GUN PLAY IN COURT ROOM

Man at Terre Haute, Ind., Convicted of Arson Shoots Four Officers.

CHIEF OF DETECTIVES KILLED

Tragedy Marks End of Sensational Trial of Prisoner Charged with Dynamiting Church and Two Stores.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 3.—Found guilty of a charge of arson, Henry F. McDonald, in the circuit court yesterday shot and killed William A. Dwyer, chief of detectives, seriously wounded other officers and was himself seriously wounded. The shooting followed the announcement of the verdict of the jury before which McDonald had been on charges of dynamiting stores and churches in Sandford last year. When the jury reported its verdict McDonald jumped to his feet and drew a revolver. He fired at prosecuting Attorney James A. Cooper, Jr., but missed. Mr. Cooper dodged and McDonald directed his fire at the officers seated around the table. Without an opportunity to defend himself Detective Dwyer was shot down. Almost in an instant police officers and deputy sheriffs in the court room drew their revolvers and opened fire on McDonald. The convicted man fell with half a dozen bullets in his body.

Three Other Officers Shot.
Harvey V. Jones, superintendent of police, was shot in the side. Deputy Sheriff Ira Williams sustained a wound in the chin. Sylvester Doyle, city court bailiff, was shot in the leg. Another shot struck a bystander.

The shooting was the result of a sensational trial, which was bitterly contested. McDonald was known to be a bad man, but he had been permitted his liberty during the trial. The police department was active in the case and several officers were in the court room to hear the verdict. Officers had expected some demonstration, but they were not expecting such action.

When McDonald drew his revolver he aimed at Mr. Cooper. The prosecutor tipped his chair backwards, the first shot went wild and the second bullet struck the table at which Mr. Cooper had been seated. Before Detective Dwyer had time to move the third bullet killed him. By this time the police and deputy sheriffs began firing. McDonald fell to the floor, apparently dying, but later was taken to St. Anthony's hospital, where it was said he would recover.

The jurors jumped to their feet at the first shot. Judge J. T. Walker, one of the attorneys, tried to stop McDonald, but his action only hindered the officers, who were afraid of hitting him when they shot at McDonald.

Police Keep Crowd Back.
Judge Crane, who presided throughout the trial, rose from his chair and ran to the railing by the jury. The spectators were rushing out and confusion was everywhere. Persons in the offices below heard the shooting, rushed to the upper floor and they collided with the people leaving the room. A crowd of about 1,000 collected around the building in a few minutes and the police had to be called to prevent the angry people from forcing their way into the court house. Everyone about the room was dazed by the tragedy. Some of the persons said McDonald's brother had a revolver and also fired with the defendant. The officers are looking for the brother.

Events which culminated so tragically had their origin in the dynamite outrages that destroyed the Methodist church and the general stores of Schickel & Johnson, and J. W. Rees of Sandford on the night of February 12, 1907. Henry McDonald and James Scanlon were arrested the next day, charged with the crime. In a former trial the jury stood eleven for conviction. Scanlon has not been tried.

William E. Dwyer, the dead man, was chief of the Terre Haute detective bureau. He was well known throughout the country, and had worked on several big cases. He was active in getting evidence which convicted McDonald.

PRESSURE ON CONGRESSMAN
Charge that Boat Company Coerced Michigan Man Into Supporting Submarine Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—That an attorney of the Electric Boat company was pressing and "bearing down" upon a member of congress in reference to submarine boat legislation was the charge made today before the special committee of the house investigating the charges against the Electric Boat company. The charge was made by Frank L. Robinson of Bay City, Mich., a state senator and former private secretary to Congressman Loud, of that state, who is a member of the house committee on naval affairs. Mr. Robinson testified that the attorney in question was D. W. Gordon, and that the member of congress whom he was pressing was Mr. Loud.

Mr. Robinson was not a willing witness and at first refused to answer certain questions on the ground that they were confidential owing to the fact that he had been private secretary to Mr. Loud, but Mr. Loud released him from such obligations and he then told his story.

Mr. Robinson produced an anonymous letter which he said, he had received in Bay City, on February 17, from Washington, D. C., stating that Mr. Loud had voted for the $1,000,000 grant for the naval committee that there was a story in circulation that the Holland people had secured a prominent attorney to become a candidate for congress against Mr. Loud, that Mr. Loud had finally agreed to vote for the submarine bill on condition that the attorney withdraw as a candidate.

The other witnesses of the day were Elias T. Berger, former president of the Berger Submarine Torpedo Boat company and August Treadwell, Jr., assistant secretary-treasurer of the Electric Boat company. Both denied that their companies had used any improper influence to secure favorable legislation.

