

Old People Must Give the Bowels Help

The muscles of the bowels become less active with age. They must have help. That help should be regular. Don't wait till you need something violent. It should be gentle and natural. One can't take harsh physic persistently without inflicting harm. People who must take laxatives regularly should take nothing but Cascarets.

Salts and pill cathartics irritate the bowels until the lining grows calloused. Then one needs larger doses. They irritate the stomach, too. Their constant use always leads to dyspepsia. Cascarets are gentle. Their regular use is never injurious.

Take one tablet as often as necessary to insure one free movement daily. Learn how much help you need. Then be persistent and regular. Never give the poison a chance to accumulate. Keep yourself well. You would wreck the bowels if you did that with harsh cathartics.

GREAT PROMISE FOR TENNIS

Coming of the Australasian and British Cracks to America.

CHAMPIONS OF GAME ARE COMING

Wilding and Brookes and Doherty Will Play American Cracks at Newport During Next August.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Great interest has been aroused among lawn tennis players by the reports that Anthony D. Wilding, the Australian, may come over here this summer, accompanied by Norman E. Brookes, the great left-handed player, who won the all-England single championship last year. If these players come here, in addition to the British players, this will be the greatest season lawn tennis in this country ever has enjoyed. Although all these players are eligible for the national singles at Newport in the week of August 15, they will not be able to go after the doubles title unless they get here early enough to enter the qualifying tournaments.

How to lift the Davis international challenge cup is the problem which now takes first place in the thoughts of tennis players. Dr. James Dwight, president of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association, and the executive committee have begun a task not at all easy. The opening negotiations for the matches Dr. Dwight has handled with such diplomacy that the appearance of the Australasian, Brookes and Wilding, is assured, in addition to the English team. This is a feather in the cap of the present lawn tennis administration, provided the American wielders of the racket of the top flight support the game as they should, and it now appears evident they intend to do so. "This country must surely put its best and boldest to the front this year," was the declaration of a great player only a day or two ago. "The national loyalty of every American follower of the game should be brought out as never before, for what it will relatively amount to is that not only will the tie matches between England and America be decided in this country, but in a sense the pseudo challenge contests for the cup itself."

On July 6 the southern doubles will be played at Atlanta. The western doubles come on July 25 at Chicago. The eastern doubles are at the Longwood Country club following July 27. Players must win one of the three tournaments to qualify for the east against west doubles on August 13, 14 and 15. The play on the Crescent grounds in turn qualifies for the challenge round at Newport against Frederick B. Alexander and Harold H. Hackett, who won the national title last year.

Hugh L. Doherty, who, it is hoped, will come to the United States this summer, is the only foreigner who has won the American title in singles since the beginning of championship lawn tennis here in 1881. He won in 1903, that ill fated year, when the Davis cup went from our shores not to return until—perhaps 1908. Dr. W. V. Hayes won the all-comers in 1892 but R. D. Doherty beat him in the challenge round. Reginald F. Doherty won the all-comers in 1902, but William A. Larned defended the national title successfully. Hugh Doherty did not come to America in 1904, so the title he won passed by default to Holcombe Ward. The Dohertys won the doubles championship in 1902 but R. D. Doherty was the victor in that contest. The effect of a visit of such players as Brookes, Wilding, the Dohertys and some others of the first rank ought to be a great improvement in the quality of play in this country.

NEW RULES TO GOVERN THE FEET

Suggestions that Put a Bit of Handicap on Service.

LONDON, May 16.—During the winter the season of enforced inaction for the majority of English lawn tennis tournament players, the question of making some alteration in rule No. 7, which deals with the method of service, has provided a topic of discussion provocative of varied opinions, and it is feared, little finally. At the annual meeting of the Lawn Tennis Association, held last November, S. A. E. Hickson, who has made this thorny subject his special care, and advocates reform with a pertinacity worthy of a better result, succeeded in getting a committee appointed to consider the matter. This committee went about its work in the most businesslike way by getting the suggestions for reform narrowed down to three issues and circulating all the clubs affiliated to the Lawn Tennis Association in order to find out their views upon the different proposals.

