

BRIEF CITY NEWS

Twain City Dye Works removed to 407 S. 15th, Range block. Close at 8 p. m. F. A. Bishart, photographer, removed to Eighteenth and Parson streets. Almost anyone can make money; some do not know how to save it. The City Savings Bank will help everyone.

NEBRASKA FROM DAY TO DAY

Quant and Curious Features of Life in a Rapidly Growing State. Needed in the Fields.—The man reported to have been killed in a drunken row in an Oakland saloon July 4 was out plowing Saturday. He was needed too bad in the cornfield to be allowed to remain dead more than two days.—Lyons Sun.

We have heard of double-seated rigs and many other double-seated contrivances, but the latest is Walter Bush's double-seated saddle horse. For further particulars ask Willie Osborn—Curlew Correspondence Hooker County Tribune.

Differences of Opinion.—At Geneva an editor has been worrying over the matter of how to get his shirt on over his wings when he reached paradise, when his ungodly contemporary suggested that his real difficulty would be in finding how to get his hat on over his horns.—Strang Reporter.

Worse Than Red Lemonade.—A certain man who lives at Randolph, Neb., went down to Sioux City circus day and bought a lovely "load." Wednesday morning he appeared at one of the city depots, still drunk and anxious to go back home. The ticket seller misinterpreted the name of the man's destination and he just gave him a ticket and put him on the train to Walthill. A half-sober Randolphite was mightily surprised when they put him off the train here and hasn't figured it all out yet.—Walthill Times.

North Nebraska Religion.—Two brothers (Ed and Jim) were engaged in the live stock business. By and by Ed professed religion and earnestly solicited Jim to go and do likewise. Jim scratched his head, meditated very earnestly for awhile, but finally said: "No, Ed, it is all right for one of the firm to be religious, but somebody has to weigh the hog."—Fender Republic.

Truth Without Varnish.—In a wedding writup in a Nebraska newspaper appears the following: "It was a delightful affair for all and a relief for the bride's father, who is a hard-working man. The groom is the dog factored by James around Mitchell's, just like he was going to throw a 2-year-old steer, and the way that elevator gear-steer reached for space with the other leg wasn't slow. The dog succeeded in breaking away with a small portion of the victim's pants' leg and left his trade-mark to the dog. Under said the reason the dog didn't bite because he never did have much of a taste for pork."—Hawley News.

Pastor Institute Next on Program.—Tuesday afternoon when V. Schuchoff was on his way up town from the elevator, he sauntered along dreamily about the hall game. Will Alexander's dog rushed frantically from under his master's buggy and proceeded to wake Brother Mitchell up. "Mitch" wasn't long in wakin', either. The dog fastened his jaws around Mitchell's leg just like he was going to throw a 2-year-old steer, and the way that elevator gear-steer reached for space with the other leg wasn't slow. The dog succeeded in breaking away with a small portion of the victim's pants' leg and left his trade-mark to the dog. Under said the reason the dog didn't bite because he never did have much of a taste for pork."—Hawley News.

All goods sold at Hubermann's jewelry store guaranteed as to prices and quality.

ECHOES OF THE ANTE-ROOM

Lawn Socials Are More Popular These Nights Than Lodge Rooms. U. S. Grant Post No. 110, Grand Army of the Republic and Woman's Relief Corps No. 104, will give a lawn social Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Sweeney, 428 North Twenty-ninth street.

Garfield Circle No. 11, Ladies of the Grand Army, held a lawn social Friday evening on the grounds of the Berger residence, 264 North Nineteenth street. The regular meeting of Garfield Circle will be held Friday evening in Barlight hall.

A new circle of the Ladies of the Grand Army has been organized in the north part of Omaha known as Gettysburg Circle No. 48.

Royal Neighbors of America. Harley Camp No. 1124 will give a lawn social Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Winn, 530 South Thirty-eighth avenue.

Improved Order of Red Men. Yah-Nun-Dah-Si Tribe No. 2 is just now enjoying a great wave of enthusiastic prosperity. New members are being added at each meeting and more are coming. The presence of Deputy Grand Sachem Bright has much to do with this. The tribe has set a new mark at 500 new members before January, 1908.

This tribe will unite with the other Omaha tribes in a big feast and pow-wow Monday evening, July 22.

Order of Scottish Clans. Clan Gordon No. 63 met Tuesday evening last with its usual good attendance. One new application was received. The meeting throughout was interesting and lively.

Arrangements are being rapidly concluded for the forthcoming picnic. The date will be announced in a few days, as well as the place.

Leo Hoffmann, undertaker, new location, 15th and Jones. Tel. Doug. 280.

