

What Women Are Doing

Ten Thousand a Year for Girls at 17.
MISS OLGA ROOSEVELT of New York, a maid of 17 years, will inherit $10,000 equivalent to nearly her entire trust, to do the dress and accessories of one or the thousand of social life. Having inherited a fortune from her mother, she has induced her father and mother, Robert B. Roosevelt, to apply to the court for an increase of her allowance from $200 to $1,000 a year.

"For education, maintenance, and support and enabling the defendant to live in a manner befitting her station in life," are reasons given in Mr. Roosevelt's petition.

Miss Roosevelt, although worth nearly $200,000 all told in her own name and accustomed to every luxury, is nevertheless a painstaking student at a private school in West Fifty-sixth street. She daily goes over her Latin and calculus, and, bravely at least, disregards the luxuries of life.

"I believe the most important thing is education," said Miss Roosevelt, "so I work."

"I certainly am fond of society, and it is often hard to compromise upon dresses, but somehow I manage to do so. Any girl who fails to do her share of work, to my mind, loses her genuine claim for pleasure."

With there are many ways of spending one's money—just as there are ways of spending time," declared the young heiress. "The lounge, the sofa alone makes a congenial hole in one's income. I am fond of flowers and an occasional dinner party, and I never could get along without a box of candy at a matinee. All these things cost you know."

"But that would not cost $1000 a year," was objected.

"Certainly not. You forget that I have to clothe myself. My mother's maid cost me more than $1000 last year. You see, I have gone out more lately and those are new expenses. I found myself quite pleased with the little boxes, so I made Father to raise it. It took a lot of coaxing."

"Of course, it would seem funny to point to mention the price of one's shoes. However that cost me $20," confessed the young woman.

The Shop Girl.
Alice Calvin has had something to say in the Outlook on "The shop girl" for whom you think not all has been done that might be. Books have been provided her in all decent shops, she has been given more time for lunch and lunch rooms have been provided in several cases, but Miss Calvin considers that not enough effort has been made to insure the health of her maids. The facts of this side of the question are covered by the suggestion that the shop girl, who is the natural outgrowth of the cash girl in many instances, is looked after in her first stages—or should be by her own family, and by the time she is 18 or 20, when she has risen to stand behind the counter instead of running errands, she is old enough to take care of herself. She perhaps should be, but often is not. What opportunity has she for instruction with her long and tiring day? She sometimes is true, if ambitious, attends the evening school, and is perhaps a member of the Young Women's Christian Association and finds the relaxation she needs there.

But the shop girl is young, and she wants and needs books, entertainment, and if she hasn't good taste to deter her, she attends dances, moving-picture shows and vaudeville, and usually of the poorer sort, for she hasn't the money for better things, and she starves her stomach for amusement when she gets it. The common wage of the shop girl is from $6 to $12 a week—rarely more. When she has paid for board, room rent and bought the clothes she must have, what is there left? Very little. Nothing, if she seeks to make a little provision for a rainy day, or help her family.

The expense of dress is the greatest pull on the girl's wages. The employees demand that the girl dress well—and it is as necessary for him that she should do so, as for her. The customers are prejudiced against the shop when the girls don't look neat and prettily dressed. This means loss of an outlet than she can afford. She must spend more time than she should, cleaning, mending, and as far as little articles go, laundering. Miss Calvin says: "Think of the clean, white, shirt-waist required every day in summer, and yet there are shops that leave the customer time after a certain date, about the middle of May, employees must appear in white waists. This means the additional expense of at least 15 cents a day to the washerwoman, or extra work at night."

"And how quickly clothes wear out for the girl who works all day; stockings severs, skirt-brides, and the occasional tear that quick moving seems to bring upon her! After struggling for months half nourished and half tired out, her face begins to look strained and worn; the customer and the manager prefer people who look well and alert, and these? The shop girl has found only one solution; she is young, too, with a normal craving for pleasure."

Miss Calvin is of the opinion that "the big expense of dress could and should be eliminated. A shop could not only adopt, but provide a uniform for its employees." This is a reasonable suggestion. If all girls were dressed alike there could be no spirit of emulation, causing extravagance. In those shops where black is obligatory, there was much opposition at first, but none now. Miss Calvin proposes a dress of black brilliantine made with tailored shirt waist and skirt, which would be becoming, inconspicuous, and economical. The difference in hair and cosmetics when on the street, would preclude all effect of uniform and remove the only sensible objection. The remedy for the present frequent examples of bad taste in the shop girls would be provided, a pleasing effect insured, the drain on the purse removed from the shop girl, better yet, a temptation to take the long offered by the wrong person.

