Labor is badly needed both in Omaha for manufacturing and general trade purposes and in the state for the harvest. Lack of help retards the harvest, though with suitable weather all the grain will be saved. In Omaha the demand for labor cannot be supplied and factories and jobbing houses are working hard with short forces.

Prices are firm on shoes, but it is not likely that any advances of moment will be made soon. There has been little feature to the leather market so far this month, but just now, a shortage of first-class hides is reported and an early advance would not be surprising. Shipments from the factories to jobbers are about what they were in former years and jobbers report a good business for the summer season. Local factories are running full capacity and jobbers are pleased with the prospects for fail and winter trade.

Hardware prices remain steady and for fall and winter trade.

Hardware prices remain steady and for some time there has been no material change in quotations on staple goods. The impression prevags that this steady condition of the market will continue for several months at least. The demand for building hardware does not slacken and jobbers are preparing to handle a big trade all through the winter. Trade in general is light, as befits the summer season, and the demand extends to all lines of seasonable goods, while first orders on winter goods are being Rocky Mountain Limid, all:40 pm a 2:85 am while Colo. & Cal. garding cutting of prices by the independent backers.

Spot tomatoes are a little bit easier than they have been this month. No buying interest in future tomatoes is noted and there seems to be an increasing desire among packers to secure further business. That desire does not seem to be strong enough, however, to induce them to offer to make a material concession in price. The cropoutlook is reported to be excellent, but the prospects are it will be late, owing to the setback due to the late spring. It is sthought unlikely that any deliveries on 190 contracts will be made until the very end of August or the first of September, by packers outside of Baltimore. Prices en southern peas show a considerable variation, depending upon quality and seller, but the market has a firm undertone and the tendency seems to be upward. Four causes are assigned in a separate application for an order to permit the disinterment of Perkins' body and the holding of an autopsy, as follows:

Its vital importance in determining the issues in the main action; the belief that Perkins committed suicide by taking poison; the refusal of the heirs to permit the exhuming of the body, and the fact that unless an autopsy is immediately held proof of death will be forever lost.

An attorney for the insurance company today tendered Mrs. Perkins at Lawrence $7,000 in gold, the amount of premiums which had been paid on the policy. The money was refused.

The Fort Riley pole team, composed of Captain Lassiter and Lieutenants Allin, Hennessy, Engel and Armstrong, left here on Monday for Chicago, where they will play in the national tournament, which takes place in that city July 16 to 29. This is the first time in the history of the National Pole association that an army team has entered the lists and the work of Fort Riley's team will be watched with no little interest. In view of the fact that a number of the fast eastern teams are entered, it is realized that the local toam will have to play some pole to have a lock-in. The team has been practicing several hours daily, however, since it was decided to enter, and there has been a marked improvement in both individual and team play. The teams ponies, twenty in number, left Sunday in charge of Color Sergeant Bauer. While engaged in the tournament, the leam will put up at the officers' club at Fort Sheridan, which is located within in a short distance of the grounds. As the War department is very desirous of creating an interest in pole throughout the mounted branch of the service, and as the game promotes horsemanship, the expense of the trip will be defrayed by the government.
