

RACIAL FRICTION MUST GIVE WAY BEFORE PROGRESS

(By Associated Negro Press.)
Raleigh, N. C., July 3.—“We believe that the time has come when in the home, in the school, in the church, that factional differences, denominational strife, and racial friction should be lost sight of and the children and the people be taught their proper relation to one another and that all differences should be settled on the basis of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man.
So declared the report of the committee on race relations at the annual meeting of the Colored State Teachers association which adjourned in Raleigh yesterday after adopting the report which embraced this sentiment as a clause. In its closing session, the convention considered very seriously the question of race relations and the best ways of promoting a more sympathetic understanding.

Dr. A. M. Moore, in his presidential address before the body suggested that perhaps there is too much discussion of late about race antipathy, hatred and prejudice.

“Little headway can be made,” he added, “by continually nagging and complaining. The better way would be to seek wisely some plan to adjust frictional issues. Evidently the main accomplishment of the recent world war so far is that we have now a better opportunity to discuss peace terms than we had before. Men are entitled only to meritorious rights, or rights that come by virtue of their character, ability and patriotism.

“The duty of the hour,” he continued, “demands that teachers and leaders of both races apply themselves to the humane task of establishing amiable relations between the races. This must be done for the common good of all. The nightmare of social equality is the vitriol that poisons our political and national life. You, fellow teachers, must sanely teach, fraternity and fidelity, which, is practiced will solve the issues that distress us as citizens of the great American republic.”

The committee on race relations was composed of J. A. Cotton, Henderson; C. M. Epps, Greenville; W. A. Patillo, Tarboro; Annie W. Holland, Bayboro; J. E. Holder, Kinston; E. E. Smith, Fayetteville.

DR. DANIEL H. WILLIAMS PRESENTED LOVING CUP

(By Associated Negro Press.)
Chicago, July 3.—On the occasion of the Ninth annual session of the Pan-Missouri Medical association, which convened in Kansas City, Mo., last month, Dr. Daniel H. Williams, of this city was presented with a loving cup, sterling silver, and standing more than two feet high. It bears this inscription:

“Presented to Dr. Daniel H. Williams, A. M., M. D., F. A. C. S., by the Pan-Missouri Medical Association as an expression of appreciation in advancing the medical profession in this state and nation. Ninth annual session, June, 1919, Kansas City, Mo.; officers, Dr. J. A. Crossland, president; Dr. William J. Thompkins, secretary; Dr. J. F. Shannon, treasurer; Dr. E. C. Bunch, president Kansas City Medical society.”

The doctors of Missouri and Oklahoma are among the most progressive of the entire country.

CLORED MEN FIGHT BEST UNDER OWN LEADERS

(By Associated Negro Press.)
Cleveland, Ohio, July 3.—Emmet J. Scott, assistant to Secretary Baker, forecast the inclusion of a separate Negro division under Colored officers in the new regular army program, in an address before the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People held in St. John's African Methodist Episcopal church.

“The war,” said Mr. Scott, “has demonstrated that Colored men will follow their like into battle.”
While commending Secretary Baker for his effort to “act without prejudice toward the Colored soldiers,” he asserted there should have been 8,000 Colored officers instead of 1,200. This he said, is based on the number of Colored troops engaged, which was placed at 400,000.

NATIONAL HEADWAITERS CONVENTION BEST IN TWENTY YEARS

(By Associated Negro Press.)
New York, July 3.—The best annual convention of the National Association of Headwaiters held in recent years was held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week at the National Headwaiters of the Association, 436 Lenox Ave., New York City. The Association, which has been in existence for over twenty years and which takes into its membership headwaiters, side waiters and other employes connected with dining room service, has up to the convention this year, afforded death benefits for only men in the headwaiter class. An amendment to the constitution which was proposed by Dr. B. C. Waller, secretary of the association, was adopted and will give to the side men death benefits and other rights which have heretofore been confined to the men in the headwaiter class. This move is made to attract the side men to the organization and is carrying out an agreed plan for broadening the scope of activities of the organization.

The officers following were elected for the term of two years: President, A. M. Thompson; fist vice president, L. S. McLane; second vice president, W. E. Reed; third vice president, S. A. Patterson; secretary, Dr. B. C. Waller; treasurer, Jos. T. Lee. The members of the Board of Governors are elected are: Chairman, J. T. Brown, William Dill, Jos. Queenman, R. D. Brooks, N. F. Berry, J. A. Joyner, Thos. H. Alston, H. H. Ham, R. W. Bell.

INFORMAL MEETING OF NEWSPAPER MEN

(By Associated Negro Press.)
Chicago, July 3.—Clarence F. Sparks, business manager of the Dallas, Tex., Express, is in the city getting ideas in the interest of his newspaper, which is one of the most substantial of the race. Mr. Starks said to a friend: “I have come to Chicago to see how you boys put it over.” He has spent considerable time with members of the Defender staff, and made his headquarters at the Associated Negro Press offices, and has been extended every courtesy by the Fourth Estate workers.

In appreciation for this consideration, Mr. Starke gave a very delightful dinner in the Royal Gardens gold room. On this occasion ideas for newspaper betterment were exchanged. Those present beside the host were: Dr. Frank J. Hawkins, Dallas, Tex.; Claud A. Barnett, director the Associated Negro Press; Nahum Daniel Brascher, editor in chief of the Associated Negro Press; George-H. Walker, treasurer the Associated Negro Press; the following from the Chicago Defender staff, Phil A. Jones, business manager; Cary B. Lewis, managing editor; L. C. Harper, city editor; A. N. Fields, assistant city editor; Tony Langston, dramatic editor; and Willis N. Huggins, managing editor the Chicago Searchlight.