House Flies and Stickiness.

"It has been demonstrated," says the Chicago News, "that ordinarily the principal agent in the spread of typhoid fever is the common house fly. This American insect is also instrumental in carrying into homes not otherwise seriously exposed to the germs of enteritis, cholera, scarlet fever and other diseases. Because it penetrates everywhere unless special means are taken to exclude it the offensive vermin conveys upon its feet from garbage pile to dinner table whatever noxious germs chance to cling to it."

"Gentlemen would require it to be banished from the household even if it were not the inveterate enemy of public health. Thus early in the season the home-makers of the city should enlist in a general war upon the house fly."

"Intelligent efforts to banish the insect would prevent much sickness. The presence of this common pest should not be tolerated in the home or in any place where food is exposed or stored. Those who sell supplies for the table should be required to shut them away from the polluting presence of the winged frequenter of gar-

Savings That Are Appreciated BY PRACTICAL, ECONOMICAL PEOPLE

THE VAST RESOURCES of our buying organization have been at work in all the furniture markets of America for months, gathering in home furnishings on which we can guarantee PRACTICAL SAVINGS TO PRACTICAL PEOPLE. The goods are of that sturdy, dependable quality that appeal to sensible people and the saving possibilities should also be highly appreciated. We have taken advantage of the unusual market conditions and are now able to more thoroughly than ever establish our reputation as the MOST ECONOMICAL HOMEFURNISHING INSTITUTION IN OMAHA.

GENEROUS CREDIT CHEERFULLY GIVEN

Morris Chair
Solid Oak . . .

5.25

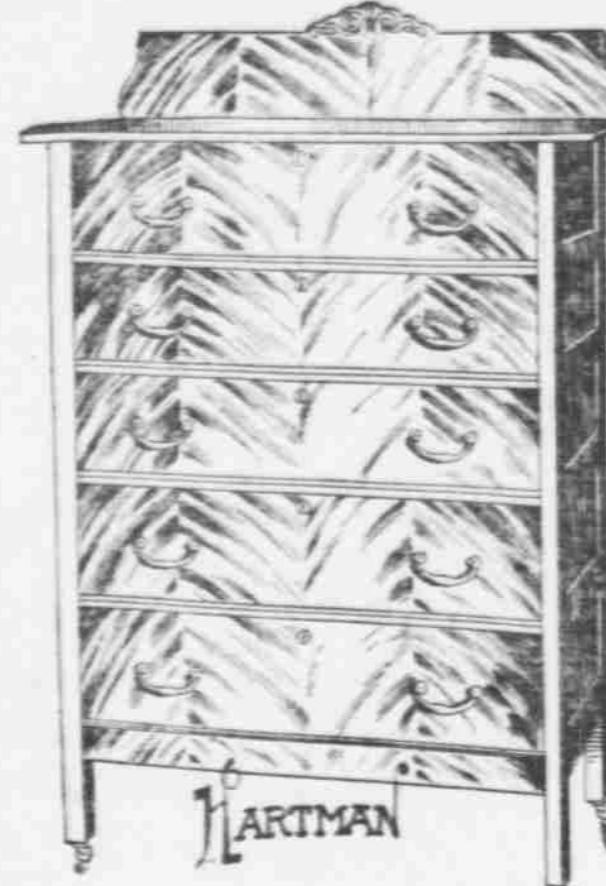

HARTMAN

REMARKABLE SALE OF COUCHES

15% off. Couches to be cleaned out at factory cost, positively the greatest selection of thoroughly dependable Couches in the history of Omaha. Prices represent just the actual cost to make 24 couches upholstered in genuine leather, up from $14.00 to $18.00 each, up to $30.00 in genuine Nantucket leather. Furniture is sold at a loss. In fact, we are compelled to accept returns, clearance begins

9.75

Beautifully
Illustrated
Catalog
FREE to
Out of Town
People.
Write for One.

HARTMAN
SOLID OAK—FIVE
DRAWER CHIFFONIER 4.98

Never before have the people of Omaha been offered a value to equal this one. This chiffonier is made of selected solid oak, hand-painted. 5 large, roomy drawers, solid cast brass drawer pulls, spacious top, strongly constructed and thoroughly guaranteed. It is a world beater at the price.

Every Article
Guaranteed
as Represented

LET HARTMAN
FEATHER YOUR NEST

Goods
Sold Anywhere in the United States on Our Generous
Credit
Plan.

