THE SLAUGHTER OF THE INNOCENTS

Dr. Du Bois writes in the October Crisis: Attention has been called this year especially to the child and the United States government has been spreading widely the gospel of the preservation of child life. The death of some ten million men who would have been fathers of unborn children has made the world think of the horrors of war. And the greatest of the horrors of peace is the unnecessary and persistent slaughter of little children. It is a crime of every civilization and of every race, but we Negroes are among the guiltiest; among us from two hundred to five hundred of every thousand of our babies die before they reach one year of age. We have pleaded poverty, prejudice and slavery as excuse, but the time is come not to excuse but to combat with our own available weapons this murder.

The remedy is, first, care and forethought in bringing children into the world, and, second, pure food and air for them when they come. We persist in keeping windows shut and living indoors; we persist in buying food carelessly and feeding all kinds of food indiscriminately to children. Outdoor life and simple, pure foods regularly fed would save the lives of a quarter million Negro children each year.

SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MEN

The author of "Push" says, "Weak men wait for opportunities; strong men make them." This motto coming to the attention of a young man, who through adverse circumstances was forced to quit college in his second year, caused him to ponder and study it. His conclusion was: To be a success he must prove himself strong. As he had lost an opportunity to finish his education, he must carve for himself an opportunity in business.

He left his home in Missouri. Following Horace Greeley's advice, he came west and landed in Omaha; attempted a start several times in different lines, and as many times failed; but being deeply imbued with one of the four cardinal virtues, "perseverance," he tried again. This time real estate, and in looking over the transfers in realty transactions one finds that the late successful deals, among them the sale of Dr. W. W. Peebles' home to St. John's A. M. E. church for a parsonage, and from a prominent white physician a homestead to Mrs. Evelyn Davis of South Dakota, are due to the ability and efficiency of this prominent young business man and dealer in real estate and loans, H. F. McClure, 220 South Thirteenth street, where he will gladly welcome any prospective customers and all of his old friends.

THE OCTOBER CRISIS

The Crisis for October is the annual Children's Number. It contains photographs of seventy colored babies. The cover is a photograph from life by Scurlock. Two tales for little folk are published after Sir Harry H. Johnston, with illustrations by Laura Wheeler. There are two poems, "O Autumn, Autumn!" by Mary Effie Lee, and "The Black Madonna and Her Babe," by Lucy B. Watkins. Augusta Bird writes a striking essay on "Race Purity."

EVERYBODY NEEDS THEM

If you want your money's worth—yes, and double the value of your money—send us 50 cents and we will send you absolutely the biggest bargain yet offered in patriotic Negro pictures, which are in colors and ready to frame. We will also send you post-cards and, to be liberal, throw in a large assortment of Christmas cards. Do not put this off. Write today. Money orders or stamps.

South Side Notes

Mrs. Sophia Shepherd of Junction City, Kan., spent the last of last week and the first of this visiting her old friends in South Omaha. Rev. Shepherd, her husband, is a former pastor of Allen chapel, A. M. E. church.

Mrs. May Jordan of 2722 S street is seriously sick with pneumonia, following an attack of Spanish influenza.

Little L. Odessa Walker, aged 7, of 1712 South Eighteenth street, died Sunday of influenza and was buried Tuesday afternoon from the family home. The mother, Mrs. Olie Walker, is seriously ill with the influenza, also two other children of the family.

Services will be held at Allen chapel, A. M. E. church, Sunday morning on the church lawn if the closing order is not raised. There will be morning service and Sunday school only. Services as usual is order is raised.

Mr. Dewey and Ray Starks, two brothers, of 5709 South Fifteenth street, are both down with influenza, but both are doing nicely.

Mrs. Jane House, who has been in Chicago, visiting her son prior to him leaving for the camp, is expected home this week.

Rev. Mrs. Broadnax has her sister from Topeka, Kan., here with her for a few weeks' visit.

WILL RELEASE MINERS FROM THE ARMY

British Government Will Send 10,000 Back to Mines, Believing They Can Be of Greatest Service There.

So important is the mining industry to the success of the war that, according to word which has reached the Department of Labor, the British government plans to return 10,000 miners to their work, releasing them from the army. These men entered the military service voluntarily or under the conscription act, but because of the urgent need of their services at home they will be sent back to the mines.

Great Britain, according to some indications, is in danger of a coal shortage, and efforts are being made generally to speed up production. The output per man in England is not, from figures at present available, so good as in this country, where more coal has been mined than ever before despite depletion of labor power through enlistment and the draft.
