FOUR IDENTIFY MARSHALL

Despite His Accusers Colored Man Pleads Not Guilty.

WILL NOT WAIVE PRELIMINARY

Asserts He Will Prove He Was Elsewhere When Assaults Charged Against Him Were Committed.

Ben Marshall, the negro arrested Thursday, charged with assaulting women and suspected of being the murderer of Josephine Rummelhart, October 7, 1906, was arraigned in police court Friday morning on two charges, one for assault with criminal intent in the case of Mrs. Anna Grabowski, the night of March 28, and the other for attempted assault on Miss Mollie Gran on the night of April 4.

To both charges Marshall pleaded not guilty. He refused to waive preliminary examination and said he would get witnesses to prove that he was elsewhere at the time the assaults were committed.

"I'll bet $100 I ain't going to be jobbed," he shouted as he was led away.

The preliminary examination will be held next Tuesday morning. Four persons have positively identified Marshall as the negro who attempted to assault Miss Gran at Seventeenth street and the Burlington tracks last Monday evening. One of these is Miss Gran herself, who appeared at the police station Thursday afternoon and identified Marshall.

Albert E. Spear, night yard clerk; Patrick Mahan, flagman, and Carl F. Roud, yardmaster, who heard Miss Gran's cries and who saw the negro run and pursued him until he disappeared, also came to the station Friday morning and positively identified him.

That Marshall's criminal operations have been wider than the police suspect is indicated by the fact that F. A. Haight, 621 South Nineteenth street, went to the station Friday morning and identified Marshall as one of two negroes who knocked him down and robbed him under the Burlington bridge which crosses South Twenty-fifth street. This happened the night of March 18.

Mrs. Anna Grabowski identified him as the negro who attempted to assault her the night of March 28 at the south end of the Twenty-fourth street viaduct. Besides his short stature and complexion, a particular feature of the identification given by the two women was the coat worn by Marshall when he was arrested, a medium colored gray plaid mixed with a dark stripe. This coat was described by both of the women following the time the negro had a struggle with each of them.

BICKNELL YOUNG ON SCIENCE

Lecturer Defines Eddy Doctrine as Works Taught by Jesus Christ.

Bicknell Young, member of the authorized board of Christian Science lecturers, addressed the Scientists of Omaha and their friends at the Auditorium last evening, having a good sized audience and telling of the mission of the science.

The speaker, who is one of the best informed of the Scientists and a pleasing lecturer, took up some of the objections which have been raised against Christian Science recently and eulogized Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the church, as a benefactor to the human race.

Mr. Young said in part: "Jesus, the Christian religion, taught and illustrated in His works an exact, unflinching knowledge of God which is the very essence of science. His method, admittedly Christian, must be acknowledged as pure science by anyone who cares to look for the truth. The face, Christian Science, therefore, is a name which, given to the method, designates it accurately and satisfactorily. In Christian Science the seemingly contradictory statements of the Bible are reconciled as the spiritual import of the words is more clearly discerned. 'Science and health, with key to the scriptures,' by Mary Baker Eddy, is more than a commentary on the Bible, for it gives the meaning of the principles and rules of the science which it contains. The world has longed for a solution of the problems of human existence.

We acknowledge that the absolute statements as to the unchanging nature of God as good, as to the divine facts of His omnipotence, omniscience, and omnipresence, are contrary to human experiences, and because human experiences are afflictive and unlike the creations of God, the heart of humanity cries out for deliverance. The way of deliverance, as taught in Christian Science, is to maintain unswervingly the divine and scientific fact in relation to God and His kingdom, the face of all sin, sickness and death; in other words, to confront bravely the problems of life with the science of life, and solve these problems step by step.

Mrs. Eddy, the discoverer and founder of this science, has been one of the greatest benefactors of the human race. She has maintained that science is purely spiritual, free of all materialism, and that the material theories concerning both religion and science, which have met all criticism in the way that Jesus taught. She has practiced the gospel which she teaches, the gospel of Christ, the gospel of love. Standing alone through years of trial and persecution, naturally of a modest, shrinking disposition, not desiring the plaudits of the world, and yet impelled and supported by a power far beyond and above herself, Mrs. Eddy, among women, is a figure unique in history.

The present mission of Christian Science is to bring about the normal conditions of mind, body and environment. Christian Science discloses the action of pure and noble thoughts, not only upon what is called the human mind, but also upon the human body. It gives us a never-failing test; it shows us that God is mind, and that as there is one God there is one mind. It teaches us that every human impulse, every thought, by its variable standard and to seek ourselves continually how does God think about this or that. In this way the day of judgment, as our text book says, 'Comes hourly and continually.'

At the Theaters

"Lost in New York" at the Krug

That old-time favorite melodrama, "Lost in New York," opened a three-night engagement to a well filled house at the Krug theater Thursday night. Notwithstanding the number of times this production has been seen in Omaha, "Lost in New York," depicting many phases of the cosmopolitan life of the big city, never fails to draw well at the box office. The cast of the present company is all that could be expected and the stage setting, illustrating Blackwell's island, the insane asylum and Madison Square garden, are very realistic. A number of pleasing specialties are introduced by members of the troupe throughout the course of the play. "Lost in New York" closes Saturday night, with the usual Saturday matinee.

BARON SAYS NEVER ARRESTED

Louis de Ginzberg Defends Himself Against Report from Kansas City.

Baron Henry Louis de Ginzberg, the French nobleman at the county hospital who says he is a second cousin of Prince Hilde de Sagan, takes violent exception to the press dispatch from Kansas City to the effect that he was arrested there some years ago for creating a disturbance at the residence of Webster Davis, former mayor and former first assistant secretary of the interior, and treats with contempt the assertion that he is not a baron or not of a noble French family. The baron also denies with emphasis that he is a pauper, though an inmate of the county hospital. He left the hospital yesterday long enough to come to The Bee editorial rooms and make a statement.