Three Away Millions. "I will remember when I was a boy that our farmers considered the seed of cotton positive nuisance and of no earthly account," said T. B. Bismarck.

"Year after year these despised seeds were thrown away by people who were ignorant that each acre of these seeds would add millions of dollars to the value of the cotton crop of the south. I shudder to think of the vast sum that was lost to our section ere this was ascertained. Now, says the planter regarding his seeds as a big asset for the bringing him present prices not less than $12 a ton. All over the south cottonseed oil mills have been put on which are making money for their owners. They not only get a valuable oil, worth 35 cents a gallon, but after its extraction produce more from the kernel that is made into cakes and exported to all the markets of the world. This meal is one of the finest and most nutritious articles that is used for feeding animals. Even the hulls of the seeds are valued for fattening cattle, and bring good prices."—Washington Herald.

The new pure food law demands honesty of label. Burnett's Vanilla is pure.

Diet of Consumptives. Herbert C. Clapp of Boston says that diet is a most important factor in the treatment of tuberculosis. A consumptive is more likely to eat too little than too much. Systematic overfeeding with proper digestion of the food are the accepted remedies. The food must be palatable and will served and the amount must vary with the patient and his circumstances. The doctor will enable him to assimilate large amounts.

Milk and eggs are the best foods to produce fat, which is most necessary to the patient. The author advocates three solid meals a day, with lunches between of milk, which are made of milk and six eggs a day being taken. Fresh meats are especially necessary for these patients, but in the case of tuberculosis the best horse, meat juice is valuable. The "salty" candy, fried foods and cabbage should be left alone. Alcohol is inadvisable, but coffee, tea and chocolate may be taken moderately.—Medical Record.

NEWS FROM OMAHA SUBURBS

Summer Society Functions Are Taking First Place. Missionary Picnic at Bellevue. Quarterly Session of Woman's Missionary Circle of Omaha to Meet at Benson Friday.

Benson. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. Landolt on last Friday. Miss Margaret Dugan has gone for a visit with relatives in Clinton, Ia. Miss Ella Gravert spent a few days of last week visiting in Blair, Neb.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fisher are visiting at the home of the former's parents. Mrs. G. Wolff has returned from Tekamah, where she spent a week visiting. Mr. and Mrs. Tracy and family of Missouri Valley are visiting relatives in Benson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rewey have moved into their new home, near the Country Club. Mr. and Mrs. M. Butler are entertaining their daughter, Mrs. Trimble, of Sioux City.

Miss Ina Warner left last Thursday for McCook, Neb., where she will visit for two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Anderson gave a family dinner today at their home west of Benson.

Mrs. G. W. Stiger returned Wednesday from week's visit with relatives in Plattsmouth. Arthur Steele of Spring Valley, O., is visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. Howard.

Mrs. H. O. Wolf is visiting relatives in Liberty, Mo., while Mr. Wolf is on his trip to the west. Harry Post returned home Monday from a visit in Lincoln, Shelton and other towns in the state.

Miss Ina Warner left for her home in Blair after a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. K. R. Parker. Mildred Howard entertained a few of her friends at her home, last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Jack Elliott of Omaha spent a couple of days at the home of her mother, Mrs. Frantz. William Ryan has returned home from a six months' stay in Oklahoma. He will re-visit the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Cassidy of Omaha were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hill this week. Dr. Leecher entertained Mrs. Wimer and Mrs. Lachapelle of Ashland during the last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Ager entertained at dinner in honor of Mrs. Goodin's guests, the Misses Ball of Crete, Neb. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Yarton have disposed of their B-10 home and moved to Florence.

Miss Matilda Peterson and brother, George, went to Julesburg, Colo., to visit their sister, Mrs. May Sutton. Mrs. P. Gravert entertained at dinner last Sunday evening. Covers were laid for ten of Benson and Omaha.

Miss Alice Lancaster left last Tuesday for St. Paul, Minn., where she will act as private secretary to her brother. The Knights of Columbus give their annual picnic of St. James' (parish) at Benson on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Cartar are entertaining the family of their son, R. B. Cartar, who is on a business trip to Mexico. William Culkins is in New York City, where he will spend a week, purchasing stock for Brandeis Bros. of Omaha.

Rev. H. L. Yarrow, pastor of St. Paul's, will preach at the morning service at the Lutheran church at 10:30 o'clock today. A committee is canvassing Benson in view of employing for the new factory, which may be built in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Taylor will soon leave for Gillette, Wyo., where the former will take up his new position as barber. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McGuire entertained at a family dinner last Sunday, when covers were laid for about fifteen guests.

