MISS MARY WHITE OVINGTON TO SPEAK IN OMAHA

Vice President of the National Association for the Advancement of the Colored People Will Come to City for Organization July 28.

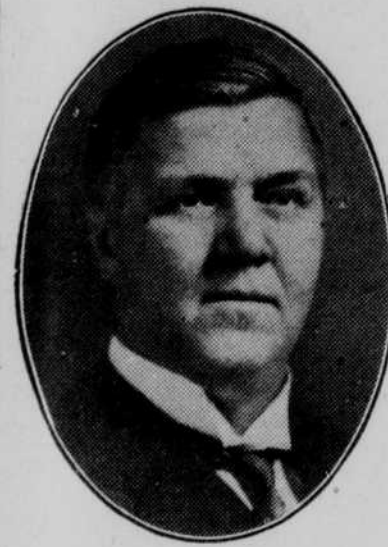

Miss Mary White Ovington, of New York, one of the vice presidents and organizers of the National Association for the Advancement of the Colored People, will arrive in Omaha July 27, and will speak at a mass meeting in the Grove Methodist Episcopal church, Sunday afternoon, July 28, at 4 o'clock on "The Aims and Work of the N. A. A. C. P." It is also proposed to organize at this meeting a local branch of this splendid organization which is doing such effective work throughout the country. In this respect Omaha lags behind Lincoln, Des Moines, St. Paul and several other cities.

Miss Ovington's self-sacrificing work for our people should guarantee her a crowded house. Bear the date in mind. Let nothing keep you away. Tell your friends, white and Colored, about this meeting. Talk it up. Get busy on your phone and crowd Grove church, Twenty-second and Seward streets, to overflowing, Sunday afternoon, July 28.

MRS. IRVING GRAY CALLED BY DEATH

A Prominent Church and Social Worker Answers Summons—Mourned by Many—Body Taken to Louisville, Ky., for Burial.

Sorrow, sincere and deep, filled the hearts of many when it was learned that Louise Hudson, the beloved wife of Irving Gray, of 2610 Seward street, and headwaiter at the Hotel Loyal, had died at the Swedish Mission hospital Sunday night, where she underwent an operation Wednesday afternoon. So serious was her condition when she was taken to the hospital that the outcome was considered doubtful. Hopes for her recovery were, however, entertained until late Sunday afternoon, when the turn for the worse came. Her husband and sister, Mrs. Gully, and her pastor were summoned to her bedside and the commendatory prayers of her church were said for the passing Christian soul. She passed away shortly after 9 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray came to Omaha about ten years ago, not long after their marriage. Always considerate and kind-hearted Mrs. Gray won many hearts by her devoted work of relief among all classes following the awful tornado of 1913. She worked night and day, with entire self-forgetfulness to relieve those in distress. Her devotion at that time was but doing on a large scale that which in a small and unostentatious way was characteristic of her during her residence in Omaha. Her good deeds were not of a trumpet blowing kind, but of the nature which are written in the book of remembrance.

Her activities in church work are evidenced by the fact that until other duties forbade she taught in the Sunday school, served as president of the woman's auxiliary, and at the time of her death was a member of the mission committee or vestry of the Church of St. Philip the Deacon, from which church the services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rev. John Albert Williams officiating. A large congregation of both races was present, and many floral offerings testified the high regard in which the deceased was held. The pallbearers were Messrs. A. Chisley, J. Ennis, C. C. Galloway, J. G. Jewell, S. L. Patton and George Watson.

The body, accompanied by Mr. Gray and Mrs. Gully was taken to Louisville, Ky., for burial. Mrs. Gray, who was 37 years old, is survived by her husband, her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Hudson of Louisville, Ky.; one sister, Mrs. E. D. Gully of Chicago, and two brothers who are in the army.

SOUTH AFRICAN, OMAHA VISITOR CALLED TO COLORS

Rev. M. G. Sishuba, missionary and a native of Queenstown South Africa and a student of Roger Williams university, Nashville, Tenn., who has been in this city for three weeks visiting his schoolmate, Mr. Leroy Kelley, addressed a large audience last Sunday night at Zion Baptist church, of which Rev. W. F. Botts is the pastor. He has recently been called by the British government to report for physical examination. He is a British subject, being born and reared in the southern part of Africa and came to the United States six years ago to be trained and educated in American schools in order that he might teach his people and lead them to Christ, which he found dear to his own soul.

He has made rapid improvement while here in America. He left Tuesday for British headquarters in Chicago, Ill., where he will be examined and from there to training camp in Canada.