"Webster Davis and I met at Pretoria," said the baron. "I went there in the interest of the Boers. He said he did. I turned over to him for the Boers $50,000 of my own money."

It was over the handling of this money, the baron says, that trouble arose between him and Davis. He says the money was not devoted to the Boer cause.

"I went to Kansas City and in public speeches denounced Webster Davis, but I was never arrested. Davis appealed to Mayor Reid for protection. Chief of Police Hayes told me one day that if I didn't get out of town by 6 p. m. he would have me arrested. I was making a speech down on Main street. I had no watch and I asked the crowd what time it was, saying I had to leave town at 6 o'clock. A man told me it was 6:15. I finished my speech and spoke that night."

"Did I leave town?" No, I staid there and boarded at the Lynch hotel, Fifth and Cherry streets, for four months after that and I was never arrested, either. I was never arrested in my life and I was never a pauper in my life. And I never got my money back, either, that I put up for the Boers."

The baron exhibited wounds on his lower limbs which he said were inflicted by Mausers. He also exhibited letters and printed matter to confirm his claim to nobility.

TEN CENTS CONSCIENCE COIN

Money Held Back from Street Railway Company Ten Years Finally Comes.

Ten cents was added to the conscience fund of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway company Friday by a man from Linn, Kan., who failed to sign his name. He said that he had visited the in 1898 and that he had ridden to and from the grounds without paying his fare. He explained that the car was crowded and the conductor failed to reach him, but his conscience troubled him because he had made no effort at that time to try to get his fare to the conductor. After suffering mental anguish for ten years he returned the 10 cents.

WORK OF THE WOMEN'S CLUBS

Special Rates Granted Club Women to Boston Biennial Next June.

OMAHA WOMAN'S CLUB ELECTION

Some of Strongest Women in Organization to Come Before Club as Candidates Next Monday.

The bureau of information of the General Federation of Women's Clubs has issued the following budget of interesting information for club women who expect to attend the ninth biennial at Boston next June:

The transportation committee takes pleasure in reporting that reduced rates for the ninth biennial convention to be held in Boston in June, 1908, have been authorized by the New England Passenger association for all lines but the Eastern Steamship company, and by the Trunk Line association. The lines included in the latter are the Grand Trunk, New York Central, Hudson River, West Shore, Erie, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Lehigh, Central Railroad of New Jersey, Philadelphia & Reading, Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio.

The rate is one fare and a third, certified plan. A fee of 25 cents will be charged for each certificate issued.

The local biennial board has offered to provide headquarters for state and territorial delegations without charge. Will the presidents of state and territorial federations kindly inform the chairman of the local committee at once regarding the probable size of their delegations, that the necessary arrangements may be made? A notification as to the location of her state headquarters will be sent to each president one month before the opening of the biennial. Mrs. Ella C. R. Winton, chairman of the committee, 50 Myrtle avenue, Dorchester, Mass.

Presidents of state and territorial federations and presidents of clubs belonging to the General Federation are earnestly requested to send a complete list of their delegates and alternates as soon as appointed to the chairman of the credentials committee, Mrs. W. Bell, 13 Avon Place, Springfield, Mass.

Omaha Woman's Club Election.

Through a mistake in the announcement members of the Omaha Woman's club have been somewhat confused in the date of the club's annual election of officers. The election will take place next Monday, April 13, instead of April 27, as announced. Only three of the present executive officers are eligible to serve another term. Mrs. J. H. Dumont, first vice president; Mrs. W. M. Alderson, second vice president, and Mrs. N. H. Nelson, assistant treasurer. It has been several years since there has been such general interest in the election of club officers and Monday afternoon's meeting will probably call out the largest attendance of the year. Several of the strong women of the club are understood to be candidates for the presidency and of these Mrs. Edward Johnson and Mrs. J. H. Dumont have the largest following. Both women have rendered splendid service to the club and both are recognized among the strongest in its membership. Little has been heard of candidates for the other offices until this week, but the interest seems to be growing and practically every woman in the club is manifesting a keen interest in the result of the election.

NEW STRENGTH FOR OLD BACKS.

When past middle age, there comes a noticeable weakening of the organs of the body, and the danger of quick decline. It is quite necessary to give prompt help to any part that first shows signs of wear.

Healthy kidneys mean a hale old age. Weak kidneys bring a constant backache, lame back, stitches and twinges of pain, annoying urinary troubles, and the danger of diabetes or Bright's disease. There is likely to be a loss of albumen and a gain of uric acid and other poisons, with loss of flesh, vigor and nervous force.

Doan's Kidney Pills bring quick help to sick kidneys, and are entirely free from poisonous drugs; it is a remedy that can be taken by young or old, weak or strong, and in every case with prompt benefit.

If you have backache, lame or weak back, quick pains when stooping or lifting; if you are tired and nervous, have headache, dizzy spells, watery swellings under the eyes or around the ankles, rheumatic or neuralgic pain, gravel, scalding urine, too frequent passages, sandy or stringy sediment in the urine, scanty or discolored urine, or passages at night, be sure your kidneys need attention.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the best medicine to use. It has cured thousands and will cure you.

OMAHA PROOF.

Mads Johnson, 2202 Clark St., Omaha, Neb., says: "My opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, publicly expressed in 1899, has not changed and I am still confident that this remedy will cure any case of kidney trouble. When I first began using them I was in a miserable condition as a result of the kidneys not performing their functions properly. My back ached constantly and I was finally obliged to lay off from work. When I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I started their use, and they afforded me prompt and effective relief. Doan's Kidney Pills act up to all the representations made for them and I feel it my duty to speak in their favor."
