

OMAHA MANUFACTURING DOUBLES IN FOUR YEARS

OMAHA manufacturers produced $427,271,161 worth of merchandise during 1918, an increase of $100,000,000 or 33% over 1917, and double the figures of 1915.

These facts have been determined by an exhaustive survey just completed by the bureau of publicity of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce.

This increase is largely due to the increase in output and value of packing house products which was $97,000,000. In other lines the increases offset all decreases and left a balance of $3,000,000 increases.

The packing output of Omaha in 1918 was larger than the entire manufacturing output of Omaha in all lines in 1916.

Omaha has reason to believe that it still leads all large cities of the United States in its per capita manufacturing output.

COLORED WAITERS MAKE GOOD

Members of the New Omaha Athletic Club High in Their Praise of Mr. Irving Gray and His Efficient Corps of Waiters.

On December 14, the new Omaha Athletic club opened its doors to the public and became one of the sights among the many fine buildings that is making Omaha a city beautiful and known throughout the country.

As the opening of the club approached, Mr. Irving Gray, well known as headwaiter of the Loyal hotel, was commissioned by the committee on cuisine to secure a force of capable and efficient waiters to take charge of the dining room. At the time, the commission to secure a large number of men was something of a real task. The war had depleted the list of available men and all the hotels throughout the city were constantly sending out calls for waiters, good, bad and indifferent, just so they were waiters. But nothing daunted, Mr. Gray set to his task and when the doors opened he had a force of men really representative of the best to be had in the line of dining room service.

At the beginning, the men were paid $40 per month, board and a bonus of ten cents for every person waited upon. The bonus was something of a new idea and some men questioned the result, but now that the club is serving an average of 800 persons a day, the bonus has proven a most encouraging feature of the employment. So well pleased were the members with the service rendered, that on January 6, the salary of the men was raised from $40 to $60 per month and the bonus remaining the same. Hence the employment as waiter at the Athletic club has become something of a preferred job among the fraternity of Omaha waiters.

Mr. Irving Gray's staff of waiters is as follows: Dillard Simpson, head-

George Watson and Henry Innis, capwaiter of the grill room; David Russ, tains; Harry Schwein, timekeeper. The waiters are: Samuel Sutton, George Laws, A. Hicks, P. W. Jefferson, G. D. Gordon, Joe Brown, A. Howard, Thos. Phillips, Dad Clark, Roy McCormick, L. Briggs, W. J. Moss, W. C. Foster, E. L. Reid, J. D. Carter, W. D. Taylor, Tony Jackson, C. E. Russell, W. Luke, George Rawls, M. Davis, H. F. McClure, N. Morris, Robert Hunt, Calvin Ridley, A. H. Lawrence, A. Plummer, W. H. Peyton, Walter Bell, W. N. Moore and L. H. Gamble. The bus boys are: Frank Cunningham, Lester Price, Ben Simpson, Wesley Robinson and Frank Coe.

From the list it will readily be seen that the Athletic club force of waiters is now the largest of any in the city and it is to the credit of the headwaiter and men that they have done good team work and brought from the club high praise and substantial appreciation of their worth. The Monitor congratulates Mr. Gray and his men and hopes that they will continue in the future as in the past.

Dividends earned for members during 1918 $473,659.86, the aggregate of loans made being $997,940.78. The statement shows the total loans on first mortgages to be $9,842,989.71. Liberty bonds owned, $362,400.00; cash in banks, $445,636.01 and warrants and municipal bonds, $119,471.55.
