Wolk, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Falls, Mrs. Helen E. Williams, Mr. Wm. Strawthier and Mr. and Mrs. Royster.

Obituary.
Mrs. Anna Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Simmons, was born May 17, 1878, at Sardis, Miss.

She spent her childhood and attended school at Memphis, Tenn. After growing to womanhood she moved with her parents to Enid, Okla., where she was married to Mr. T. V. Jones, then coming to this city in the year of 1913 where they have since lived.

She professed hope in Christ and united with Pleasant Green Baptist church, afterward she joined Mt. Nebo Baptist church, under the pastorate of Rev. J. C. MacFarland, where she continued until death.

She was a devoted Christian, ever striving to build up the Kingdom of God. She was a kind, loving and dutiful wife, constantly endeavoring to make her home cheerful and happy to those around her.

She was a member of the Household of Ruth, Daughters of Tabor, Mosaic Templars, Royal Circle of Friends and the Y. W. C. A. and president of the Business Women's Club of Mt. Nebo Baptist Church.

At 6 p. m. Friday, January 5, 1923, the Great Ruler of the universe called her to her final reward.

She leaves to mourn her loss a loving husband, a sister, nephew and a host of relatives and friends.

As time ringeth down the curtain she falleth asleep.

Her favorite song was, "God Will Take Care of You".

In Memory of Mrs. T. V. Jones.
The monster Death invad'd our home,
And hush'd the voice of Daughter Jones
With shadows of the closing day—
She smiled and left this house of clay.

So many hearts made glad with joy,
Sunshine and kindness made her alloy.
None knew her but to love her well,
The story that her life will tell.

She loved the things of nature fair,
Beauties of all and silent pray'r.
"God Will Take Care of You," she'd sing—
In heaven let the joy bells ring.

Her church was inmost in her heart,
Loyal and faithful she did her part.
Not cry of help came to her door,
But what she do much more and more.

The many friends she counts by score
Will meet her on the other shore,
And shout and sing the songs of praise
On that great judgment day.

While in her narrow bed she lay,
Awaiting for the final day,
Her deeds will sprout as seeds of grain,
Warmed by her smile, sunshine and name.

The golden harvest now is ripe,
A well spent life, an honored wife.
Her work is done, the race is won
And angels beckon her to come.

She greeted Death with one sweet smile,
Her eyes on Jesus all the while,
Step by step she crossed the tide
To sweet deliverance there abide.

By F. R. PERKINS,
2237 Seward St., Omaha, Neb.
