FAIR LIMBS UNADORNED

As in the days before the war, Paris is taking on its old-time gayety. Always a leader in fads and fancies, Paris again strives to regain her pre-eminence. Our photo shows the latest sensation on the Bois de Boulogne, a French miss out for a stroll, her pretty limbs utterly devoid of any suggestion of hosiery.

POLKA-DOT DESIGN POPULAR

Has Risen to the Distinction of a Fad Among Society Women at the Nation's Capital.

The polka dot in its various expressions, from the tiniest dot to the coldest dot, seems suddenly to have "broken out" in Washington. Never a gathering these days of any particular moment that the silken fock with its polka-dot design does not appear. Miss Bertha Bolling, sister of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wears a simple frock of dark navy blue cotton voile marked in the tiniest of dots set very thickly together. A one-piece effect, the frock has a surplice bodice with a tiny inset vest of organdie and cuffs and collar also of organdie. The skirt has rather long swinging hip draperies.

A very smart frock of plain white georgette combined with small polka-dot pattern in coral pink formed an attractive frock the other evening at an informal dinner at one of the suburban "inns" which have sprung up like mushrooms during the past two seasons.

Mrs. Arthur Capper, wife of the senator from Kansas, wears a costume of navy blue georgette with large coral dots of white, the georgette draped over navy blue silk.

An attractive frock worn the other evening at a downtown cafe was of white georgette, the tunic, the bell sleeves and the long draped sash all of sapphire blue georgette coin dotted in white, the dots widely separated.

The hat was a small toque of white satin, the brim a solid mass of black metallic grapes with black satin foliage.—From a Washington Letter in Women's Wear.

MUST HARMONIZE WITH HAT

Pins Are by No Means to Be Regarded as Nonessential Part of the Costume.

Hatpins are little things and almost nonessential except on windy days, but put the wrong hatpin—even the slightest, plainest one—into a hat and the whole effect is spoiled, and the hatpin is proved, after all, to be of great importance. So if one must wear hatpins they should be chosen with the greatest care.

Small, inconspicuous gold hatpins are attractive in a plain sailor hat of light color, and gunmetal ones are suitable for hats of darker hue. But for summer hats in all their glory of many colors new and original hatpins have been devised. These are of enamel and represent flowers or butterflies or fruits; some of them are small and some are quite large, but their chief charm lies in the fact that one can find hatpins to harmonize with almost any hat trimming and thus avoid a jarring note. What could be more charming than a little coral rose nestling in the midst of the flowers on a hat? Or a cloisonne leaf among leaves?—New York Evening Sun.

TO WEAR WHEN TRAVELING

Frock of Dark Blue Taffeta Has Many Advantages That Are Worth Remembering.

Do you expect to take a trip soon? Then you will need for wear in the car or on the train a frock of dark blue silk, preferably taffeta. Charmeuse is very lovely, but under hard wear it is apt to grow dull looking. Crepe meteor is cool and graceful, but it rumples easily.

Crepe de chine has much to recommend it, but to be a really good quality it must be rather heavy, and this makes it warm. Taffeta crumples a trifle, it is true, but the soft weaves are not bad in this respect. You could do no better than choose dark blue taffeta.

Different vest may accompany this gown, such as batiste, marquisette or organdie. A very pretty vest is made of Madeira embroidery. This is a new idea. A little batiste gumpie may also be worn with this gown.

"UNDIES" OF SOLID COLORS

Thought at First Thought They May Seem Bizarre. They Are Really Quite Practical.

Undergarments developed in black and a great range of vivid colors seem bizarre and rather absurd at first glance, but when one considers that, regardless of the season or occasion for which they are intended, outer garments are now made of the most transparent fabrics, the need of under things that match or blend with them will be easily realized. Petticoat combinations and separate camisoles are shown for next season made of black chiffon and georgette combined with black lace, of all-over lace in black or of either of the first named fabrics trimmed with fine tucking, drawn work, etc.

Emphasizing the tendency to match undergarments with outer apparel chemises and combinations are now being shown made of brown georgette and other sheer silks. Brown has already been bulletined as a leading color for outer apparel for next season and manufacturers of items of lingerie have not been slow to follow this lead.

Bloomers will continue to be in great demand next season, it seems certain, as narrow skirts and voluminous petticoats are an impossible combination.

Crepe de chine and washable satin are the two fabrics most used in the development of undergarments for fall and winter, and various laces, dainty hand embroidery or insets of georgette are favorite trimming touches.

Two-piece pajamas are very popular, because they may serve either as sleeping or lounging garments.

SOMETHING NEW IN APRONS

Young Woman With Ideas Tells How She Adapted Glazed Chintz With Remarkably Good Effect.

