

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Values Steady but Dull and Cash Demand is Disappointing. INTERMITTENT CALL FOR FLOUR. Country Acceptances Are Lighter and Receipts Are Expected to Show a Decrease from Now On.

OMAHA, March 24, 1908. Grain values held steady, but dull; cash demand was disappointing and millers reported a materially decreased demand for flour. Country acceptances this morning were light and the receipts are expected to decrease from those of a declining nature.

Corn values were firm but dull; offerings were light and this feature was the one factor that held prices from a decline. Demand for extra quality corn will depend mainly upon graving conditions. May wheat opened at 89c and closed at 90c.

NEW YORK STOCKS AND BONDS

Market Rises Sharply Because of Supreme Court's Action on Rate Case. MOVEMENT BECOMES IRREGULAR. Speculators Take Advantage of the Advance to Realize Profits and Movement Becomes Uneven—Trading Active.

NEW YORK, March 24.—The market today showed a sharp advance in the general market because of the Supreme Court's decision at Washington against the National Electric Light and Power Co. The late advance in the market yesterday was not unexpected in the scope of the decision.

The principles laid down in the decision are held to provide a measure of relief to a situation which the fears of the financial world had turned with most anxiety.