Nantucket Leather
ROCKER For . . .

5.85

This Rocker is of above very handsome design. The frames are made of artistic leather, deeply tufted, have ruffed edges, also ruffed front to seat. Look all over Omaha and you'll not find the equal to this value.

THREE PIECE PARLOR SUITES

These parlor suites are made in mahogany finish of fine workmanship throughout. They are upholstered in deep buttoned, plushable material with valuable combinations. You can't possibly duplicate this value elsewhere in Omaha. We guarantee it.

18.89

Dresser in Oak or Mahogany Finish 8.25

Solid Oak Bookcase 12.75

Remarkable Savings in Our Carpet Department.
35 Per Cent
Reductions.
No Charge
for Sewing or Laying Carpets.

It is just like illustration, made of selected solid oak, neatly carved and highly polished. Has fancy shape French plate mirror. It's a most extraordinary value at the price. On sale all week.

Folding, Reclining Go-Cart For . . .

7.25

Has a full woven body of East India reed. Is easily converted into reclining cart and folds compactly. Has green enameled gear-ring steel wheels and extra large rubber tires. It is simply one of our many extraordinary Go-Cart bargains. On sale all week.

Folding Go-Cart 2.90

This Go-Cart is exactly as shown in illustration. Large steel wheels, rubber tires, handles and frame of seamless steel, riding extremely easily. It is a very light and durable cart, folds compactly with one movement, step and all.

Student's Table Solid Oak—For 3.25

5. Rooms

Furnished Completely for $87

$9 Cash

$6 Monthly

This table is made of solid oak, nicely polished, round legs, turned and flat. Spacious top, roomy drawer. It is a tremendous value and cannot be duplicated in Omaha at the price.

Economical Refrigerator 7.75

5 Rooms

One Special Offering from our extensive line and numerous bargains. This Refrigerator is constructed with a new scientific cold air circulation, and is a wonderful economical refrigerator. It is lined with galvanized iron and packed with charcoal.

4 ROOMS
Furnished Completely for $69

$7 Cash
$5 Monthly

Penestal Extension Table — Solid Oak 14.75

This table is very massive in design, with extra heavy base and carved feet. Made in a most thoroughly dependable manner and fitted with Hartman's easy running slides. Specially priced the week.

Hartman's New High Arm DROP Machine 18.75

The best Sewing Machine that was ever invented, and the lowest in price. It's an improved high arm machine, with all the new improvements, with ball bearing stand, latest improved spring tension, cylinder shuttle, automatic bobbin winder, self setting needle and many other valuable features. It represents the highest type of efficiency and durability. It's a superior machine offered now at a ridiculously low price.

The sewing machine has given no greater pleasure than the uncomplaining herculean that characterizes it than the way in which a woman sinks her own taste and inclinations when she comes in contact with men. Take, as an illustration, the thousands of women who, with perfectly serious faces, pretend to be expert, to enjoy amateur games, and to play golf.

To begin with, as we have seen, the very talents that are necessary to the profession of being a woman. Especially in the matter of capturing a husband. A man may be as God made him; but a woman, heaven help her, must be as a man wants her to be. When St. Paul gave the advice to be all things to all men, he was doubtless addressing the sisters at Ephesus or Corinth; and the admittance still holds good.

The feminine sex has given no greater pleasure than the uncomplaining herculean that characterizes it than the way in which a woman sinks her own taste and inclinations when she comes in contact with men. Take, as an illustration, the thousands of women who, with perfectly serious faces, pretend to be expert, to enjoy amateur games, and to play golf.

As a matter of fact, women hate exercise. They hate doing things that make them perspire and messy, looking red in the face. They're very high heels and tight shoes so long that they have great difficulty walking. It hurts, and twisting around after a ball is not fun anyway, except that you are trotting at the heels of a good-looking man. Same way about all the balance of the strenuous games.

The feminine sex has given no greater pleasure than the uncomplaining herculean that characterizes it than the way in which a woman sinks her own taste and inclinations when she comes in contact with men. Take, as an illustration,

the thousands of women who, with perfectly serious faces, pretend to be expert, to enjoy amateur games, and to play golf.

As a matter of fact, women hate exercise. They hate doing things that make them perspire and messy, looking red in the face. They're very high heels and tight shoes so long that they have great difficulty walking. It hurts, and twisting around after a ball is not fun anyway, except that you are trotting at the heels of a good-looking man. Same way about all the balance of the strenuous games.

