"DIGGING IN"

Passed by the Censor. Copyright 1918.

"Digging in." Next to his rifle the pick and spade are the doughboy's best friends. Trench building goes on all the time as the lines change and money from Liberty Bonds, turned into sandbags, lumber and wire, will follow these diggers up in making the newly captured positions permanent ones.

Near Cantigny a thin line of Americans lay out under a withering fire. It seemed as though every Hun infantryman had a machine gun instead of his rifle. The streams of hot metal whizzed but a few inches over the men as they lay flat, taking advantage of every hole and depression.

They were "digging in." Some were lucky and had shell holes to work from. Others were hugging the flat earth and making their own holes. One chap, however, seemed to be doing nothing.

"Dig in, man, dig in," his Lieutenant yelled at him. "I can't, sir. I've lost my tools," was the answer. "Bite yourself in, then," came back the order. "If that machine gun drops its fire an inch lower you are a goner!"

Digging in goes on all of the time at the front. The shovel is the doughboy's best friend, next to his rifle, and it probably saves his life often. With every move toward Berlin new trenches must be built and captured German positions turned to face the other way. When the shovels have done their part, wire, sandbags and lumber are brought up from the rear by carrying parties and the trench made permanent.

When the counter-attack comes, it is well built trenches that save lives among our men and enable them to hold the lines with the least loss. As they move forward a continuous stream of building materials must follow the troops, bought by dollars subscribed in this Fourth Loan. Liberty Bonds to the extent of $200 will buy entrenching tools for a company.

HOSPITAL FOR COLORED PEOPLE

St. Louis, Mo.—The Centenary hospital, at Garrison and Lawton avenues, is to be turned over to the city to be used for Colored people in the near future, according to a statement given out by Director of Public Welfare Mr. John Schmoll.

It is understood that a Negro physician is to have charge of this institution together with visiting staff, internes and nurses.

This will be the finest hospital operated by Colored people in the country.

According to present plans, possession will be had in less than ninety days, and all of the Negro patients at the present city hospital will be transferred to the new location.

THE FIGHTING LINE

When Jimmy went to fight the Hun
Across the briny sea
It seemed like setting of the sun
To Jimmy's ma and me,
And I opine we would repine,
But we've no time, you see.

For now that Jimmy's gone to fight,
To finish off the Hun,
If he's to do his fighting right
And get 'em on the run,
We've got to hustle day and night
A-backing up of son.

We don't get up at reveille
Or go to bed at "taps,"
But when the morning whistle blows
There's no more time for naps—
We've got to hustle shot and shell
And guns for all those chaps.

Jim's ma is raising garden truck,
One sister's making "sass,"
Another's in munitions,
And our only other lass
Will be a Red Cross nurse right soon,
She's leading in her class.

I'm working fifteen hours a day
And yet I'm feeling fine,
And when I do get tired I say,
Well, that's a certain sign
That I'm a soldier in my way
And on the fighting line.

—Ellis Meredith.
