Mrs. James White is singing with the Harmony Four. Mr. White has a rare tenor voice and will prove to be one of the best tenors in the city. The Harmony Four has some wonderful things in store for the coming season. They are trying to appear before both races, and they have met with great success and encouragement from some of the best music lovers of Omaha.

Mesdames Wilhelm, Howell and Axtell were special guests at St. John's church Sunday morning. They were highly pleased with the service. Mrs. Wilhelm is president of the Tuesday Morning Musical Society. All three ladies spoke highly of the choir and the Harmony Four, who sang special numbers for the guests. St. John's will be glad at any time for such representative women as these to worship with them.

Mrs. Horace Sherwood is confined to her bed at her home, 2866 Grant street.

A CARD OF THANKS

To all who extended to me in words or action, sympathy and help, during the sickness and death of my wife, Mabel, I am thankful and feel very much indebted. Her mother, Mrs. Daniel, also joins me in thanks to the church, lodges, and clubs of Des Moines, Iowa, as well as our home town, Omaha, for kindness shown.

FIVE TRIBES PAY THEIR OWN WAY

Education of Oklahoma Indians Is Almost Entirely Paid for Out of Own Funds.

AGRICULTURE IS EMPHASIZED

Have Nine Boarding Schools, Seven Contract Schools and 2,306 Public Districts—Industrial Work Featured.

Muskogee, Okla.—The modern American Indian may be said to be paying his own way in pursuit of an education, for nearly all funds expended in the education of the Indians of Oklahoma belong to the tribe administered under the department of the interior, according to H. C. Calhoun, supervisor of the Five Civilized Tribes schools here. These schools form the largest unit of Indian schools operated under one supervision in the country, he added.

The supervision of the schools of the five civilized tribes—Cherokee, Choctaw, Chickasaw, Creek and Seminole—has to deal with three phases of school activity which are ranked in importance as follows: Tribal boarding schools, public day schools and private contract schools.

There are nine tribal boarding schools and seven contract schools, while the public day school system includes 2,306 districts with an enrollment of about 18,000 Indian children. The supervisor's office has jurisdiction over the Indian pupil only in these day schools, not over the public school as such.

The tribal boarding schools are maintained for each distinct tribe and the completed educational plants. Each is equipped with kitchen, dining-room, dormitory, laundry, hospital and facilities for industrial and academic education. Most of these schools have a large acreage which is tilled and the product used in the maintenance of the school.

Emphasize Industries. Agriculture is emphasized in all the Indian industrial schools, although shop work, carpentry, leather machine and metal work, homemaking for girls and scientific home economics are all a part of the industrial course. The industrial program is a part-time process, Mr. Calhoun explained, with the pupil devoting half his time to industrial education and half to academic instruction. The academic courses are designed particularly for the Indian.

Six of the contract schools are denominational institutions, according to Mr. Calhoun, while the seventh is a state agricultural school. Courses in these institutions include the industrial and academic.

TWINS, 90, CLAIM AGE RECORD

Kansas Brothers Dispute Ohioans' Longevity Title—All Agree on Work.

Leavenworth, Kas.—Friends of James and Joel Cheatwood, twins, who celebrated their ninetieth birthday anniversary recently near here, are prone to dispute the claim of the Woodrille, Ohio, twins, William H. and Henry Bruns to the title of "oldest living twins in the United States" at the age of eighty-eight.

The recipe for long life of the Kansas twins is similar to that of the Ohioans—"work." Each of the Cheatwood twins owns a farm and works on it daily.

So striking is the resemblance between the Cheatwood twins, that when they don their "Sunday clothes" and have their beards trimmed, it is difficult to tell them apart.

Old Hand Press. Kansas City, Mo.—Neff Hall, home of the journalism classes at the University of Missouri, has on exhibition in the council room a hand press made in 1794 which turned out the stupendous number of 300 papers an hour. It is the property of A. H. Everett of Kansas City, who loaned it to Neff Hall. It was used by the Leesburg (Virginia) Washingtonian, established in 1808, the first newspaper to be published in the state of Virginia. The press was built by Adam Ramage, a Scotch inventor who came to this country about 1787 and was chief press builder here for a number of years.

Bankrupt Town Sold. Portland, Me.—The sale of a town was contained in a Federal court order recently when Judge W. B. Shepard consented to the acceptance of the $6,500 bid of F. G. Plu of Chicago for the assets of the Town of Valparaiso, which has been in litigation for some time. There were two bids, the one coming from an association of unit holders, who were unable to present before bank closing hour the required certified check for $5,000. The other bid was in cash. The bankrupt town is in the southern part of Okaloosa county.