The feminine sex has given no greater pleasure than the uncomplaining herculean that characterizes it than the way in which a woman sinks her own taste and inclinations when she comes in contact with men. Take, as an illustration,

the thousands of women who, with perfectly serious faces, pretend to be expert, to enjoy amateur games, and to play golf.

As a matter of fact, women hate exercise. They hate doing things that make them perspire and messy, looking red in the face. They're very high heels and tight shoes so long that they have great difficulty walking. It hurts, and twisting around after a ball is not fun anyway, except that you are trotting at the heels of a good-looking man. Same way about all the balance of the strenuous games.

The feminine sex has given no greater pleasure than the uncomplaining herculean that characterizes it than the way in which a woman sinks her own taste and inclinations when she comes in contact with men. Take, as an illustration,

the thousands of women who, with perfectly serious faces, pretend to be expert, to enjoy amateur games, and to play golf.

As a matter of fact, women hate exercise. They hate doing things that make them perspire and messy, looking red in the face. They're very high heels and tight shoes so long that they have great difficulty walking. It hurts, and twisting around after a ball is not fun anyway, except that you are trotting at the heels of a good-looking man. Same way about all the balance of the strenuous games.

The feminine sex has given no greater pleasure than the uncomplaining herculean that characterizes it than the way in which a woman sinks her own taste and inclinations when she comes in contact with men. Take, as an illustration,

the thousands of women who, with perfectly serious faces, pretend to be expert, to enjoy amateur games, and to play golf.

As a matter of fact, women hate exercise. They hate doing things that make them perspire and messy, looking red in the face. They're very high heels and tight shoes so long that they have great difficulty walking. It hurts, and twisting around after a ball is not fun anyway, except that you are trotting at the heels of a good-looking man. Same way about all the balance of the strenuous games.

The feminine sex has given no greater pleasure than the uncomplaining herculean that characterizes it than the way in which a woman sinks her own taste and inclinations when she comes in contact with men. Take, as an illustration,

the thousands of women who, with perfectly serious faces, pretend to be expert, to enjoy amateur games, and to play golf.

As a matter of fact, women hate exercise. They hate doing things that make them perspire and messy, looking red in the face. They're very high heels and tight shoes so long that they have great difficulty walking. It hurts, and twisting around after a ball is not fun anyway, except that you are trotting at the heels of a good-looking man. Same way about all the balance of the strenuous games.

The feminine sex has given no greater pleasure than the uncomplaining herculean that characterizes it than the way in which a woman sinks her own taste and inclinations when she comes in contact with men. Take, as an illustration,

the thousands of women who, with perfectly serious faces, pretend to be expert, to enjoy amateur games, and to play golf.

As a matter of fact, women hate exercise. They hate doing things that make them perspire and messy, looking red in the face. They're very high heels and tight shoes so long that they have great difficulty walking. It hurts, and twisting around after a ball is not fun anyway, except that you are trotting at the heels of a good-looking man. Same way about all the balance of the strenuous games.

The feminine sex has given no greater pleasure than the uncomplaining herculean that characterizes it than the way in which a woman sinks her own taste and inclinations when she comes in contact with men. Take, as an illustration,

the thousands of women who, with perfectly serious faces, pretend to be expert, to enjoy amateur games, and to play golf.

As a matter of fact, women hate exercise. They hate doing things that make them perspire and messy, looking red in the face. They're very high heels and tight shoes so long that they have great difficulty walking. It hurts, and twisting around after a ball is not fun anyway, except that you are trotting at the heels of a good-looking man. Same way about all the balance of the strenuous games.

The feminine sex has given no greater pleasure than the uncomplaining herculean that characterizes it than the way in which a woman sinks her own taste and inclinations when she comes in contact with men. Take, as an illustration,

the thousands of women who, with perfectly serious faces, pretend to be expert, to enjoy amateur games, and to play golf.

As a matter of fact, women hate exercise. They hate doing things that make them perspire and messy, looking red in the face. They're very high heels and tight shoes so long that they have great difficulty walking. It hurts, and twisting around after a ball is not fun anyway, except that you are trotting at the heels of a good-looking man. Same way about all the balance of the strenuous games.

The feminine sex has given no greater pleasure than the uncomplaining herculean that characterizes it than the way in which a woman sinks her own taste and inclinations when she comes in contact with men. Take, as an illustration, the thousands of women who, with perfectly serious faces, pretend to be expert, to enjoy amateur games, and to play golf.