NEBRASKA AND IOWA ARE MUCH IN NATION'S EYE

Just now Nebraska, Iowa and Omaha are occupying more than ordinary interest in the public eye nationally. Two main reasons prompt this favorable attention—the response of this section to all national appeals, notably the Red Cross, Liberty Bonds, enlistments, etc., and then the condition of crops in this great agricultural section.

Without exception this section has more than responded to its apportionments in all requests. Patriotism is at a high ebb and it is patriotism based on fundamental love of country and unselfish devotion to its requirements. And, above all, the responses have been unostentatious,—they have been just the sort of responses that would be expected from a liberty appreciating and loving people.

Its response to food production has been in keeping with all other requests. Most conservative estimates place the corn acreage in Nebraska this year at over nine million acres, practically a one-third increase, which should mean a production of more than 200,000,000 bushels of the necessary food.

South Side Notes

Mrs. Nellye Corbin Wilson left Monday, July 2, for her home in Kansas City, Kan. Mrs. Wilson came here to take her sick brother home, but his illness would not permit her to do so.

Mr. A. F. Wilson, her husband, will be in Omaha July 10 at the Knights of Tabor grand session. She hopes her brother's health will be sufficiently improved so he may take him home.

Mrs. Annie Riederick of 2514 J street, who has been seriously ill for two weeks, is much better, but still unable to be out.

The Mission Circle of Bethel Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Rattie Orvin, Twenty-eighth and U streets.

Miss Coreasia Broomfield, the Allen chapel delegate to the Sunday School convention, returned last week. Miss Droomfield brought back a beautiful report from the convention.

Rev. T. A. Taggart left Thursday, July 5, for Chicago, where he goes to spend his two weeks' vacation. We wish for him a pleasant and restful trip.

Little Amy Fisher of 5907 South Fifteenth street is a little better after being seriously ill for about three months.

The Fred Douglass Literary club met Friday night at Bethel Baptist church. The subject for discussion, "Which exerts the greater influence over man, love or fear?" was ably discussed by Mrs. Estella Andrews and Mrs. Thomas for the affirmative, and Mr. W. E. McGee and Miss Beatrice Stewart for the negative. The literary was well attended. A few minutes was given for open discussion while the judges were out, and every one was anxious to speak.

The picnic given by Bethel Baptist church Mission Circle at Riverview park was a decided success. It was very largely attended. Everybody enjoyed themselves just beautifully. After dinner was served games of basket ball and croquet were played, which even the older people seemed to enjoy as well as the young. We thank our many friends from Omaha who were over with us.
