Woman in Stabbing unse-Curry How resident at a rooming house at Twelfth and Dodge streets, was stabbed in the back by Charles Bengerman Sunday ofternoon. He was attended by Police Surgoons Arnout and Fitzgibbons and probably will soon recover. He came to Omaha recently from Lexington, Kan., and quarreled with Bengerman several days ago over a woman. Bengerman was arreated by Officer Smith.

Injured by Fall From Bridge-Patrick Menham, a laborer of South Omaha, fell from the railroad bridge on South Thirteenth street Sunday night, breaking both of his feet. He was taken to the police station in the patrol wagon and his injuries attended to by Police Surgeon Fitsgibbons and Dr. Aramout. He was later taken to his home in South Omaha in the ambulance. He said he was walking over the bridge on his way home and somehow he lost his balance and fell.

DOLAN BATS IN WINNING RUNS

OMAHA PLAYS AN UPHILL GAME

Billows of Dust Make Life Miserable at Vinton Street Park and Two Catchers Get Craeks.

Omaha, 8; Lincoln, 2. Squire Holmes probably has learned one thing new in his old age, namely, that

Joe Dolan can hit the ball when a hit is requires to win a game. Had Squire Holmes come across this fact earlier in his career as a great base ball manager

Austin was credited with a hit because Thomas failed to cover the sack and there was no one for Zackert to throw the ball to. He threw it anyway and Austin went to third-a three-base bunt. Omaha might not have won yesterday's game. Deliberately-under instructions of Ducky-McKay passed Welch in that soventh inning when there were two on base to third-a three-base bunt. Whether it was McKay's own fault or that of Ducky Holmes, the passing of Welch yesterday with Dolan coming to bat stands out in bold relief as the most sublime piece of bone head work of the season. Zackert was most aggravating, the way he delayed the game. He was up in the air several times and the way Holmes, Fox, Thomas and others tried to tell him what to do was enough to rattle almost any-ons. and Dolan following Welch at the bat. Now, It's all right to pass a batter of the Weich order, but it's all wrong to do so when there is a batter of the Dolan order next on the bill of fare, for Joe Dolan is the timely hitter of the team, of the the sage man from Salt Creek. Dolan smacked the ball squarely in the face and sent it flying past second base, scoring both runners amid the plaudits of the multitude.

knocker in the park, or if so his hammer, was not audible. Nor was there any to ask Pa that silly question. "Wouldn't you like to have Jack Thomas back?"

Billows of Dust.

The principal feature of the day was the dust, which blew in clouds across the dia-

Lincoln made two runs in the second inning, and it began to look as though Zackert would be able to hold the Rourke family down, but he finally weakened and was sent to the stable before any runs were made, but two were on bases and before the Omaha hitters finished that inning with Mr. McKay, the Rourkes were one the finish. Zackert pitched a good game and held the Omaha isam to three hits for seven and one-third innings, but Ducky ordered will never be known, but Zackert could have done little worse than did McKay.

How it Came About.

In the seventh inning Gonding had taken the place of LeBrand, who had his finger twisted, and opened the inning by walking to first. Ragan struck out and Belden followed with a hit Then McKay was substituted and with Gonding on third Buck Franck tried for a squeeze play and it not only scored Gonding, but Jack Thomas threw wild to catch Belden and all were safe. Autrey advanced both runners a base on his infield out and then Ducky forced McKay to make the mistake of his life by deliberately passing Welch. The doctor looked so big and strong that they were evidently afraid he would knock it Gochanur, ss... were safe. Autrey advanced both runners

Notes of the Game. Two catchers had their fingers injured because of the blinding dust. Both Zinran and LeBrand are nursing latte fingers. To Gonding goes a great deal of credit for the winning of the game. He waited for his base and that put Zackert up in the air.

Sanders and Steen. Attendance:

for his oase and that put zackert up in the siz. Lincoln worked the hit and run game in fine form twice. Both times Gralean started to cover second and the ball was hit through the hole he had left. The water wagon is supposed to have the right-of-way every Bunday in Omsha, but the wind and dust put in out of business yesterday at Vinton street park. A physician's certificate was handed to Captain Franck just before the opening of the game announcing the indisposition of Jack Huskett. Banders and Steen did the job.

Ducky has no one but himself to blame for the loss of the game, for he did sev-eral things at the wrong time, the most noticeable of which was telling McKay to pass Welch.

these years. Beiden and Franck were on bases when Weich came to bat and was walked per Ducky's orders. Omaha fans knew this was a diplomatic error on the part of Squire Hoimes, which placed an omineus aspect on the game for his team, but it was not for Omaha fans to grieve. In one short instant that function belonged to the sage man from Salt Creek. Dolan