Miss May Patterson was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Spoelke last week on her return from her stay at the Peru Normal. Mr. O. Hogan left last Wednesday for her home in St. Paul, after a five weeks' stay at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Yarton.

Hilda, the 6-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Yarrow, died last Monday. Interment being at Mount Hope cemetery. The Presbyterian church will celebrate its first anniversary next Tuesday evening at a social gathering at the home of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Wilson.

Mrs. W. A. Cartar, Mrs. George Kenzo, Charles Hoxie, Mrs. E. Blachley, all of Omaha, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Berry during the week. The ten small tables were prettily decorated with thistles.

Mrs. William Vandell entertained at luncheon on Friday. Covers were laid for Mrs. W. T. Allen, Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. Robert Dempster, Mrs. J. A. Calkins, Miss Elizabeth Allen and Mrs. Vandell. The street railway company has made an extension of the Dundee line to the entrance of the Dundee street, between 15th and 16th streets, and was ready for use on the opening of the club Saturday evening.

Mr. Charles F. Cramer of Chicago, on his way home from San Francisco, where he had been to see his daughter, left for Jay's on the morning service of Mrs. Henry C. Van Gieson, Mr. Clement Chase and other Omaha friends.

Mr. Winston and family, who have been living at 205 Cass street, have moved to their household effects and moved to Rushville, Neb. They were entertained during the week, prior to their departure, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Baird.

Funeral services for Robert B. Haaker, Jr., who was drowned in Cut-Off lake on Wednesday, were held from the family residence, 601 Capitol avenue, Friday afternoon. W. H. Clarke of the Church of Christ, Christian, officiating. The body was taken to Chicago for interment.

A very large grading contract has been let to the O'Keefe Construction company for the grading of the tract of land just south of Dundee proper, running from Dodge to Howard streets, between 15th and 16th and Fifteenth streets. The improvements will reclaim several hundred choice building lots and open up another fine residence district.

Miss Margaret Barr entertained at supper Sunday evening for Miss Nell Carey. Three small tables were decorated with pansies, one with pink sweet peas, and one with white carnations. The following guests: Miss Nell Carey, Miss Hal Carey, Miss Helmine Blessing, Miss Cooper, Miss Turner, Mrs. J. A. Morgan, Hal Carey, Mrs. George Carey, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Fahn and Mr. J. Stewart White.

Mrs. O. Fahn entertained at luncheon on Thursday for the same party. The table was adorned with pink sweet peas, and the plate cards were dainty water color sketches of the same pretty flower. Covers were laid for: Mesdames Paul Burleigh and F. O. Fahn, and Misses Nell Carey, Mabel Carey, Neva Turner, Helmine Blessing, Margaret Barr, Zola Dullinger, Mary Redwell, Mary Harper, Beulah Evans, Freda, Mrs. J. A. Morgan, Mrs. La Platte, Nell, Helen Cooper, Mrs. A. H. H. and Mrs. Laura Welby of Audubon, Minn.

A. H. Hubermann, 30 years at S. E. Cor. 15th and Douglas; 30 years direct diamond importer, sold at import prices.

SENSATION IN HAU CASE

Prisoner Says He Returned to See His Sister-in-Law. THEORY OF THE DEFENSE. It Will Contend that Murder Was Committed by Servant Who Disappeared Day of Crime.

KARLSRUHE, July 21.—Sensational incidents and mysterious complications are multiplying in connection with the trial of Karl Hau on the charge of murdering his mother-in-law, Frau Molitor, at Baden Baden. Soon after the court opened today another tiff between opposing counsel occurred, during which Herr Dietz, counsel for Hau, announced that he had sent his representatives this morning to Dr. Bieleher, the state attorney, in connection with remarks made by the state attorney at the sitting yesterday, and Dr. Bieleher had refused to receive those representatives.

Herr Dietz later informed the newspaper correspondents that he intended this as a preliminary step to a duel. Dr. Bieleher said last evening that the criticism of the experts' testimony was insulting. Another sensation today was the sudden summoning, upon a motion made by Herr Dietz, of two witnesses from Karlsruhe. One of these witnesses is a young artist named Lenck, who recently was confined in the same prison with Hau, upon a charge of which he has since been acquitted, and the other is Lenck's counsel, Dr. Voegelé. The latter swore his client had had an interview with him in which he declared he had important information which he had obtained from Hau while they were both in prison, and which was calculated to give an entirely new aspect to the Hau case.

Artist Refuses to Testify. Dr. Voegelé advised his client to write to Olga Molitor immediately, but the desired meeting was not granted. Herr Dietz, having in the meantime been put in possession of these facts, decided to ask the court to summon both Lenck and Dr. Voegelé as witnesses. Lenck testified that he had conversed with Hau in prison, and which was calculated to give an entirely new aspect to the Hau case.

