"What is the matter with the Omaha This is the question that society has had occasion to ask for a third time this year with the announcement last week of the engagement of one of Omaba's most eligible bachelors to an out-of-town Of course, there is nothing the matter with the home girls unless, perhaps, they are a bit unappreciative for their opportunities, but the fact remains that some of the most eligible men in town have gone away for their brides, three conspicuous instances of this sort having occurred during the year. It may be some consolation to the interested, however, to know that at least two of the richest bachelors still remaining in town are not unappreciative of or unappreciated by Omaha young women. The New York. which is nearing the completion of its construction at the Boston navy yard, has been so completely everhauled that it is considered probable that it may be transferred to the Pacific to become the flagship of the floot in those waters. The placing in reservo of the Indiana and Iowa leaves but twenty guns of the 12-inch type in the Atlantic fleet, as all of the newer ships carry 12-inch guns in their fore and oft turnets. The vessels that still retain the 13-inch guns are the Kearsarge and the Kentucky, and the Alabama, Illinots and Wisconsin. The new Atlantic fleet still consists of four divisions of baitleships, but there is a possibility that the number of divisions will be increased by the formation of another within the next year, this division to consist of the buttleship Nebraska, just completed on the Pacific coast, and the Mississippi, Idaho and Wisconsin .-
