BERG RE-OPENS

Berg, the Omaha clothing firm so well known to Monitor readers, has just re-opened for business after the disastrous fire some time ago. Their new place is not so large as formerly for the sole reason that locations are hard to secure, but for what it loses in size it makes up in exquisite refinement. It appears somewhat more exclusive, but this is only seeming. The same democracy exists and the same high quality and reasonableness in prices holds sway. Our readers will find the new Berg shop at 1415 Farnam and on 17th and Farnam is located the new Berg shop for ladies.
