

BISHOP SHAYLER CONFIRMS FIRST CLASS AT ST. PHILIP'S

Large Congregation Fills Church—Service Impressive—Bishop of Nebraska Preaches Eloquent Sermon and Makes Profound Impression.

THE Rt. Rev. Ernest Vincent Shayler, D. D., bishop of Nebraska, made his first official visit for confirmation to the church of St. Philip the Deacon Sunday afternoon, confirming a class of fourteen children and adults and preached an eloquent sermon which made a profound impression upon the large congregation which filled the church. The class which was composed of eleven girls and women dressed in white and wearing their white confirmation veils, and three men, presented a beautiful and impressive sight as they marched in with the choir and knelt at the chancel rail, where, after the customary questions and the singing of the Veni, Creator, Spiritus," came the imposition of the bishop's hands. Bishop Shayler then briefly addressed the class and gave them as their confirmation motto the words "Thine Forever." After a hymn he preached on "The Driving Out of the Evil Spirit," applying this thought to the national life, where evil looms so large and then to the individual life, stressing the fact that only the spirit of Christ can save the nation or individual.

Those confirmed were: Della Louise Howard, Ernestine Evelyn Singleton, Grace Dorsey, Lucille Bivens, Sybil Merrifield, Lenore Hieronymous, Vinnie Florence Hieronymous, Eleanor C. Haynes, Jennie Merrifield, Eunice Earl Smith, Mary Clyde Schwein, Alonzo O. Gregory, Alonzo Merrifield, Leon Victor Williams.

ST. PHILIP'S CHURCH IS BURGLARIZED

Communion Vessels, Valuable Altar Clothes and Vestments Are Stolen—No Clue to Thieves.

Last Thursday night St. Philip's Episcopal church was entered by burglars, who carried away altar hangings, vestments, altar linens, altar vases, choir vestments and communion vessels which it will take between $400 and $500 to replace. The opinion is that a "dope fiend" or some similar degenerate did the job, because most of the things stolen while of great value to the church would be of no value to any one else. Detectives got busy on the job as soon as the case was reported, but as yet have gotten no trace of the stolen articles.

As soon as it was known Dean Tancock of Trinity Cathedral, Father Holsapple of St. Barnabas, Father Brown of St. Martins and other clergy of the city called up Father Williams and generously placed at the disposal of St. Philip's for temporary use such things as might be needed for carrying on the services. Reading of the loss in the Omaha Bee, H. Gross, a Jewish friend, came to St. Philip's rectory and left a gift of $10 "to help out a little" as he expressed it.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

This is to certify that William Norris Moore, who departed this life a few weeks ago was a member in good standing at the time of his death of Excelsior Masonic lodge, No. 110, of which he had been a member for seventeen years; of Eureka Chapter No. 33 and of the Commandery. It was his request that his life long friend, Silas Johnson, the undertaker, take charge of his remains at his demise, which dying request I believed it to be my duty to respect.
