A more agreeable crowd than the one that went to Lake Manawa last Thursday with St. Paul's Sunday School picnic would be difficult to find. The time was all too short for all. The baskets were nearly as heavy on the return as they were when taken over—so bountifully had each one been filled. It was an enjoyable time to both old and young, but none were old that day.

HIS ABSENCE EXPLAINED GIRL RESPONSIBLE
Joe Hemelstein, one of the genial proprietors of the Rialto Music Shop which deservedly has a large patronage from our people was absent from his place of business many, many hours last week. Patrons missed him and wondered at his absence. Mr. Lincoln was on the job, but rather non-committal.

"Where's Joe?" was frequently asked.

"He's not been to the store today, and we cannot say just when he'll be here," was the reply.

Things began to look mysterious. The Monitor man became suspicious and went on a still hunt and made the discovery that a girl was responsible for this unaccountable absence. Mrs. Hemelstein had presented her husband with a fine daughter, born Tuesday morning July 12. Under the circumstances the patrons of the Rialto Music Shop will cheerfully excuse Joe's absence. His ever-present expansive smile has become even more expansive.