Mr. Lilley today made a statement correcting part of the testimony given yesterday before the committee of the house by Mr. Franklin Taylor of Waterbury, Conn. In this statement Mr. Lilley referred especially to Mr. Taylor's announcement concerning his inquiry.

On that point he said: "Mr. Taylor stated that he heard me say in the Waterbury club before about a dozen gentlemen that I expected an adverse report from the committee and that I would go on the floor of the house and tell all I knew about submarines. His testimony differs only in the following particulars:

"While taking lunch at the Waterbury club some one present asked me what would happen if the committee reported adversely. It was at that moment, as I remember, that Mr. Taylor entered the room and he heard only my reply, which was that in the event of an adverse report I would still have the privilege of making an argument on the floor of the house to present my side of the case."

Quant and Curious Features of Life in a Rapidly Growing State.

Style—Some Women are so fond of feathers and furbelows that they will have a fine Easter hat, even if their shoes are run over and ripped.—Fremont Tribune.

The Cost—They say that a woman this spring has to buy $10 worth of hair to balance up under a $5 hat.—Norfolk News.

His Condition—An Auburn man told an Auburn haired lady not to get red-headed about something; the attending physician says all he needs now is quiet.—Auburn Granger.

Suggestions—Postmasters are to be urged by the department to add to the word "postoffice" on the signs which designate their respective offices, the name of the town in which the office is located in order that "drivers of automobiles and pedestrians" may not have to ask citizens the name of their town. The Republican suggests this amendment to the order of the department: Drivers of automobiles, hobbos and other pedestrians shall wear upon their hats or other public places upon their persons, printed cards bearing their names and postoffice addresses, in order that citizens may not have to ask who they are and where they come from. This would afford protection to the public and relieve the police department of the towns of a great deal of personal impertinence to strangers.—Pawnee Republican.

Appetites—Will Lin and "Shorty" Nelson started the hotel girls at Bridgeport the first of the week by eating ten pounds of fish between them. They were, with several other persons from this locality, summoned to Bridgeport on a series of non-tests which the government has instituted for the recovery of sundry lands. In looking over that prospective future metropolis, these two noticed some fine fish in one of the markets, upon which "Shorty" offered to bet the drinks he could eat more fish than Bill, who immediately called his bluff. Bill thereupon invested in ten pounds of nice fresh halibut. The hotel folks and mutual friends became interested, and this fish-eating contest furnished diversion for the witnesses, who had a rather tedious time of it, as the court proceedings dragged. Lin won the bet but they had about cleared the platter of the pounds of fried fish when Nelson gave up the contest. There is some doubt as to whether the debt was paid in Bridgeport, as neither of them had any appetite for food or drink for a couple of days after their piscatorial feast.—Bayard Transcript.

What's in a Name?

There is nothing in a name in a Tenderloin rooming house. A theatrical manager who, for convenience sake in order to be near his theater, lives in a house in one of the roaring forties, was very much annoyed the other day to find in his mail a letter addressed to a young woman bearing the same name and initials

Fourteen Years of Pain

Mrs. G. H. La Beaumme, De Soto, Mo., praises the wonderful health-giving qualities of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

Four fourteen wearisome winters grip and the 'tired feeling' were her constant companions. Duffy's restored her to vigorous health.

In gratitude Mrs. Beaumme writes: "I have been a sufferer from Grip for 14 winters. When cold weather set in I would have those miserable aching pains, and a tired feeling which never left me till warm weather. Just before Xmas last I had a terrible time with Grip and a cough, also a severe pain in my left side. I had often been advised to try your Malt Whiskey, but as I had often tried various remedies I was skeptical and concluded there was no relief. However, as I was made a Christmas present of two bottles of Duffy's I used it, and before I had finished using them I felt so much better that I used four more bottles, which stopped the aching pains, the cough, the pain in my side, and made me feel like a new person generally. I shall always have some in the house, for it has certainly done wonders for me."—Mrs. G. H. La Beaumme.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain; great care being used to have every kernel thoroughly malted thus destroying the germ and producing a predigested liquid food in the form of a malt essence, which is the most effective tonic stimulant and invigorator known to science; softened by warmth and moisture its palatability and freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach.

If you wish to keep young, strong and vigorous and have on your cheeks the glow of perfect health take Duffy's pure Malt Whiskey regularly according to directions. It tones and strengthens the heart action and purifies the entire system. It is recognized as the great family medicine everywhere.

CAUTION—When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. It's the only absolutely pure medicinal malt whiskey and is sold in sealed bottles only; never in bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Price, $1.00. Write Dr. R. Curran, Consulting Physician, for a free illustrated medical booklet and free advice. Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.