The presiding judge inquired of Hau if he would give the witness permission to speak. Hau replied firmly, "No." Herr Dietz thereupon moved that the court institute compulsory proceedings to obtain the testimony. At this point court was adjourned until the afternoon, when Herr Dietz's motion under consideration. The motion made a deep impression upon every one in the court room. The sympathies of the audience evidently are turning in favor of Hau. Much criticism is heard of the attitude of the state attorney, Dr. Bieleher, and the presiding judge, with respect to today's proceedings. The hearing of testimony of further witnesses from Baden Baden, who arrived on the scene of the murder a minute or two after the tragedy.

Line of the Defense. It has now become clear that the line of action of the defense is to throw suspicion on a man named Wieland, who was in the employ of the Molitors' as a servant. Witnesses have testified that Wieland went to an employment agency in an effort to get a position in North Germany, saying he could live no longer with Frau Molitor, as she was crazy. Wieland appeared upon the scene of the tragedy immediately after the shooting. It was noticed that his trousers were turned up, which he explained by saying that they had caught while he was climbing over a fence. The personal appearance of Wieland, however, does not agree with that of the man who was seen following the Molitors. Wieland is beardless and 21 years of age, while the other man has been described as middle aged with an iron gray beard and wearing a brown overcoat. Various witnesses have testified that Wieland was in the kitchen when he appeared at the scene of the shooting. A mysterious circumstance is that Wieland disappeared soon after the murder and the prosecuting authorities have not been able to ascertain his whereabouts. If he and the man seen following the Molitors are the same person, he also must have disguised himself with a false beard.

In view of the introduction of such points as the foregoing the hearing of the case will be prolonged into next week. At the afternoon session the man in charge of the Baden Baden public telephone station, an official named Reinhold, swore that a man had asked for a connection with the Villa Colitor on November 21. The inquiry books showed the time of this call from 2:45 to 3:45 p. m. This was damaging to the prisoner, because it showed that he had ample time to reach the scene of the murder by 3:45 p. m. Reinhold's description of the man who called the Villa Molitor agrees with that given by numerous other witnesses of Hau, but he was unable to identify the prisoner. He said that Hau had spoken in a very low tone of voice and that nothing could be heard outside the telephone booth.

Hau Makes an Explanation. At the evening session the judge decided to impose a fine on Lenck for refusing to testify. Thereupon Hau arose and said rather than see Lenck punished he decided to make an explanation. He had returned to the continent, he said, to see Olga, for whom he had conceived a violent passion. He wanted to meet her before he returned to the United States. She knew nothing of his intention, and he had assumed a disguise in order to carry out his purpose unrecognized. Hau admitted the correctness of the testimony of all the witnesses regarding his actions in Baden Baden and said that he telephoned with the sole purpose of getting Frau Molitor away from the house. When later he saw Olga leave the house with her mother he was so disappointed over the frustration of his plan that he went to the station at full speed and had heard no shot fired.

The presiding judge asked Hau why he adopted such a roundabout procedure;

SAW VISION OF FATHER'S DEATH

Remarkable Experience of New York Missionary Verified by a Letter.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

Dr. Rollings received his theological education in England and was ordained in the Established church. He came to America with Bishop Sullivan, whose ecclesiastical title was the colonial bishop of the Church of England. His first experience was among the Hudson Bay Indians. He had no superstitions and did not believe in hallucinations except those that came from an impaired digestion, so that his subsequent exposure to the remarkable mental condition into which he fell, when he saw, as in a vision, his father at the point of death when the father was 3,000 miles away. The death-bed scene was corroborated two weeks later in every detail in a letter from England.

OLD CROW RYE

REAL WHISKEY AND "THE BEST." BOTTLED IN BOND PURITY—AGE—STRENGTH. Look for the word "RYE" in red on label. Distillery: Woodford Co., Ky. Distributors: Riley Bros.'s Co., Omaha.

Go Somewhere

ROUND TRIP RATES FROM OMAHA. San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland and Seattle, daily, $60.00. One way via Shasta Route, $73.50.

Spokane, Wash., daily, $55.00. Butte and Helena, daily, $50.00. Yellowstone Park Tour, daily until September 12, $80.50.

Salt Lake City and Ogden, daily, $30.50. Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo, daily, $39.50. Cody, Wyo., daily, $31.40.

World's, Wyo., daily, $31.40. Thermopolis, Wyo., daily, $35.00. Sheridan, Wyo., daily,