According to Roy Thomas, who has charge of this agricultural training the schools now being conducted are located in Pitt, Orange, Pamlico, Sampson, Berite, Martin, Johnson and Wake counties.
In addition to the course of instruction given, the pupils are cultivating 105 acres in crops and raising 35 animals as home project work.

BALTIMORE TO IMPROVE HOUSING AND HEALTH

(By Associated Negro Press.)
Baltimore, Md., July 3.—To improve housing and health conditions among the Negro population of Baltimore an effort will be made this summer to revive the work begun along these lines by a commission appointed by Mayor Preston in 1917. The commission had begun a city-wide survey of conditions in the Negro sections when its work was halted by the declaration of war.

It is said that the commission is now ready to take up the work where it left off, if the approval and cooperation of the present city administration can be obtained.

THE PERISCOPE

In the Enemies Lines
The formation of the Lincoln League of America is a new departure. The white south wishes it thoroughly understood and advertised that in the matter of dealing with the Negro, its ideas shall prevail. Counsel, co-operation or advise has been consistently and persistently resented, for the most part.

On the particular subject of voting, the white south has openly and boastfully defied not only the Negro, but the United States government. Thus far it has gotten away with both without any considerable trouble or worry. The strong possibility of woman's suffrage being attached to the constitution of the United States, has recently caused considerable worry, and movements of the Lincoln League kind are calculated to cause trouble, in the event that logic and reason are eliminated in the program—when it comes to dealing with the Negro, those two elements have never been pinacled, as it were.

The Urban League.

The National Urban League, of which Eugene Kinkle Jones is the chief executive force, has made a splendid place for itself in the economic life of the nation. This organization has been in progress for a number of years, and its work has been effective. The last three years, however, has seen tremendous growth, for with the great migration from the south, this organization has most effectively met the needs of the hour.

While there are branches in all of the larger cities, including New York, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis, Kansas City, and elsewhere, the Urban League of Chicago furnishes a ready point for illustration. T. Arnold Hill, a young man thoroughly qualified, is the executive secretary. The general offices of the work are in a splendidly equipped building on Wabash avenue. The budget the first year was $3,000; the second year $9,000; the third year, current, $16,000. As a matter of fact $25,000 should be the minimum considering the splendid work accomplished. In the adjustment of racial relations, creating a better understanding, solving the housing problems, providing employment for both men and women, and in many other respects, the Urban League is doing a righteous and necessary work.

Class Distinctions Must Go.

Delegates attending the jubilee convention of the joint centenary committee of the Methodist Episcopal church, held last week in Columbus, Ohio, sounded the keynote of present day problems by declaring that power, whether political, economical or industrial, must not be monopolized by one class to the detriment of the other, and that class distinctions must be abolished. Upon this rock, we build our church, “and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it.”

There is nothing like looking facts in the face and facing the issue. There is nothing to be gained by trying to fool one's self. The convention adopted resolutions stating that much of the present social unrest is due to conditions which had existed previously but were not recognized until demonstrated by the war.

The Mississippi Governor.

The governor of Mississippi, in his pigmy sense of justice has stated a fact. Previous to the lynching of another Negro, when appealed to for assistance, he declared his inability to do anything, and said: “Nobody can keep the inevitable from happening.” That, indeed, is a historical utterance that will be remembered with the great utterances of all times.

But aside from the fact that this tiny governor of state, where more than half of the population is Negroes, made this statement regarding the “inevitable” lynching of a dying man, it must be applied to him, and to all others and all things south, and north too, where prejudice, unfairness, and discrimination, of any kind to any and all, are practiced.

As surely as the sun shines, or as the stars twinkle, or as God is just—which he undoubtedly is—the inevitable is going to happen to all those who countenance or participate in any or all forms of crime or oppression. It is going to happen, calmly, orderly, and lawfully it is hoped, but God hasten the day.

Nevertheless, and notwithstanding, the Lincoln League of America has set out to perform a necessary task in a fundamental, progressive, intelligent, determined and conclusive way. The League is making no threats, but the whites have already done so to a number of the southern members who have declared themselves. It is to be hoped that the League will not weaken, and that southern buffoonery, so long practiced, will not alarm. The Negro must be accorded the privilege of voting in the south, and the southern whites—if they are superior as they claim—should be good sports and win or lose on merit.

Forging Ahead.

In the midst of the general social unrest, it is gratifying to note that many good things have been said in recent months in behalf of justice. The subjects touched have been many and varied, but for the most part come under the heads of patriotism, valor of soldiers, industrial opportunity, lynching and disfranchisement. Newspapers and public speakers, north and south, have had very favorable things to say.

It is now the unqualified duty of the race, in every part of the land, to work for the crystallization of these fine sentiments into concrete reality; in other words, proceed on the ground that they all meant what they said from their heart out, and not from their heads up. Put it up to them to deliver in concrete form; let the fine words be turned into living deeds, while the time is opportune, and before they forget. Now is the time to forge ahead. The American white people are very proud of their word—if they are properly reminded, or do not forget.