A young woman who very much admired the bright glazed chintz which formed the window shades, slipovers and overcurtains in a friend's home was presented with a yard-long remnant to be used "for a pillow cover." But as the young woman in question felt that glazed chintz would not make especially pleasing or comfortable covers for down pillows she planned another use for the gay patterned fabric.

A circular apron pattern that crossed over in the back and buttoned on the shoulders was chosen. The chintz was cut very carefully with straight, even edges and bound all the way around with rose-colored linen braid just the shade of the most prominent flowers in the pattern. Rose-colored pearl buttons finished the shoulders.

Because of its smooth finish this apron did not become spotted nearly so quickly as one of ordinary gingham, but when it did require laundering was treated to an extra amount of starch and ironed on the right side while damp.

SIMPLE GARMENT FOR CHILD

"Gertrude" Petticoat Will Please the Little Maid as Well as Her Proud Mother.

The prettiest of undergarments for children are the little "Gertrude" petticoats, which slip over the head and fasten with one small button on one shoulder. Many of these have the simplest of narrow frills at the bottom and this is edged with a fine crochet lace or bit of Valenciennes. No other trimming is used on the little skirt.

Children, of course, will not remain the same size and length, therefore many mothers run a wide tuck just through the middle of the little one-piece petticoat, which can thus be lengthened as required.

The wash fabrics which do not require ironing, such as cotton crepe and kindred crinkled materials, are much in demand for the small garments. These are often made up in the flesh pink, which always pleases little girls, who are charmed by colors.

IN RED AND BLUE

Red roses with blue straw—what more charming a combination could be found for so smart a hat?

Knitted Gaiters.

Knitted gaiters made their appearance in Paris this past spring. White wool, snugly knitted, answers the purpose of a spat on a low shoe, and appears to good advantage. Mayhap this is a style that will find favor here as the weeks pass. We are told that shoes are going to be higher in price next autumn and leather so scarce that we may find it best to wear low shoes and gaiters. In that case these well-knitted gaiters might be a really useful fad.

PRaises N. A. A. C. P. Meeting

To the Editor of The Monitor:

I do not remember of ever having attended a meeting that proved more satisfactory to me as a whole than that of the N. A. A. C. P. at Grove Methodist church on Sunday last. According to my humble judgment the topics introduced for discussion comprised a faultless list as respects their appropriateness to the occasion; and the eloquent and energetic deliveries of those who participated in the debates were well calculated to evoke such enthusiastic demonstrations in response as the audience gave.

I frankly confess the fact of my conviction as to the absolute necessity of the maintenance of just such an organization as this National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. And I have equal confidence as to the primary importance of the association as an agency for the general uplift of the colored people here as in other parts of the country. Although the local branch is of quite recent establishment here, starting out with a charter membership of a mere handful, comparatively speaking, its wonderful invigorating influence in arousing interest and accelerating activity among that element of the population for whose benefit, in particular, it was founded, finds positive demonstration in the fact that today its roll of membership is far advanced toward the one thousand mark. One notes with genuine satisfaction the evident earnestness and readiness of the members, both masculine and feminine to contribute their fair proportion of work and material to insure the constant progress of the institution toward its highest possible development for the dissemination of intellectual, moral and social excellence in the community.

I am prohibited, for lack of time, from taking proper notice of the several subjects which were ably discussed at the above mentioned meeting. As has already been said, the program of topics was without a fault and it is hardly an exaggeration to say that few, if any sentences were uttered during the debates that did not convey ideas well worth noting. Were I called upon to cast a vote expressive of my opinion as to the relative qualities of the several addresses delivered, I should, without hesitation, favor Mrs. J. E. Smith's as the best. Of course, I do not wish to be understood as saying that I would cast my vote as an endorsement of this young matron's proposal to subsidize white newspapers in behalf of our association so that we may use their columns as a better avenue for the wide distribution of matter of peculiar interest to the cause we seek to advance. It is well, however, that the matter has been broached, and Mrs. Smith, in her brief discussion of it, advanced some, if not all of the strongest points that could be offered on the wrong side of the question. Our long time friend, Judge M. F. Singleton, came almighty close to getting himself in bad with the whole crowd when he said, in substance, that the Negro race must fall completely when it ceases to depend upon whites for aid and protection. It was extremely gratifying to note the apparent unanimity of protest against such sentiments. The address of Mr. Young in response to the judge was "a scorcher for true," and was delivered with such fervor and vehemence as elicited generous applause.

It may be said in concluding this confessedly imperfect article that the fact was easily discernible that the overwhelming preponderance of sentiment and opinion in this meeting favored the establishment and maintenance of a daily newspaper here, owned, edited and published—primarily at least—for and by colored people. CYRUS D. BELL.
