THE N. A. A. C. P. ELECTS DELEGATES TO CLEVELAND

A large audience comfortably filled St. John's A. M. E. church last Sunday afternoon at the regular weekly meeting of the local branch of the N. A. A. C. P. The president presided. This was the first meeting of the branch at which reports of the officers were read. The president submitted a brief report of his work since his election in November. The secretary submitted her report of the branch activities. There was an animated discussion and a wholly uncalled for attempt at filibustering over the election of delegates to the Cleveland convention. The executive committee had undertaken to elect delegates to the convention. The president, Rev. John Albert Williams, took the position in which he was sustained by the majority of those present, that the executive committee had no more business to elect delegates than it had to elect the officers of the association. Several speakers, among whom were J. D. Crum, J. N. Thomas, Dr. Madison and Nate Hunter, supported this view. Rev. W. C. Williams, Amos P. Scruggs and W. H. Ransome maintained that the executive committee had supreme power to transact all the business of the association. J. D. Crum called this oligarchy and not democracy. The Rev. W. C. Williams catechized the chairman as to his interpretation of the powers of the executive committee and asked what delegated authority meant. The chairman replied that powers of the executive committee were confined to those functions delegated to it by the constitution. There was divided opinion as to the number of delegates who should be sent, Miss Madre Penn, Mrs. H. W. Black and Cyrus D. Bell contending that the item of expense should be considered as a determining factor. It was finally decided to send three delegates. Four candidates were nominated, Rev. John Albert Williams, Miss Madre Penn, Mrs. Jesse H. Moss and Mrs. James G. Jewell. It was decided to dispense with a written ballot and to elect by a standing vote. As the president was a nominee he called Vice President Scruggs to the chair. Mr. Scruggs' arbitrary and railroad methods for the brief time he was in the chair were so unparliamentary and unfair that his actions were severely criticized. The Monitor contends that his actions could not be too drastically criticized. He refused to recognize persons who were perfectly in order and wished to speak and in his evident design to steam roll issues failed to put the proper question. When the president resumed the chair, the suspended rules of parliamentary procedure were resumed, the nominees were taken up in order and voted upon. Miss Penn declined to be voted upon, declaring that in her judgment the association was not in the position to bear such a financial strain as the sending of so many delegates would entail. The following were declared elected: Rev. John Albert Williams, Mrs. Jesse Hale Moss and Mrs. James G. Jewell.

The Rev. Dr. E. H. McDonald, a prominent Baptist minister of Pittsburg, Pa., was presented to the association and made a brief and most happy acknowledgement of his introduction.

The attachment which has resulted in this happy union began when Mr. Haynes was a student of the University of Pittsburg, where he specialized in chemistry and of which institution he is an honor graduate. The bride is a member of one of Pittsburg's first families and is a young woman of culture and refinement. Mr. and Mrs. Haynes will be at home after September 1, at 1119 North Twenty-first street. The Monitor extends congratulations.

CONDOLENCE COMMITTEE REPORTS

Omaha, June 5, 1919.

Mrs. Leila Walker Robinson,
Lewaro, Irvington on the Hudson,
New York.

My Dear Mrs. Robinson:

The Omaha branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, do hereby tender their heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family of Madame Sarah J. Walker, who passed away on the 25th day of May, 1919, at Lewaro, Irvington on the Hudson, New York.

Madame Walker conceived and achieved a success that is remarkable and distinctive. She was ambitious and proved herself to be a woman who was a financier of the first rank.

Her financial success, which was pronounced, and her fortune, which was colossal, are not the things which made her great. It was rather, the rare, sweet, simple spirit of the woman—the spirit of sympathy and helpfulness, and race loyalty. This is the thing that endeared her to all and has made of her life an incentive and an inspiration.

It has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst, and call from a wondrous labor to a just reward, your mother and our friend. It is easy to offer words of sympathy to those in sorrow; it is harder to fully suffer with them, but all of America mourns the passing of Madame Walker. Her portrait will ever be a vision before them.

Your loss is great; your grief greater; but greatest of all is the solace which comes from the abiding faith that what is the soul of Madame Walker shall never die. Comforting indeed are those words of Tennyson. We send them to you believing that their message will cheer you: Strong Son of God, immortal love,

Whom we, that have not seen thy face,

By faith, and faith alone, embrace,
Believing where we cannot prove;
Though wilt not leave us in the dust;
Thou madest man, he knows not why;

He thinks he was not made to die;
And thou hast made him; thou art just.

Thou seemest human and divine,
The highest, holiest manhood thou:
Our wills are ours, we know not how;
Our wills are ours, to make them thine.

Our little systems have their day;
They have their day and cease to be:
They are but broken lights of thee,
And thou, O Lord, art more than they.

Very sincerely yours, committee:
MADREE PENN, Secretary.
