PATRIOTIC TESTIMONIAL GIVEN PATROLMAN

(By Associated Negro Press.)

Chicago, July 15.—A patriotic testimonial was given at the Eighth Regiment Armory, July 9th, in honor of Joseph Owens, the Chicago patrolman who was seriously wounded in the recent outbreak here which caused the death of two people. Patrolman Owens immortalized himself by rushing to the defense of the American flag when a group of fanatics sought to burn it.

The meeting was under the auspices of a citizens' committee and the speakers were Edward H. Wright, who presided; Alderman Louis B. Anderson and Robert R. Jackson, Oscar De Priest, Chief of Police J. J. Garrity and Henry Lincoln Johnson of Atlanta, Ga. All of the addresses praised the faithfulness of Policeman Owens. Chief Garrity declared that all citizens of the community must be protected and that, in his opinion, a recurrence of last summer's riot would be impossible. Within three hours after his first knowledge of the recent disturbance, he had more than 1,000 patrolmen on the scene.

NO LONGER SIMPLE PROBLEM

Matter of Food, in These Days of Statistics, Has Become Question of Calculation.

Once upon a time this problem of food was a very simple matter. Three times a day, as a rule, the attention of man was drawn to a hollow feeling located due east of the lower end of the vertebral column. This vacancy he proceeded to fill with a slab of bread, a chunk of beef, a pot of rice, etc., flavored as a rule with butter, jam, garlic, etc., according to race, religion, climate, age, etc. This settled the problem till the next call from the far East.

It pains us to say that this was living to eat and not eating to live. It showed no adjustment of means to end. It was a system of food that made no distinction between a longshoreman and a free-verse poet. It was internal anarchy.

Happily the truth has been realized. The consumption of food is no longer destructive but constructive. Man no longer eats corned beef and cabbage, but the vitamins in the beef and the polyzeugmatics in the cabbage. When he picks up the bill of fare he no longer says, "What will most speedily and cheaply allay the unrest in my far East?" but he says, "Where can I find the 12,500 carbonates that will give me the right outlook on the League of Nations?" And he finds it in unpolished rice. Or he says to himself, "I am now at work on the fourth act of my poetic drama; to make it convincing to Belasco I must absorb 3,200 permanganazoids daily for the next 30 days." So he shaves the kernels off the corn and eats the cob. Perhaps with coconut butter, for the added colloidal saxophonians.

This very midnight in our great city a couple of army corps of teething infants will be lulled to rest with 23,175 pneumodactylines warmed up in a bottle.—New York Evening Post.

HAD IT ALL PLANNED OUT

Colored Soldier Knew Exactly What He Was Going to Do With All Those Black Clothes.

Here is a story of two negro soldiers, who were talking just after the signing of the armistice:

"Rastus," said one, "what you gwine to do when you-all gets home?"

"What am I gwine do? Wal, in the fust place, nigger, I's gwine buy me a white suit o' clo'es, 'n white shoes, 'n a white shirt, collar 'n tie, 'n a white hat. I's gwine be white all over, nigger, an' den I's give up you nigger folks 'n allus do my 'sociating wid white folks."

"The boy paused, then asked: 'What you-all gwine do, Jake?' 'Wal,' says Jake, 'I's gwine buy me a black suit, 'n black shoes, 'n a black shirt, 'n a black tie, 'n a black hat. I's gwine be black all over. Den, when dat's done, I's gwine buy me a big piece of black crape and fasten it round my black hat.'

"Man," says Rastus, "what you-all mean by all dem black clo'es and by dat black crape? What for you gwine wear dat black crape?"

"Nigger," says Jake, "I's gwine wear dat black crape to your funeral."—Wendell D. Howle in the Boston Transcript.

A Leech.

A man on the South side advertised his car for sale. Early the next morning a man who lived across the street came over and said: "Pardon me, but I see by last night's paper you advertised your car for sale."

"Quite true," said the man who advertised the car, "but surely you are not in the market for it."

"No," was the reply, "but I only live across the street and I also want to sell my car. And there would be no need of me spending my money for an advertisement if after the people were through looking at your car you could just send them across the street to look at my car."—Indianapolis News.

The Scrap.

Representative Frear interrupted the reading of a report to say:

"Official language is always rather ludicrous. Once two scrubwomen in government employ had an argument, as a result of which the weaker vessel was laid up for some days.

"An official inquiry was duly held, and the victorious scrubwoman received a letter which said, among other things:

"Is it true, as reported, that said Mrs. Hagan received certain ocular and nasal contusions at your hands?"

"The scrubwoman in official language wrote back:

"I regret to say that the answer is in the infirmary."

'At a Boy!

At the speedway races a tire company gave away toy balloons as advertisements. A lad about four years old came up to the man on the job and said: "Please may I have two balloons?"

The man replied: "Sorry, my little lad, but only one balloon to a boy. Have you any brothers at home?"

After a minute of deep thinking the lad gave this answer: "No, I have no brothers, but I have a sister who has a brother."—Indianapolis News.

Law and the Profits.

"How did you come to be a profiteer?"

"It was all because of the law of supply and demand," whimpered the culprit. "I was trying to get a sufficient supply of money to meet the demand for it."
