Mr. Clarke was twice speaker of the house, presiding at the essions of the thirtieth and dirty-first general assemblies and was nonored by being given the unanimous vote of the republican caucus and unanimous election by the house, without any candidate being entered against him, an honor never given any other speaker in Iowa. Mr. Clarke has steadily refused to enter the race for lieutenant governor. On the evening of the state convention republicans from every section of Iowa gathered in a room at the Savery and met with Mr. Clarke, who had been sent for earlier in the day and their urging, was so strong that his entering the race was almost im perative. Furthermore within the last few weeks many standpat newspapers have year, and the culture book supplants Kerr's unqualifiedly endorsed Mr. Clarke. Since is considered that his candidacy will b The Nebraska Teachers' Reading Circle | nonfactional. There are two other candidates in the field, Mr. Bernard Murphy of

To Inspect Statue. Governor Cummins, Auditor Carrell and Secretary of State Hayward are in cago inspecting the bust of Senator Harlan, which has been prepared by Miss Nellie V. Presidential Electors. There is some discussion on the proposi tion of presidential electors in political circles. The Tenth district caucus held during the state convention suggested a Touth district man for one. None of the other districts have suggested anyone, Usually the nominations are made at the district conventions. This year the nominations will be made at the primary on June 1. Each congressional district has one elector and there are two at-large. The natter is of some importance just now because there is not any too much time left for prospective candidates to circulate their petitions and get their names electors-at-large there is some mention of Senator Dan Turner of Adams county and R. T. St. John of Riceville.

Smiff Case on at Logan.

LOGAN, Ia., March 20.—(Special.)—A. H. Shiff, editor of the Missouri Valley News, is now on trial for the second time, charged with the killing of M. E. Brundrige of Missouri Valley. Yesterday, until about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the time was spent in the selection of a jury. Owing to the absence of C. W. Kellogg, the local attorney for the defense, ex-Senator Allen and Mr. Gillilland were compelled to pass upon the jurors from the developments of the examination only. A few witnesses for the state were examined yesterday on pre-timinary matters over which there is no controversy. Though it has not been officially confirmed, yet it is believed that C. W.
