PAY FOR YOUR PAPER

The really cheap man or woman is the one who takes a paper, reads it and then runs when the collector calls to ask them to pay for it. Do you patronize The Monitor advertisers? When you fail to get your paper, don't holler. It must be that you owe something and haven't paid. It takes some folks a long time to learn that a newspaper isn't existing upon air.

POLICY OF THE POWERS WITH GERMAN COLONIES

Conferees in Accord as to Method of Procedure Affecting Teuton's Colonial Possessions—American Mandatory Plan Main Feature.

COLONIES NOT TO BE RETURNED

Allies and Associated Powers Are Agreed That Colonies Will Not Be Returned to Germany Because of Mismanagement and Cruelty, and Also for Military Reasons.

PARIS, Feb. 11.—The accord reached by the council of the great powers concerning the disposal of the German colonies and the occupied regions of Turkey in Asia is much more definite than was generally supposed. In addition to acceptance in principle of the American plan of mandatories, the plan embraces the following main features:

The allied and associated powers are agreed that the German colonies shall not be returned to Germany, owing, primarily, to mismanagement, cruelty, and the use of these colonies as submarine bases.

The conquered regions of Armenia, Syria, Mesopotamia, Palestine, and Arabia are to be detached from the Turkish Empire.

Provision is made whereby the well-being and development of backward colonial regions are regarded as the sacred trust of civilization, over which the League of Nations exercises supervisory care. The administration or tutelage of these regions would be entrusted to the more advanced nations, who would act as mandatories in behalf of the League of Nations.

These mandatories would not be uniform, but vary according to the degree of development of the colonial region and its approach to the stage of self-government. The mandates in Palestine, Syria, and other portions of Turkey where well developed civilization exists, would be comparatively light and would probably permit of provisional recognition of the independence of these communities.

On the other hand, colonies like those in Central Africa would require a mandatory with large powers of administration, responsible for the suppression of slave trade, liquor, ammunition and arms traffic, and the prevention of exercise of military authority on the part of the natives except for native police purposes.

Other colonies and localities, such as those in German Southwest Africa and some of the South Pacific islands, have such sparse and scattered populations and are so separated from other communities that the laws of the mandatory country would probably prevail in these regions.

The mandatories would report at stated intervals to the League of Nations concerning the manner in which a colony was being administered.

The foregoing general outline indicates on broad lines the terms whereby, it is stated, the conflicting views are finally reconciled and a common agreement was reached, acceptable to all the great and colonial powers.

"MOURNER" LAMENTS FOR WHISKY CORPSE

Federal Officers Find Coffin Loaded With Booze—Two Under Arrest.

Monroe, La.—As a final result of the rigid investigation instituted by federal officials after the discovery of whisky in a coffin labeled as the corpse of Lulu Crawford, Robert J. Cook, undertaker, his brother, and Dr. J. T. Miller, all of this city, and H. A. Dixon, undertaker of Waco, Tex., have been placed under arrest. The men are charged with violating the Reed amendment. They will be given a hearing before U. S. Commissioner A. P. McCormick in Waco, Tex.

Whisky Discovered.

The discovery of the whisky in the coffin was made by an express agent who noted the extraordinary weight of the "corpse." He was reluctant to notify the police at Dallas, Texas, where the baggage was sent, because of the weeping and mourning of William Crawford, supposedly a relative of "Lulu Crawford." Crawford's tears dried when an alarm was sent to the police station. When the officers arrived he was a calm as a lamb. During the period of investigation Crawford decided that a good run was better than a bad stand. He took to his heels.

Names Corpse Victor Hugo.

Since investigation started it has been found that a "corpse" left here Nov. 21, labeled "Victor Hugo." It was shipped to Waco, Tex., and contained several gallons of whisky. The practice, said a department of justice official, was for the undertaker at this city to go to a physician and get a death certificate for a fictitious personage. The death certificate was carried to the bureau of vital statistics, which issued a burial and transportation permit. Then transportation for the "corpse" and the "relative" were purchased. Each "corpse" was accompanied by a "mourner."

SURPRISE FOR BOTH

By EVA H. MARTIN.

