Francis Knowles Dies Suddenly.

Francis George Krowles, a retired farmer, died sudenly of heart failure at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Kiel hotel. where he had been a guest for several days. Mr. Knowles, who was 71 years of age, had not been in good health lately, but stated vesterday morning that he was feeling better than he had for several days. After partaking of a hearty dinner, he lit a cigar with friends. He had been seated but a few noments when he complained to one of his friends of difficulty in breathing. Little was thought of this until a couple of minutes later one of the men seated near Mr. Knowles noticed his head fall back against the chair and the cigar drop from his mouth. Hastening to his side, his friends discovered Mr. Knowles was dead.

Mr. Knowles was well known in Council Bluffs and Pottawattamie county, having lived on a farm in Keg Creek township for thirty years. After the death of his wife in July, 1905, Mr. Knowles turned the farm over to his son, Fred, and since then had spent much of his time in Council Bluffs, sometimes stopping at the Kiel

ROBBER ATTACKS AN OLD WOMAN Beats and Pinches Her, but Secures No Money.

"Aunty" Anna Price, an aged woman and Council Bluffs, who lives alone in a restreet, was attacked and beaten Tuesday night by an unidentified man, who invaded her home with the evident intention of robbing her.

According to the report made to the police yesterday morning it was about 9: Tuesday night, when the man broke in the door of the shanty and endeavored to force and sat down in the hotel lobby to converse the old woman to reveal the hiding place of the money he supposed she had concealed about the place. When the unfortunate woman insisted that she did not have any money the intruder pinched her face and neck until they were black and blue and this torture failing to accomplish the purpose sought, the brute then choked and beat the old woman, leaving her unconscious. As far as could be learned vesterday the fellow failed to secure any money. City Physician Tubbs went to see the old woman as soon as the report of the assault reached police headquarters, but found she had started out on her daily rounds of selling artificial flowers and other knick-knacks. Those who met the old woman tramping the streets yesterday said her face was covered with black spots, where she had been pinched.

Although it is generally rumored that the old woman, who is extremely miserly in her habits and mode of living, has considerable money concealed about the shack she occupies, the police believe the reports ar without foundation, "Aunty" Price has well-to-do relatives, who have repeatedly offered her a home, but she has persistently refused to leave the shack she calls home or accept assistance from her relatives. Although over 70 years of age the woman recently grew a full new set of teeth, which she proudly displayed in her rounds about the city.
