Germany and in every other country where it is operated. The army officers who employed several Royals in the recent maneuvers at Fort Riley were loud in their praise of its wonderful distribution of power and the cars amply justify their commendation.

Add to this the regal beauty of the Royal, its luxurious charm and ease of movement and you can understand why it is the most perfect motor car built in America—and why it has never been possible to improve upon it abroad. It also demonstrates why we are always anxious that you should write direct to us for catalogue containing illustrations and blue prints of the car and parts thereof.

CUT RATES TO UNCLE SAM

Special Fares May Be Made for Army and Navy.

SO SAYS COMMERCE COMMISSION

Additional Concession is Announced that Such Rates Need Not Be Posted by the Railroads.

The Interstate Commerce commission expresses an opinion that carriers may lawfully make special rates for the movement of federal troops when such movement is under orders and expense of the United States and that the rates so made need not be filed or posted. This ruling also applies to the transportation for naval and marine services.

This decision has occasioned a vast amount of speculation and surprise in railroad circles, where it was supposed from the rigid form of the new regulations such concessions would not be made even to the government.

The commission has heard the protest of the railroads in the matter of posting tariffs under the new law and has modified its ruling. Railroads have contended since the new rate law was passed that a literal compliance with the law in the matter of posting of tariffs involved a great expense, which the railroads should not be forced to assume. Under the law copies of tariffs had to be posted in two conspicuous places in every railroad station in order that they might be inspected by the public. The order is so modified that in the discretion of the carrier tariffs may be kept in charge and custody of the agents and simply a notice placed in conspicuous places that tariffs may be seen by calling on the agent.

ANTOKAL HAS HAD ENOUGH

Gets Divorce from Negro Woman and Wants No More of It.

Mike Antokal was given a decree of divorce from Nettie Antokal in Judge Kennedy's court Tuesday afternoon. Antokal is white, while Mrs. Antokal has negro blood in her veins and has a long police record.

Antokal on the witness stand said he had known her only two weeks before he married her. For a month or two he said she lived with him and then she went to associating with negroes of bad character and finally entirely abandoned him. Officer John Dunn testified as to her police record.

Judge Kennedy refused Antokal's request that she be required to resume her maiden name, Nettie Turner. He explained to Antokal that he could not remarry within six months.

"I don't want to, judge," said Antokal with a grin. "I have had enough of it."
When Nettie Turner and Mike Antokal were married Antokal thought he was getting a wife from southern Europe. That's what she told him and her disguise contributed to her story. Time proved how easy Antokal really was.

This woman has been mixed up indirectly with some of the most notable crimes of the last two years.

LEASE WITHOUT OCCUPANCY

Harry Hayward Pays Four Hundred Monthly—O'Brien Thirty Thousand Yearly for Henshaw.

The Willow Springs Brewery company, or Harry Hayward, as the case may be, is nursing a very sore spot on the financial anatomy as a result of a blow dealt by the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners.

In the rejection of the proposition for a saloon license at No. 127 Farram street, an even $400 a month is the price Mr. Hayward or his institution is paying the Bedicks for the rental of this little room, formerly occupied by J. Frederick Berger as a ladies' dress establishment. When this concern failed the Mois-Hayward company rented the place for a saloon, but in doing so it got the cart before the horse, for it failed to secure its saloon license and when it made application for the latter the board turned it down.

Meanwhile the Bedicks, who own the property, go merrily on collecting the $400 a month as stipulated in the lease.
"I'll put a blacksmith shop in that place, or get even," Harry Hayward is quoted as saying.

Wylie's saloon was conducted two doors east of the Barker room before the demolition of the Henshaw hotel.
And the demolition of the Henshaw hotel suggests the report that T. J. O'Brien has signed up article of agreement which call for an annual payment by him of $30,000 rent for the establishment when it is completed, the lease to run for a period of ten years.