"There, now!" said Rhode S., it's finished, and I'm glad, for it certainly has been a hard job, but it looks good, I'm proud of it, and I'm going to spend all my spare time knitting for the soldiers. They have hard jobs, too, at times. And when I stop to think of what they are doing for us, it makes me ashamed of myself for calling this a hard job. But it's the first knitting I ever did. And mother says, after I have finished two or three I'll be an expert. I wonder if I ever will; for when I look closely at this sweater I can see two drop stitches.

"Oh, dear me! I guess I'll have to rip this all out again, and pick them up, and they are fully four inches black."

"Say, Mabel, what would you do?" "If it were mine," said her sister, looking up for the first time during the conversation, from the sock she was about to finish, "I'd simply darn that place, and let it go at that. The soldier who is lucky enough to get it won't mind a little thing like that. And if he does notice it he will wonder who took the pains to mend it so neatly, and possibly try to learn who she is, and what she looks like."

"Well, to save him the trouble I'm going to write my name and address on a slip of paper and tuck it inside somewhere."

"Better still, put one of your little pictures in it, just for fun."

"No, I wouldn't like to do that. Some fellow from around here might get it, and think me a fine little goose."

"Oh, go on," teased Mabel, "it might prove romantic, and I'm sure none of the boys who know us will ever get it. But wouldn't it be fun if brother Bill were to get it himself? He certainly would think you had got to be 'some knitter' since he went to camp."

After much argument the photograph was chosen and tucked away in a little corner provided for the purpose, and the sweater, together with Mabel's socks, returned to the local branch of the American Red Cross, where it was packed in a box, with many other comforts for the boys who were to remain in a Western camp for the winter.

In due time the consignment reached camp, and each soldier received a comfort kit, in which were many useful and necessary articles.

One evening a few weeks later as Bill S. sat writing letters, he was surprised to see his old college chum, Jim W., reading a newspaper at the other end of the room, as he had heard Jim was in France months ago.

"Hello, there Jim, old man, how are you? Thought you were chasing the Huns back to Berlin long ago."

"No, I had hoped to be doing that, but our company has not gone across yet. We have been transferred here, and I can't say I like the change, for it is cold. I think I would have frozen stiff, only for this sweater I got from the Red Cross—fits like a glove; and see what I found tucked in the corner! Really, you'll think I've gone crazy when I tell you I'm in love with her. I dream of her, take this little picture out ten times a day and look at it and wonder if I'll ever have the good luck to meet her. Why, what's up, Bill? You look as though you recognized her."

But Bill only answered: "She's pretty, and I'm glad you like her. Hope she approves of you when you meet. I must get ready and finish my letters. I'm going home on furlough for eight days, starting tomorrow. I wish you could arrange it and come along with me. I've a little surprise planned for you."

"What's the surprise? No, you won't tell me. All right; I guess it's something like the pranks you used to put over on the old professor. Ha, ha!"

Two days later Bill and his friend, Lieutenant W., arrived at the S. home and were welcomed by Mrs. S., who said the girls were out, but would soon be back. Just then the doorbell rang and two bright young ladies rushed in and almost smothered Bill with embraces.

"There, there, girls! Hold off a minute until I present my old chum, Jim W." Then came the surprise. Jim at once recognized Rhoda as the girl of his dreams and darted some accusing glances at Bill, who was enjoying the joke to perfection.

"Say, what did I tell you, Jim! Some surprise, eh?"

The girls wanted to know what Bill meant by the "surprise," and Jim explained it by saying it was some of their silly college tricks he was referring to. But when he knew Rhoda better and had an opportunity to speak with her alone, he took from the corner of a certain brown sweater with a neat little mend in it the picture he had shown Bill, and told her the whole story, and more, too! Then was Rhoda surprised also, and very happy, and she promised Jim she would continue to knit for the soldiers, but would not put her picture in any more.

Nobility Well Housed.

Castles and palaces throughout Germany are innumerable. Karl der Grosse or Charlemagne, heroic founder of France and Germany both, had palaces at Aachen and Ingelheim, both near the Rhine, and ruins of which are still standing. Great is the number which have been erected since. The German nobility has always been fittingly housed.
