BISHOP WALTERS IS LAID TO REST

quent conferences with President Wilson and other prominent democrats regarding recognition of Colored Democrats. He was one of those who are said to have been instrumental in getting the reappointment of Judge Robert H. Terrill confirmed by the United States Senate. He did not succeed in landing any big position for a Colored democrat, however, as President Wilson reconsidered his determination to appoint a Colored man as Recorder of Deeds for the District of Columbia.

THE COUNTRY IN BRIEF

Colored teachers, along with whites, have petitioned the school board of Norfolk, Va., for a salary raise.

The school board of Sadlertown, Pa., is considering the advisability of establishing a night school for Colored adults.

Prominent Colored citizens of Atlanta met recently to consider plans for helping Colored soldiers fighting with the French army.

The annual report of the Chicago Colored Y. M. C. A. shows 1,814 members. It has a flourishing automobile school, and was presented a new Studebaker car during the year. Julius Rosenwald also gave $1,000.

Mrs. R. E. Jones, of New Orleans, wife of the editor of the Southwestern Christian Advocate, died recently, following a long illness.

The annual session of the National Negro Press Association was held at Nashville last week.

The Solvent Savings Bank and Trust Company, of Memphis, Tenn., observed "Thrift Day" Saturday, Feb. 3, and many persons opened accounts.

THE SPIRIT OF L'OVERTURE STILL LIVES

The news comes from the little Republic San Domingo that the people are still defying the United States. They are more than suspicious of the brand of justice offered under any kind of arrangement with this country. They are descendants of the great general, Toussant L'Overture, who did not hesitate to lead his soldiers against the "Legions of France" under Napoleon, and who was only conquered through treachery. The spirit of their great leader still flows in their veins and they demand freedom in its highest sense. They point with scorn to the so-called justice accorded the other Colored citizens of the great United States, and say the great republic had better learn how to treat the loyal Colored men of their own land before they seek to add more Colored men to their so-called burden. So say we all.—Philadelphia Tribune.
