VICTIM OF MOB FILES SUIT FOR HEAVY DAMAGES

Farmer Driven From Home by Lawless Band, Members of Which Te Recognized, Brings Action Against Them.

Petition Recites Revolting Story of Intimidation and Brutality Against Prosperous Citizen.

Atlanta, Ga., June 16-Acting on a Cluskey, colored, who lives near Statham, Barrow County, in which he alinterference or molestation of Mc- drill. Cluskey. Later McCluskey, through his attorney, W. C. Mundy of Atlanta, filed suit for $50,000 dar the men and asked permission of the court to include the names of other members of the mob as soon as their names could be ascertained.

McCluskey alleged in his petition that the mob visited him on the night of May 5 and said there were fifteen in the party, all masked. He declared he recognized Thurmond, Stinchcomb and Johnson. He said the mobcame to his house and demanded admission. On being refused admission he said the members of the mob shot into the house, broke down his door with an ax shot him in the arm, attacked and beat his wife and three minor children and shot twenty-eight bullets into the walls of the room. He said he had been warned to leave that section and that he did so, being forced now to live in another county leaving his crops untended and his farm valued at $40,000 going to waste.

The petition was presented to Judge Fortson at Athens, Saturday, by Attorney Mundy, and the temporary restraining order was at once granted. Attorney Mundy then went to Winder where he filed the suit for $50,000 damages against the three white men. Is Revolting Story

In the petition of McCluskey, a story of intimidation and brutality is told that is one of the most revolting related in Georgia in years. He swears in his petition that after he had been shot by the mob the members beat him and maltereated him, terrorized his wife and children and warned him to leave the country under threats of death if he remained.
