OMAHA'S OLDEST CITIZEN IS CALLED

Mrs. Sally Sylvester, Who Was Born in Virginia Over a Century Ago, Passes Away at Negro Women's Home at Age of 108 Years.

Last Thursday Mrs. Sally Sylvester, affectionately known as "Mother" Sylvester, passed quietly to her well-earned rest at the N. W. C. A. home on Pratt street, where she had been an inmate for several years. Mrs. Sylvester was born in Virginia, where she was a slave, over a century ago. Subsequently she was taken into Missouri where she was also a slave until emancipation. She was taken first to St. Louis and subsequently ran away to St. Joseph. She was unable to tell the exact year she came to Omaha, but remembered that there were a few shacks and Indian tepees on the banks of the river. She is supposed to be the first colored woman to settle in Nebraska. From reliable data it was estimated that she was 108 years old and therefore the oldest person in Omaha. She was so set down in the census.

A REMARKABLE DOUBLE WEDDING

Two Sisters Become Brides of Two Brothers. The Misses Yvettta Phyllis and Adah May Wheatley Are Married to Doyle A. and Harry J. Donjill of Kalamazoo, Mich.

ANNIVERSARY OF BRIDES' PARENTS

(Special to The Monitor.)

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 29.—The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Wheatley of this city was the scene of a remarkable and unusual wedding ceremony Monday afternoon, when their two charming, accomplished and popular daughters, Yvettta Phyllis and Adah May, became the brides of two brothers, Harry J. and Doyle Alexander Donjill, sons of the late Rev. John A. and Mrs. Donjill of Kalamazoo, Mich. Aside from the unusual feature of the double wedding was the fact that it was solemnized on the thirty-eighth anniversary of the marriage of the brides' parents.

The hour set for the ceremony was 1 o'clock. Just before the ceremony began Miss Blanche K. Morrison of Kansas City played the bridal chorus from "The Rose Maiden;" Mr. W. H. Potts sang "O Promise Me," and Miss Gladys Freels sang "At Dawning" and "All Mine Alone." Promptly at the appointed hour Miss Morrison began Mendelssohn's wedding march and the two grooms entered the parlor and took their stand under a beautiful floral canopy. They were immediately followed by the little ring bearer, Mosetta Combs, 3 years old, who carried the rings in roses. Following her came Yvettta on the arm of her father and Adah on the arm of her oldest brother, Vanie S. Wheatley of Omaha. Rev. John Albert Williams, rector of St. Philip's Episcopal Church, Omaha read the beautiful and impressive marriage service of the Episcopal Church, of which the brides are communicants.

A reception attended by about two hundred guests followed from 2 to 4. The presents were many, costly and beautiful, representing gifts from leading families of both races in the city and elsewhere, attesting the esteem in which the young women are held here, where they were reared and educated.

The couples left for Kalamazoo, where they will reside, late Monday afternoon.

Among the out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Alice A. Donjill, mother of the grooms, of Kalamazoo; Mrs. Ella Lawson and daughter, Dorothy, of Columbus, O., aunt and cousin of the brides; Mrs. Mayme Wheatley Smothers of Lawrence, Kas., sister, and Mr. and Mrs. Vanie S. Wheatley of Omaha Neb.

GALLOWAY PLAYS STRONG GAME FOR CENTRAL

By Worthington Williams, June, '23
Ledruce Galloway, playing his first game of the season, played fine football Friday September 24. This was Ledruce's first appearance on the first team of Central High school. He played end on the Reserves last year and was affectionately dubbed "gangway" by all who knew him, especially those who played opposite him. He was the only Colored lad in the game and his scrappy, peppy, aggressive playing soon earned the attention and appreciation of all the supporters of Central. South High, the opponents, soon saw the playing of Galloway and their dirty work of two years ago was started again. South High is noted for its dirty glaying and Friday all this dirt was turned loose against Galloway. Galloway played a clean game all the way through and made many telling gains for his team. Playing tackle, one of the hardest positions on the team, he filled his place well. All attempts to gain ground through Galloway ended in dismal failure. When called back to receive the ball Galloway hit hard and low. The first time he was given the ball he netted fifteen yards in a terrific line plunge. On several subsequent times he made first downs for the home team.

Galloway was hailed by the World Herald as the mainstay of Central's team. He is holding down the position filled by Art Logan, All-State tackle, last year. It takes a good man to fill the place and Galloway surely is filling it. Go to it "Gangway," old boy. Show them what the Negro boy are made of!

In the afternoon he addressed the students of the George R. Smith College on "Christian Character and Racial Self-Respect."

HOW TO CHOOSE BEEF

In choosing meat it should be remembered that without being actually unwholesome, it varies greatly in quality and often an inferior cut or joint is to be preferred from a first class beast to a more popular cut from a second class animal. For good beef the flesh should be of a close even grain, bright red in color and well mixed with creamy white fat, the suet firm and clear white. Heifer meat is smaller in the bone and lighter in color than ox. Cow beef is very similar to look at but being older it is much tougher and courser in the grain. Bull beef is never seen in a first-class butchers shop and may be recognized by the coarseness and dark color and strong smell of the meat.

There are seven chief methods of cooking meat, viz: wasting, boiling, baking, stewing, frying, broiling and poaching. The first three are most suitable for joints, weighing four pounds or more, but not for smaller pieces which are liable to become hard and flavorless by the drying up or loss of the juices. Of the other three methods, stewing may be applied to large pieces, but is much better for smaller ones, while frying or broiling are used for steaks, chops and such cuts. Braising and steaming are combinations of these methods. We will take these up in their order beginning next week.