These proposed alterations may be summarized as follows:

1. To require the server to keep both feet on the ground behind the base line until the service was delivered.
2. To allow the server to raise one foot during the act of serving, provided such foot is replaced behind the base line before it or the other foot touches or crosses the base line.
3. To allow the server to raise one foot during the act of serving, provided such foot is behind the base line at the actual moment of delivery of the service.

This third proposition contains the principle of the rule which has been in existence for some years with the remaining detail of the rule put into more intelligible English than has been the case hitherto. A fourth proposal was also put before the affiliated clubs, suggesting the drastic innovation of only allowing one service under whatever rule might be adopted.

As might have been expected, the replies received by the Lawn Tennis Association committee exhibited a delightful diversity of opinion, for a question of this kind is the one on which nearly every player has his own pet theory of what ought to be done. Taking, however, the replies in bulk it has been made clear that players generally, conscious, no doubt, of their own fallings, will have nothing to do with the proposal that one service only be allowed, while, although proposals one and two have each received considerable support, there is a majority of those in favor of the third proposal, viz., to leave the law as it is, only put into clearer language, over the combined supporters of the first two proposals.

The council of the Lawn Tennis Association, therefore, in considering its committee's report, resolved to recommend the adoption of proposal No. 3 at the next annual meeting of the Lawn Tennis Association, and to communicate its decision to the United States Lawn Tennis Association, with a view to obtaining American acquiescence in the necessary verbal alterations. In this the council has shown its possession of sound common sense, for it is in the last degree improbable, had either of the other propositions been adopted by the council, that the United States Lawn Tennis Association would have been inclined to agree with them, since any alteration of the rule in the direction indicated would have gone far to qualify the efficacy of what was becoming known as the "American" service. The Americans, however, should find no difficulty in adopting the view taken by the Lawn Tennis Association, and therefore international differences, which might result in disaster to the game, will almost certainly be avoided.

The real difficulty, however, lies, not in the wording of the rule, but in the enforcement of it by umpires. It is not too much to say that the umpire is in a position from which it is quite impossible for him to tell whether the rule is being infringed, unless the infraction is extraordinary glaring. When there is a line man, he can generally tell if the rule is broken, though until a face of linesman can be evolved with eyes arranged vertically instead of horizontally, even these officials cannot always be certain.

It is in the direction, therefore, of considering how the rule, if passed at the next annual meeting of the Lawn Tennis Association, can best be enforced that the council should direct its attention, and with a body so really representative of lawn tennis players as the council it should not be impossible to evolve some method, even if it should take the drastic form of directing umpires to foot-fault a player unless they are satisfied of the absolute fairness of his delivery—to give the benefit of the doubt, in effect, to the striker-out, and not to the server.

GOLF ON THE EASTERN LINKS

Busy Season Indicated by Program Now Laid Down.

SCHEDULE FULL FOR SIX MONTHS

Three National Championships Set Eastern Courses and a Lot of Local Events of Importance.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Fortune has been kind to eastern golfers this year. Only a cursory glance at the season's schedule is needed to show that important tournaments will follow each other in rapid succession during the next six months. To begin with, there are the three national championships, all to be decided over eastern courses. The amateur feature, regarded in this country as the blue ribbon event of the year in American golf, will claim attention at Garden City the entire week, beginning Monday, September 14. Garden City is no stranger to golfers. In fact, it was there during the summer of 1907 that the amateurs competed for the national title and the final was made memorable in more ways than one. Since then many improvements have been made on the course.

On August 27 and 28 the well-known links of the Myopia Hunt club, near Boston, will once again become the scene of a national competition. The attraction will be the open championship, which has already been held three times over the Hamilton links. Until the tournament awards were made at the last annual meeting of the United States Golf Association, it had been expected that the west would put in a bid for the open, rather than let the 1908 season pass without one of the three national attractions. But the professionals are not so eager after nearly so much in this country as abroad. One direct offer for the open was received from the Englewood Golf club, while Herbert C. Leeds, in behalf of Myopia, stated that his club would be willing to take the open, provided it was held the latter part of August. When put to a vote nearly all the delegates declared in favor of Myopia.

Pros. Boycott Myopia.

Since then some of the professionals have gone on record with statements to the effect that they would not play at Myopia because of alleged shabby treatment in former years. The fact remains that the delegates at their annual session voted for Myopia, and it is certain that the United States Golf Association will hold it there on the dates assigned, no matter what action may be taken by the "pros." As for the links Myopia has always ranked as the best golf course in the United States.

The other national tournament is the women's, to be held on the Chevy Chase links at Washington October 19 to 24. This will be the first time in the history of American golf that a club so far south has been selected for a national championship. It was claimed at the meeting by W. J. Morgan, secretary of the United States Golf Association, that a serious mistake would be made in sending the women to Washington, where there are practically no women golfers. The delegates then lost no time in voting almost unanimously in favor of Chevy Chase, despite the fact that the women had in writing communicated their preference for the Philadelphia Country club. But after all, it must be a matter of opinion whether or not the delegates acted wisely in their distribution of the three national plums. At any rate, New England and more particularly Massachusetts, with their beloved Myopia, are again satisfied, while New York, who are naturally charmed over the prospect of having the amateur at Garden City. As for the women's event, those who successfully pulled the wires in favor of Chevy Chase can at least claim a certain amount of credit for missionary work, and possibly if the departure results in an awakening of interest on the part of the southern women, the sacrifice will not have been made in vain.

DEMAREST GOOD AS PROFESSIONAL

Maurice Daily Pays Amateur Championship High Compliment.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Maurice Daily, the well known billiard expert, gives his imprimatur to Calvin Demarest as follows: "Demarest is a great player and almost fit to cope with our best professionals. He has courage, stamina and lots of billiards. He has brought amateur billiards upon a plane with the professional and has demonstrated that the love of the art will surpass the commercial side of it. However, I think for future contests he is too strong, for very few amateurs will devote the time necessary to attain Demarest's speed. I am afraid, therefore, they will be obliged to relegate him from the ranks in order to have future tournaments. Professional billiards would be a gain if Demarest should join its ranks, for we would then have another young man in the field to contend with Hoppe, instead of old men like Blosser, Schaefer, Sutton and mostly all the rest."

STANFORD AT THE CHICAGO MEET

Committee in Charge Accepts the Entry from California College.

CHICAGO, May 16.—The committee in charge of the western conference intercollegiate track meet which is to be held here on June 15 has accepted the entry of a team proposed by Stanford University, and the California collegians are hoping for great things from their athletes. This meet will be Stanford's first appearance against the middle western colleges since they were represented by Coe, the great hammer thrower, several years ago, and the men entered for the meet have marks that promise well for their performance this year. The fund being raised by the undergraduates at Stanford to send the team to this city has reached the $1,000 mark, and in order to aid in the financing of the trip arrangements are being considered for a dual meet with the University of Colorado, to be held on June 2.

NO NEW GOLF RULES THIS SEASON

Royal and Ancient Will Not Put Changes Into Force.

GLASGOW, May 16.—Golfers will be interested to learn that in regard to the new rules of the game, on which a special subcommittee of the Royal and Ancient club has for some time been engaged, a motion will be put before the spring meeting of the club this month suggesting that a special meeting of the Royal and Ancient be held on August 31 to consider the draft of the new rules preparatory to their being finally passed at the autumn meeting in September.

The draft of the rules has been completed by the subcommittee, but their adoption at the May meeting is now out of the question, so that they will not come into force this season.

S.S.S. HEALS OLD SORES

The deep, underlying cause of every old sore is a bad condition of the blood. This vital fluid has become infected with some germ or poison which prevents the place from healing. This infection may be the result of an inactive, sluggish condition of the system leaving the refuse matter of the body to be absorbed into the circulation instead of throwing it off through the usual channels of nature. Another cause is the weakening or polluting of this life-stream from hereditary taints, or from the effects of a long spell of sickness, leaving disease germs in the system. When the blood is in this condition a sore cannot heal because the impurities with which the circulation is filled are being constantly discharged into the place to irritate and inflame the tissues and further disease the surrounding flesh. The only treatment that can do any good is one that removes the cause, and for this purpose nothing equals S.S.S. It begins at the fountain head of the trouble and drives out all germs, impurities and poisons, and then the place, being supplied with rich, pure blood, heals naturally and permanently. Local applications assist in cleansing the place, but a cure can only be effected through a purification of the blood. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free.
